School Board Delays Action On Daylight Savings Project

PAVING BIDS ARE LOW

School Board Takes No Action On Time Change

Table Matter Until Change In Working Hours Demands Further Consideration

MANY SPEAK ON MATTER LAST NIGHT

Industrial Representatives Announce Industries Will Have Daylight Saving Time

After hearing the opinions of a number of citizens, representing various interests of the city, relative to the adoption of Daylight Savings Time, members of the New Castle School Board at their meeting last evening tabled the matter and decided not to take any action until they saw what the city as a whole intended to do.

The members of the board felt that an attempt was being made to force them into the position of deciding whether the city should observe Daylight Saving Time or not, and took the attitude that they should not assume this responsibility in the matter.

Most of the members stated that they would be very willing to go along in whatever action the majority of the citizens of the city saw fit to take, but felt that it was not up to the school board to decide whether the time should be changed here. If it is the will of the majority to change the time, then the school board will undoubtedly abide by this decision and will change the school hours to conform with the change, but until the attitude of the city as a whole is made clear, they plan to take no definite stand in the matter, one way or the other.

Meeting Well Attended

The meeting was attended by a representative group of citizens, a great number of whom expressed their opinion as to whether the time should be changed or not. Some were bitterly against the change, while others were highly in favor of it.

Present indications point to a

Track Meet Will Be Contested At New Wilmington

Coach Graham Says That Westminster Field Will Be In Shape For Use Saturday

Coach R. X. Graham, of the Westminster College track team, announced late this morning that the track meet scheduled between Grove City and Westminster College teams on Saturday would be held at New Wilmington as scheduled.

Because of the weather conditions it had been deemed probable that the meet would be shifted to the Grove City field. However, Coach Graham states, it is now believed that the Westminster field will be in condition for the meet at New Wilmington, as originally scheduled.

Japanese Prince Is Under Heavy Guard In Boston Appearance

(International News Service)

BOSTON, April 24.—Heavily guarded following discovery of a suspected plot to harm them, Prince Takamatsu and his bride today were welcomed to Massachusetts by Governor Joseph B. Ely, were cheered when they appeared before the House of Representatives, were cordially greeted by the Senate and were welcomed to Boston at City Hall by Mayor James M. Curley.

A two-word speech, something new in responses by visiting personages to Massachusetts, was made at the various greetings by the prince. He said, "thank you" following this with a polite bow.

Before visiting the Capitol and the city hall the royal honeymooners despatched a cablegraam to the emperor of Japan. The prince assured his brother, the emperor, that he was ably guarded and that, although he had received reports of supposed threats against his life, he knew no reason why such threats should be made.

Cheers and handclapping greeted the prince and his bride everywhere when they appeared about the city.

Woman Confesses Slaying Of Man

"I Killed In Self Defense Because He Threatened Me"; Helen Morgan Says

WRESTED REVOLVER FROM SWEETHEART

(International News Service)

FLINT, Mich., April 24.—"I killed him in self defense. He threatened me and called me a stool pigeon."

That today was the explanation of Miss Helen Morgan, reputed heiress, held by police today on suspicion of murder in connection with the death yesterday of her asserted sweetheart, Less Canteel, 38, a garage mechanic.

According to police, Miss Morgan took Casteel for a ride in her car, then shot him five times near a lonely spot in Glenwood cemetery.

Police say Miss Morgan, whose mother was said to be a wealthy real estate operator in Chicago, was not clear in her explanation of how she wrested the pistol from Casteel, a six-footer, weighing more than 200 pounds.

The dispute between the couple is said to have been based upon an arson charge against Casteel.

DEATH RECORD

Mrs. Elizabeth Evans, 70, 349 Neshannock avenue.

Andrew S. Miller, 82, Wurtemburg.

Henry Steffler, 90, Pittsburgh.

GIGANTIC TASK CONFONTS POLICE

Strange Similarity Of Three Fiendish Crimes Being Investigated

(International News Service)

SAN DIEGO, Cal., April 24—With discovery of the body of Mrs. W. B. Bibbens, apparently strangled to death, authorities today were faced with the gigantic task of solving three fiendish crimes with all their hideous ramifications.

The latest victim was garrotted with a towel after being struck over the head. Although the crime was believed committed about a week ago, the pajama clad body of the middle aged woman, said to have been wealthy, was not found in her home until last night.

Officials Baffled

Her death follows two others at the hands of fiends, whose crimes have baffled the foremost crimonologists of the state. They were:

Louise Teuber, 17 whose unclad body was discovered hanging from a tree near here last Sunday.

Virginia Brooks, schoolgirl, who was kidnaped, ravished and murdered last February.

In the latest killing, police believe robbery was the motive. The woman was said to have had several costly diamonds in her home. A search failed to reveal them.

Police were searching for a man said to have been a close friend of Mrs. Bibbens.

She was last seen a week ago. Authorities were convinced the killing occurred either last Thursday or Friday in view of the fact that a

Missing Doctor Is Reported In St. Louis Cafe

Two Live Wire Developments Today In Search For Dr. Isaac D. Kelley

POLICE START INTENSIVE HUNT

Man Believed To Be Missing Physician Denies His Identity

By ROBERT A. HEREFORD
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ST. LOUIS, April 24.— Two live wire developments today injected new pep into the strange case of the "Doctor's disappearance."

The missing physician Dr. Isaac D. Kelley, who disappeared after driving into a blustering spring storm Monday night on what is believed to have been a faked sick call, was seen in a restaurant near his office early today police were informed.

This startling information followed on the heels of a report that a pencilled letter had been received by the Kelley family presumably from the missing physician and outlining a $100,000 ransom demand.

Samson Demand Denied

That any ransom letter has been received however, was denied emphatically by Carroll W. Harlan, a lawyer friend of the Kelley family. Harlan has acted as Mrs. Kelley's spokesman to the press.

James Markedes, owner of the Blackstone restaurant which is in the vicinity of the missing Doctor's office phoned police today and told them excitedly that the missing physician had walked into his establishment at 2 o'clock this morning for an early breakfast. Markedes said that he knew the doctor on sight but that to make doubly sure that he was not mistaken he had rushed to a nearby garage where Doctor Kelley keeps his car and informed Paul Johnson one of the garage attendants of his find.

Double Identification

Markedes said that Johnston returned to his restaurant with him and also identified the customer as the missing physician.

Markedes said the customer when paying for his breakfast opened his purse which contained about fifteen dollars in bills and a newspaper picture which resembled one which has been printed of Mrs. Kathleen Kelley, the doctor's wife.

"Good morning, Dr. Kelley,"

Kansas Policeman Is Shot To Death

Driver Of Automobile Opens Fire When Halted By Pair Of Officers

(International News Service)

LAWRENCE, Kas., April 24.—Melvin Howe, 35, a policeman, was slain here today when the driver of an automobile he suspected as a liquor runner shot him three times in the head and chest.

Howe with John Engle, another policeman, had trailed the car, which bore an Oklahoma license, to the outskirts of town before calling on the driver to halt.

As Howe got out of the police car the suspected driver opened fire, killing him instantly.

Provisional President Alcala Zamora Sets June 21 As Election Day

MUST DETERMINE FUTURE REGIME

Small Hope Entertained By Exiled King That Monarchy Will Be Restored

By THOMAS A. LOYZA

MADRID, April 24.—The Spanish electorate will go to the polls on June 21 to choose its future regime, it was announced today by Provisional President Alcala Zamora.

The general elections, in addition to electing a constituent cortes, will determine once and for all whether Spain remains a republic or reverts to a monarchy. The recent overwhelming Republican victory at the municipal balloting forced King Alfonso XIII from the throne, but he refused to abdicate until the people of Spain have definitely voted a republic.

In announcing the date of elections, President Zamora assured the public that the Provisional government "is absolutely determined to defend the republic to the limit of

Mercer County Man Is Given State Position

(Special To The News)

MERCER, Pa., April 24.—W. S. Hagar, County Farm Agent for Mercer County for the past 13 years was today notified by Secretary of Agriculture John A. McSparran, of his appointment as Deputy Secretary, succeeding Dr. Raymond G. Bressler. Mr. Hargar will take up his new duties as soon as he can arrange his affairs in this county.

Mr. Hagar's outstanding work in Farm Bureau work in Mercer county is responsible for his appointment as Deputy Secretary. His predecessor, Dr. Raymond G. Bressler has accepted the post of president of the Rhode Island Agricultural College.

It is not known as yet whether Mr. Hagar will be expected to head the annual Farm Products Show. Dr. Bressler did both jobs but the work of the Farm Show is felt to be important enough to merit the appointment of a special deputy and this may be done.

Council Opens Bids On Paving Projects Here

Contracts Are To Be Awarded At Monday Morning Session

NINE FIRMS MAKE BIDS FOR CONTRACTS

Figures For Work Are Lowest In Years Councilmen Say

Council convened in the city building today and when bids were opened for the repaving of one thoroughfare and paving of six others it developed that the prices submitted by contractors were the lowest in years. On the face of the bids the Victor Olsen Construction company presented a majority of the lowest prices. The bids were sent to the department of engineers for checking and council will award the contracts Monday.

Councilmen were considerably pleased with the bids on the various projects. Nine firms submitted prices. The council chambers were crowded by representatives of the bidders and the opening of the bids was conducted swiftly and efficiently, after the estimates of the city engineer, P. F. Miller were announced. To point out how low the bids were Councilman Treser stated that he figured Fairmont avenue could be paved with concrete for approximately $5 a foot.

Estimates On Jobs

The estimates of the city engineer on the seven jobs follow:

Fairmont avenue paving, brick, $20,919.20, concrete, $17,715.20, asphalt, $20,676.20.

You figure the cost of some spring repairs, and you count out a chunk of kale, and you figure the money will do the job, and you're sure it will not fail. Then you call the plumber and carpenter, the furnace man and the like, and just as soon as they hit the spot, the figures begin to hike. You need some plugs and a furnace pot, and the floors need a coat of paint, and the money needed to finish the job has you feeling dizzy and faint. There are things to be done that increase the cost, and though you try to be gay, your purse is as flat as a buckwheat cake, it's nifty today.

Women Missionaries Released By Bandits

(International News Service)

SHANGHAI, April 24.— Bandits today released Esther Nordlund of Chicago and Augusta Nelson, Swedish missionary, according to advices received from Kingchow by Lutheran headquarters.

The two women, it was stated, were safe at Kinmen in Hupeh Province. The Rev. Oscar Anderson, a Swedish missionary captured last Friday with the others, is still in bandits hands. It was believed he would shortly be released also.

Previously, it was reported in unconfirmed dispatches that all three had been slain.

PEKING, April 24.—The luxuries of western civilization as well as its cash were demanded by Chinese bandits today for the release of Bert N. Nelson of Minnesota, Lutheran missionary, who has been held captive in Central China since last October.

In the ransom terms received by the American legation, the outlaws requested, in addition to several thousand dollars, phonograph records, tennis rackets, basketballs, fountain pens, wrist watches, gasoline, ammunition and a cheesboard.

Hundreds From Lawrence County In Oil City Music Battle

SPECIAL TRAIN CARRIES THRONG

By A. BRUCE EWING
News Staff Correspondent

OIL CITY, April 24.—New Castle and Lawrence county school musicians arrived here in good time this morning to take part in the annual northwestern Pennsylvania interscholastic music contests. Lawrence county has probably the largest representation of any of the counties competing.

About 300 from Lawrence county made the trip to Oil City on the special train operated over the Stoneboro branch of the Pennsylvania Lines, this morning. North Beaver had 98 on the train and Bessemer 82, while the remainder came from New Castle, New Wilmington and other points.

Late Starting

Probably the great majority of the New Castle contestants made the trip here by auto.

The competition was late in starting because of the delay in arrival of many of the competing schools. It was anticipated that probably 3,000 students would be here for the contests, and the indications are that most of the expected contestants are here.

New Castle and Lawrence county schools will have a larger field of competitors in this contest than for several years, but the Lawrence countians are confident of returning home tonight with their share of the laurels.

MISSING DOCTOR IS REPORTED IN ST. LOUIS CAFE

Markedes greeted his customer, he told police.

"No, I'm not Doctor Kelley," the customer replied, Markedes said. "But I'm looking for Doctor Kelley.

Appeared Dazed

As the man left the restaurant he looked dazed, Markedes said, and a blue bruised spot where he might have been slugged was revealed on the side of his jaw.

The garage attendant attempted to follow the man but lost him, Markedes told police.

The restaurant owner said that he was positive that the man was Dr. Kelley as the physician had once treated him.

A police detail conducted an investigation in the neighborhood where the doctor was said to have been seen but could find no trace of him. The physician's nearby office was also searched but no evidences that he had been there recently were revealed.

There had been an ample potato crop that year, and a mighty small market for it. When Farmer Hawks, therefore, contracted with a commission firm to sell it several thousand bushels of his potatoes, to be delivered during the following August and September, he believed himself lucky, no matter what the price was. Hawks felt even more fortunate, because in that same agreement the commission firm promised to advance to him whatever sums of money Hawks might from time to time require. And so the matter remained for a time. Soon, however, Farmer Hawks required ready cash. He requested an advance from the commission firm. The girl in charge told him he could have the money provided he signed a note for the amount.

This took Farmer Hawks quite aback. He answered that he would not sign, and that if he wanted money in that manner he could have gotten it from a bank. He turned to go, and as a parting shot said he would send no potatoes. And neither did he send any. But when 30 days had expired after the time the potatoes should have been delivered, and they had not yet arrived, the firm filed suit.

newspaper dated April 16 was found crumpled beside her body.

Probe New Angles

Because of the latest crime, police believe that Virginia Brooks too may have been strangled slowly to death by a fiend. Because of the condition of the child's body, from mutilation and exposure, the cause of death was never determined.

That Miss Teuber came to her death by strangulations before her body was suspended from a tree was established today through Dr. F. E. Toomey's autopsy. Dr. Toomey arrived at that conclusion because the girls arms followed closely the contour of the body, despite the fact that the body was hanging at an angle with the heels of her slippers touching the earth.

Continue Investigation

SAN FRANCISCO, April 24—The strange similarity of the hanging of John Porcellano near here and that of Louise Steuber, 17 at San Diego, continued to occupy the attention of investigators today.

Dr. J. C. McGovern, San Mateo coroner, announced he would if necessary fly to San Diego with the rope used by Porcellano, a former San Diegoan, to compare it with that used by the slayer of Miss Teuber. The bits of skin found under the girls fingernails also would be compared with Porcellano's skin, Dr. McGivern said.

Meanwhile, Sheriff McGrath was searching for the room of Porcellano, who apparently killed himself. it is hoped the man's personal effects will throw some further light on the man's strange interest in spiritualism.

its powers," but emphasized that it regards itself "merely as the trustee of the republic for sixty days."

Rights Reserved

The government meanwhile reserves the right, he added, to change any injustices perpetrated by the dictatorship, and to prevent the army and clergy from interferring in politics.

The constituent cortes, once it has been chosen, will have in its hands the task of determining the character of Spain's future government. Its first task will be to draft a constitution, stumbling block of the previous two short-lived Republican governments.

The other pressing problems facing include the unsettled relations of church and state, the reorganization of the army and national finances, the reform of the ancient landholding system, and the separatist ambitions of Catalonia and other provinces.

Hopes Are Slight

The cortes must meet, according to the 1876 constitution, within ten days after the balloting. About 570 representatives will be chosen from the country's 22,000,000 population.

Although Alfonso now in London, and other Royalists have hopes that the national elections will restore the Monarchy, it was generally believed here that returns would give a sweeping Republican victory.

Two Suspects Taken

SAN DIEGO, Cal., April 24.—Two suspects, one of whom police declined to name, have been questioned in connection with the slaying of Mrs. W. B. Bibbens, it was learned here today, as police pressed their investigation of the third major murder mystery here in three months.

William L. Bartelman, 65, a bank employe, indignantly denied that he knew anything of the murder. The owner of the apartment house in which Mrs. Bibbens was slain told police that Bartelman was the man who accompanied Mrs. Bibbins when she negotiated for the lease of the apartment last November.

Mrs. Bibbens was a mystery to her neighbors with whom she associated but little. Zealously, she guarded her life's history from those about her.

"She came here last November. She always had money. A man visited her occasionally. She had a passion for diamonds. She was known at the Ague Caliente race track, which she frequently visited, as "Dolly."

That was all that neighbors of the murdered woman could tell police.

Safety-Pin Will Be Removed From Lung Of Infant

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, April 24.—With a safety-pin in his lung, which he swallowed six months ago, Carl B. Rhodes, 15 months, today awaits an operation in Presbyterian hospital. No date for the operation has yet been set.

Carl was brought to Pittsburgh by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Rhodes, from their home at Kossuth, near Clarion, Pa., on April 17. Dr. Ellen J. Patterson is to perform the operation.

X-ray pictures have revealed the position of the pin, and a silver tube has been inserted in the baby's throat that he may breathe. His condition was not reported serious.

M. C. Circle Entertains Ladies

The residents of the Almira Home were given a pleasant evening Thursday, when the members of the Margaret Copeland Circle of the Third United Presbyterian church went to the home and gave an interesting entertainment for their benefit.

The program opened with a saxophone solo by Russell Clarke and this was followed by a little playlet, "The Packing of the Missionary Box", which was received with much applause; the Book-Leyde quartet gave a number of selections that pleased the aged residents, and the little sketch, "The Hitching Post", afforded much amusement.

The evening closed with the singing of several songs by the Circle members.

STAR LORE

ALWAYS KEEPING IN MIND CAUSE OF SUN'S APPARENT MOTION

By Arthur DeV. Carpenter

It must be remembered that what causes the sun to appear to make an annual journey around the celestial sphere is really the earth's forward eastward motion around the sun that results in giving the sun an everchanging background of stars all the way around the heavens. We speak of the sun speeding up during certain months of the year, and of its slowing down. But the real body that speeds up in its orbit and slows down is the earth. The sun makes no annual orbit around the heavens. Herein was the old historic conflict of scientific and religious interest between the Ptolemaic theory and the Copernican theory that replaced it.

Officers Arrive For Inspection Of "F" Guardsmen

Troopers To Receive Federal Drill Pay This Evening In Local Armory

Major Samuel B. Wolfe, commander of the second squadron, 103rd cavalry, Pennsylvania National Guard, and Captain James M. Shelton, D. O. L., U. Plaintiff Wins Insurance Case

New Trial Refused Grange Casualty Company In Suit By Weller Brothers

In the case of J. W. Weller and Floyd Weller against The Grange Mutual Casualty Company of Harrisburg, Judge Hildebrand handed down an opinion this morning in which a motion for a new trial by defendant is refused; also a motion for judgment notwithstanding the verdict. The verdict in the case was for $1,611.15 in favor of the plaintiff.

Wellers took out liability insurance to cover employees engaged in agricultural pursuits. Plummer Black worked for them. Wellers also operated a saw mill and Black was badly injured while working in the saw mill.

Black filed a claim with the workmen's compensation board, which was upheld, and plaintiffs paid Black $2,050 and then sought to recover on their insurance. The insurance company contested on the grounds that the insurance was to cover agricultural pursuits and not the operation of a saw mill. In the trial of the case it was sought to show that the operation of the saw mill went along with the operation of the farm and was therefore covered by the insurance.

Deaths of the Day

Time Of Funeral.

Body of the late D. W. Williams, former resident of this city, who died recently in Alhambra, California, will arrive in the city Friday evening at 8:40 o'clock. Funeral services will be held Saturday, April 25, 1931 at the home of his brother, Daniel Williams, 430 Sheridan avenue, at 2:30 p. m., with Rev. Clifford S. Joshua, pastor of the Croton M. E. church and Rev. Rees T. Williams, pastor of the First Congregational church, in charge. Interment will be made in Oak Park Cemetery.

Mrs. Elizabeth Evans

Mrs. Elizabeth Evans, aged 70, widow of William Evans, who died 14 years ago, who lived at 349 Neshannock avenue, died in the Jameson Memorial hospital at four o'clock this morning following a two years' illness.

Mrs. Evans was born in Baldwin township September 2, 1860, the daughter of Ross and Elizabeth Wilson McGivney. She had made her home with her sister, Mrs. L. N. Eicher, 349 Neshannock avenue, the past six years, having come here from Ellwood City.

She is survived by a son, Ross Evans, Wampum, and two sisters, Mrs. N. J. Murphey, Pittsburgh, and Mrs. L. N. Eicher, New Castle.

Funeral services will be held Monday, April 27, at 2:30 p. m. from the residence, 249 Neshannock avenue, with Dr. G. S. Bennett, pastor of the First Christian church, officiating. Interment will be private at a later hour in Oak Park cemetery.

Time of Funeral

Funeral services for John A. Durbin, aged 70, who died some time ago in St. Petersburg, will be held Saturday at 1:30 p. m. from the Chewton Christian church, with Rev. Harry Huber, minister of the Ellwood Christian church, officiating.

Mr. Durbin was the father of Rev. Charles P. Durbin, pastor of the Chewton Christian church.

Interment will be made in Lisbon, Ohio.

Mrs. Pierce Funeral

Funeral services for Mrs. Belle Rigby Pierce, Cleveland, O., were held Thursday afternoon from the Christian and Missionary Alliance church on Pearson street, with Rev. E. C. Anderson officiating.

Two beautiful numbers, "Good Night and Good Morning" and "No Disappointments in Heaven", were sung by Mrs. D. L. Hinkson and Mrs. Joe Jenkins, with Mrs. Anderson at the organ.

Many and gorgeous were the floral tributes from sorrowing friends and relatives that surrounded the body in its last sleep. Flower bearers were Mrs. Ada Miller, Mrs. Flossie Potter, Mrs. Evelyn Woods, Mrs. Louise Evans, Mrs. Emily Benson and Mrs. Ruth Connor, members of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the V. F. W.

Pallbearers were Philip Wink, Richard Linton, Harry Brunton, Roy Evans, Frank Kerr and Arthur McCarthy, and she was laid away in the Greenwood cemetery.

Samuel Helbley Funeral

Funeral services for Samuel Helbley, Paper Mill road, were held from the residence Thursday afternoon with Rev. S. B. Copeland, pastor of the Third United Presbyterian church officiating.

Pallbearers were James Jones, Howard Kelly, Howard Widel, Frank Ferenbach, Theodore Henry and Charles Shetrom. Interment was made in Savannah cemetery.

E. Ramello Funeral

Funeral services for Enrico Ramello were held Thursday afternoon from the Marshall Funeral home, Wampum, with Rev. J. G. Bingham, pastor of the Wampum Presbyterian church, officiating.

Interment was made in Clinton cemetery and pallbearers were Peter Chena, Mario Ramello, Rudy Ramello, Max Thewes, Thomas Freed and Thomas Cody.

BUTLER LOANED TO OREGON FOR POLICE SYSTEM

Navy Adams had already agreed to letting Butler off.

Governor Julius L. Meir of Oregon extended the invitation to Butler and it is probable the fiery marine will go to Oregon May 15.

Several years ago the general obtained a similar leave of absence and reorganized the Philadelphia police force and started a drive against bootlegging and vice.

Mrs. Bert H. Kegarise of 516 Winter avenue, who sustained very serious injuries recently in an automobile accident, was today reported to be doing as well as could be expected. She is confined to the Jameson Memorial hospital with injuries of the head and ribs and it will be some time before she is able to leave the hospital.

During the next few months a wonderful opportunity is afforded all lovers of pictures.

During May, June and up to and including July 10th your pictures will be afforded and opportunity of winning one of the 10 prizes offered in the Castle Amateur Picture Contest.

We urge you to come in—and ask us about it now—look over your kodak, see that it is right in every way—be sure you understand it—if in doubt, bring it in and let us help you—Come in and get a blank of the contest.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER HONORS RECENT BRIDE

Mrs. R. Dale Clark and Miss Tearl Campbell pleasantly entertained a number of guests in the home of the former on the Wilmington road Thursday evening at a miscellaneous shower honoring Mrs. Warren Lindsay, who will be remembered as Prudence McFarland.

Cards were featured, and novel favors were presented to Mrs. Anna Farrell and Mrs. John Gilbert for honors at the conclusion of play.

When the evening was at its height, the guest of honor was given a collection of many lovely and servicable gifts in behalf of her associates.

The serving of dainty refreshments by the hostesses, concluded an evening of real enjoyment.

REV. AND MRS. COPELAND RECEIVE EXECUTIVES

Rev. S. B. Copeland, pastor of the Third United Presbyterian church, and Mrs. Copeland have had a series of receptions this week in the parsonage. Wednesday evening at close of the mid week service they entertained the deacons of the church and their wives: Thursday evening they received the elders and their wives, and this evening the trustees and their wives will be received.

The hours are spent in games and general conversation, promoting good will and good fellowship and light refreshments bring the evenings to a close.

MRS. JOHN WALLACE RECEIVES KENSINGTON

A beautifully appointed 1 o'clock luncheon featured the meeting of the E. T. W. Kensington members when they assembled at the home of Mrs. John Wallace on Boyles avenue Thursday afternoon. Mrs. J. W. McCreary assisted in serving the delicious menu at an oblong table nicely arranged in a color scheme of yellow and whtie. A bowl of flowers in keeping with the same tones graced the table center.

The balance of the afternoon was pleasantly spent in kensington and chat.

Mrs. R. L. Johns will receive the club in her home on Wilmington avenue in two weeks.

Queen Sewing Circle

Mrs. Hattie Risher of Englewood avenue was hostess to the Queen Sewing Circle members in her home Thursday afternoon, having as a special guest, Bertha Blaine of Youngstown, Ohio.

The hours were spent in the usual manner, preceded by a short business session. Lunch was served at the close of the afternoon in the diningroom by the hostess. Mrs. Mary Harvey assisted with the delicious menu.

In two weeks Mrs. E. E. Blaine of Walnut street will be club hostess.

LUNCHEON MARKS ANNUAL MEETING

The dining room of the First Baptist church was a veritable spring garden Thursday when at one o'clock the members of the Women's Missionary Society and a number of guests assembled for the annual Dollar Day luncheon.

Each of the eight sections of the society had arranged a table and they were centered with marguerites, sweet peas, carnations, roses, snapdragons and a large basket of firebush blooms, each table bearing a different kind of flower and appointments. Covers were arranged for 113 with Mrs. J. A. Perry of Youngstown, Ohio, Miss Nettie Hannah, Mrs. Mary Skidmore, Mrs. Peg Webster, Mrs. Howard Sturdy, Mrs. H. S. Kison, Mrs. Ed Burdette, Mrs. Walter Kelty, Mrs. W. B. James, Miss Nora Martin, Mary Ann Johnston, Rev. and Mrs. G. M. Landis and Miss Cecelia Lewis of this city; Mrs. Izzie Sutton, Pembroke, Va., Mrs. John Miller, Mt. Jackson, Mrs. S. E. Fisher of East Liverpool, O., Mrs. John Agnew of New Wilmington and Mrs. James Mitchell, Lowellville, O., as special guests.

The invocation was asked by Rev. G. M. Landis, pastor of the church and after a delicious menu had been served, Mrs. W. S. Williams, president of the society, introduced Miss Cecelia Lewis, who is spending a furlough at her home in this city, from her duties as missionary in Africa.

Miss Lewis gave the women a graphic story of the little incidents that occur in the life of a missionary in opening a new station, how they are treated by the natives, who are so full of superstition, that they will not even give or sell food to the white people. Many amusing incidents were related by Miss Lewis, then she took up the serious side of the work and said they were not to tell the natives how to revolutionize their mode of living, but to bring the story of the gospel; she told of how the superstitions of this darkest of continents keep them from accepting the story of Jesus. She asked for the prayers of the missionary society as a whole and as individuals, leaving the message that "God Answers Prayer" in the heart of darkest Africa, just the same as he does in America.

Mrs. Williams then asked for the treasurer's, secretary's and heads of committees' reports for the past year, and when these were given they were most gratifying, each section reported the amount earned during the past year and in all it amounted to close to $900.

Announcement was made of the Atlantic district meeting to be held in Pittsburgh Wednesday and Thursday of next week, which will be attended by a number of local women. Plans were also announced for the associational convention, which will be held in the First Baptist church May 21 and the Mother and Daughter banquet of May 12 was announced.

Section 7 was granted a prize of $5 for the best percentage of attendance during the past year.

Mrs. McCalmont read an interesting letter from William Hammond, who is sent to the Moody Bible Institute in Chicago, Ill., by the missionary society.

Mrs. David Nesbitt is leader of Section 1; Mrs. F. J. Morgan, section 2; Mrs. W. A. Eakin, section 3; Mrs. W. S. Williams, section 4; Mrs. Sterling, section 5; Mrs. H. L. Remley, section 6; Mrs. Dora Johnson, section 7 and Mrs. Wm. M. Hockenberry, section 8.

Reunited Ladies League.

Mrs. W. L. Davis of Spruce street received members of the Reunited Ladies League in her home Thursday evening for a 6:30 o'clock tureen dinner. Covers were laid for 14 guests at a table prettily decorated in pastel tones, centered with a huge bouquet of cut flowers. Various bouquets were placed about the rooms.

Later the hours were spent informally with chat and music. The next meeting will be held in two weeks with Mrs. Charles Martin of Cascade street as hostess.

MRS. RACHEL JENKINS HAS BIRTHDAY PARTY

A seventy fourth anniversary of a person's birth only comes once in a lifetime and with this in mind the four daughters of Mrs. Rachel Jenkins; Mrs. Blodwen Otto, Mrs. Rachel Reynolds, Mrs. Gladys Strasbaugh and Mrs. Nell Cromie, arranged for a family party Wednesday evening in the home of Mrs. Strasbaugh, North Shenango street, in honor of their mother.

In addition to the daughters, those in attendance included Mrs. Strasbaugh; grandchildren: Rachel Otto, Mr. and Mrs. John Lees, Marian and Audrey Cromie, Tom and Buster Strasbaugh and great grandchildren Virginia and John Lees, Miss Peggy Sheehan was a special guest.

Tulips and daffodils formed the centerpiece on the dining table when the daughters served refreshments and Mrs. Jenkins was presented with a number of lovely gifts from the members of her family.

JOLLY TWELVE CLUB REGULAR MEETING

Mrs. T. M. Moore of Park avenue was hostess to the Jolly Twelve club members in her home Thursday evening with the majority of the ladies being present. Music, chat and bingo were forms of entertainment, and prizes during the evening were won by Mrs. Frank Meyers and Mrs. Charles Riney.

Refreshments were served at an appropriate time by the hostess at a table arranged in the dining room Beautiful pastel tones were cleverly combined in the appointments with green predominating throughout.

As a special guest the club had Mrs. Eric Johnson of Toronto, O.

In two weeks they will hold another meeting, the place to be announced later.

REGULAR EVENING BRIDGE AT CLUB

On Tuesday, April 28, the regular evening bridge event will be held at the New Castle Field club house for the pleasure of its members. The hosts for this occasion will be Mr. and Mrs. Earl Thompson and Dr. and Mrs. H. E Zerner.

Cards will be featured during the greater part of the social period, and at the close of the evening a tasty lunch will be served the guests.

This is a change in days for the evening bridge parties, previous ones of the same nature being held on Thursdays, members will note, and an exceptionally enjoyable event is in store for those who attend on this date.

Fiello-DeGregory Wedding

A beautiful wedding was solemnized in St. Vitus church Wednesday morning when Rev. Fr. N. DeMita read the nuptial mass for Irene, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Fiello, Phillips street, and Louis DeGregory, son of Mr. and Mrs. James DeGregory, South Mercer street.

The bride was beautifully gowned in ivory satin, fashioned with a tight bodice and ankle length skirt, Spanish lace being effectively used in trimming; the bridal veil was held in cap effect by a wreath of orange blossoms and a bouquet of calla lilies and white roses was carried on her arm. The bridesmaid, Elizabeth Capperino, wore an ankle length gown of orchid satin and carried contrasting roses fashioned in an arm boquet. Charles Christopher attended the groom. The ring bearer was little Jeanette Gurnell and the train was borne by Fred and Frances Didiano, twins.

The ceremony was supplemented by a dinner in the bride's home, places being arranged for thirty five guests. A reception in the evening was attended by many friends and relatives and at a late hour Mr. and Mrs. DeGregory left for a trip to Cleveland, Detroit and Canada. The bride was attired in a green crepe traveling suit, with matching accessories, for the trip.

Mr. and Mrs. DeGregory will reside with the bride's parents for the present.

Degree Team Meeting

Twenty members and one guest, Margaret McCormick, of the Rachel Rebekah Degree team, met Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. Mary Bailey, North Mercer street, for the regular meeting.

Plans were made for a bake sale on May 2 and other activities were planned for the coming months. When the drawing was made for the prize of the evening Miss Virginia Bailey was the winner.

Bingo was played during the social period and prizes were awarded Mrs. Sara McCormick, Margaret McCormick and Mrs. Inez Patton.

The regular meeting of the L. L. O. L. No. 24 was held Thursday evening in the regular meeting place with a number of guests from the Pride of New Castle lodge No. 129 in attendance. The transaction of business took place. In two weeks the first degree of initiation work will be held and lunch will be served on this date by Mrs. S. Shoaff and her committee.

SHARE HONORS AT SURPRISE GATHERING

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Dixon of Lathrop street graced the role of honor Thursday evening when a group of friends gathered in their home in surprise fashion to help celebrate their birthdays, both which fell on the same date.

The hours were spent in playing cards and games of a wide variety, and at the conclusion of the entertainment, the guests served lunch. Appointments were carried out in tones of pink and white.

The honor couple received many nice remembrances from their friends, and many calls to congratulate them on this happy occasion. A special feature was a phone call from their daughter, Mrs. J. W. Vaughn, of Los Angeles, California which came while all were assembled there.

VETS AUXILIARY PLANS CARD PARTY

Arrangements have been completed by members of the ladies' auxiliary of the Harry L. McBride post Veterans of Foreign Wars, for a card party to be held in the Legion Home association building Monday evening, April 27.

Mrs. Emily Benson has been named chairlady for the evening and another enjoyable time is looked forward to by those who have been patrons of the vets auxiliary parties. The general public is issued an invitation to attend, along with the members of the McBride post.

Jolly Dinner Club

Mrs. H. M. Reynolds, Youngstown road, delightfully entertained the members of the Jolly Dinner Club in her home Thursday for a one o'clock luncheon, with places arranged for fifteen at a table centered with daffodils, other appointments being carried out in yellow, green and white.

Concluding a delicious menu the women spent the afternoon in an informal manner and planned for the next meeting, which will be an evening affair on May 6 in the home of Mrs. William Lannigan, Youngstown road, when the husbands will be special guests.

BASKET CLUB MEETS AT SEAVEY RESIDENCE

Members of the Basket club were entertained in a delightful manner Thursday evening when they gathered for their regular 7 o'clock dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Seavey on Highland avenue.

Following the serving of a sumptuous menu the hours were spent informally.

Announcement of the next meeting will be decided at a later date.

Honor Birthday.

Members of the Colonial club gathered at the home of Mrs. Louis DeLillo on Mercer street Thursday evening as a means of celebrating her birthday anniversary. Music and dancing were forms of pastime and at a late hour the guests were served a delicious lunch by Vida George and Rose Ciampoli. A large birthday cake centered the dining table.

The guest of honor was presented with a beautiful gift in memory of the day by her associates.

On April 30 the club will hold its regular meeting at the home of Mrs Louis DeLillo.

RAMBLING AROUND

IF SOME candidate for county office can figure out a workable scheme whereby the taxpayers of the county will get some value for the "dole system" in vogue in the poor department he would have a mighty popular campaign platform, we would predict. Some consideration was given early in the winter of a project to have some county roads improved by persons dependent upon the county poor department for their maintenance, but it apparently fell through. An immense amount of money has been handed out through the county poor department during the past year, if we are rightly informed.

Suggestion of the fire chief and councilmen that the Park avenue fire truck, which is to be replaced with a new engine soon, be kept in service by the city, is a worthy one. The truck could be quartered in some of the fire stations in the city, and be used as an emergency or reserve truck. Frequently some of the fire trucks or engines are in the shops for repairs, and the extra truck could do duty for a few days in the emergency. It might also be utilized as an added service truck in the case of fires where extra hose was needed, or an extra chemical tank.

New Castle and Lawrence county school musicians by the score are in Oil City today competing for honors in the Northwestern Pennsylvania high school contests. We anticipate that a considerable portion of the honors will be brought back to this city. The music departments in the New Castle Senior and Junior high schools are among the leaders in the state. We anticipate that the county schools will also bring back their share of the honors, for they likewise have music departments that have more than held their own in former contests.

Leesburg Presbyterians are planning for a great celebration on Sunday, when the 75th anniversary of the founding of the church will be observed. This church, the only one in the community, is an institution that is doing fine work in that district.

New Wilmington folks are wont to talk of the value of their new fire department, following the successful operation of the firemen in extinguishing the fire in the bank block this week. It is quite a coincidence that the first fire call for the new truck and the firemen of any importance came from the largest business structure in the town. The effective work in quelling what might have proven a most disastrous blaze is creating a lot of favorable comment for the borough firemen.

Once again New Castle high school is blazing the way. Pioneering in night football two seasons ago; and inaugurating a spring football game a year ago under the floodlights, the latter program will be repeated again tonight. Erie Academy high school will be here for the game. Despite the fact that the program of spring football hasn't been adopted generally, New Castle high is making a success of the venture.

This has been a year of freak weather, and the present month seems to be continuing the record. With nation wide drought, and then a mild winter, April has given phenomenally hot weather for a couple of weeks and then reverted to winter atmosphere. Whether the early fruit has been damaged or not, seems to be a debatable question with the growers.

Some method will have to be devised whereby the annual crop of school teachers, or rather would-be school teachers is curtailed somewhat, or there will continue to be a tremendous number of disappointed young men and women. With few vacancies occurring in the public schools of Western Pennsylvania, there will be hundreds of applicants for jobs this spring as the new classes are graduated. There is an over production of teachers at the present time.

The supreme court of the state of Washington has held that motorists are just as much responsible for conditions of the tires on their automobiles as for the brakes, and has given judgment for damages in a case where an accident resulted from the blowing out of a worn casing. As a matter of fact, a great many smash-ups result from this particular cause; hereafter, the automobilist who starts on a journey with tires that are worn down to the fabric, needn't expect Providence to look after him—not in the state of Washington. To the old slogan of "Watch Your Step" now may be added this one: "Watch Your Tires!"

DISTRUST THE MAN

Who can see no good in the town he lives in.
Who speaks only ill of the firm he works for.
Who knows no virtue in the work he is doing.
Who insists upon the hypocrisy of every saint.
Who will not admit the good that they may be in a reprobate.
Who is afraid to trust his highest motives.
Who holds his mother's religion in derision.

People Who Can Do Things
We Like Them
A Calf, a Cat, a Dog

By MARSHALL MASLIN

Our American philosopher, Ralph Waldo Emerson, tried to get a calf into a barn by digging his toes into the ground and shoving, and he failed ignominiously. But while he pondered and perspired, along came a grinning farm girl who put her fingers into the calf's mouth and led her into the barn. ... And the philosopher rushed into the house, without stopping to wash his hands, and wrote this in his journal:

"I like people who can do things."

The Anglo-Saxon people are like that. They like men who can "swing a deal." They like women who can conceal their intelligence. They like children who can put puzzles together and saw a board at the age of 18 month. They like dogs who can open doors. They DON'T LIKE FAILURE.

The naturalist Hudson used to tell with delight of a cat he knew three-quarters of a century ago on a South American rancho The people on the ranch would catch a field mouse, put it in a hollow, pithy stalk and set a cat to capture it When the cat was at one end the mouse ran away at the other end and escaped. . . . One cat, however, learned how to close the end of the stalk and bite it off bit by bit until the mouse was in his claws. No other cat on the rancho ever learned that trick. That cat knew how.

On a train last Sunday night I saw a conductor put a noisy drunken man off without any trouble at all. It was the man's station, but he refused to get off. He swore, he shouted, he damned the conductor up and down.

What did the conductor do. He reached down, picked up the man's little wooly dog and walked away with it—and the drunken man, reeling and yelling and demanding his dog, followed the conductor down the aisle and down the steps and off the train.

It's easy to get a drunken man off a train, if he has a dog, if he loves that dog, and if you strike at him through that love for his dog—and if you know how.

And if you want to put your grumbly husband in a good mood pretend that you can't fix the electric iron or the vacuum cleaner and ask him to do it for you. He'll feel superior and do it, thinking to himself that "women are people who don't know how to do things." . . . But they do. They know how to get along with men.

EXCESSIVE TALKERS

The more intelligent a man is the less likely he will be to make positive statements of the knowledge he possesses.

He realizes that many ramifications and angles that have a bearing on results and is careful about expressing a positive opinion.

He may state facts with reservations.

He is guarded however and would like you to make your own deductions.

Are you the sort that considers his own conceptions as indisputable facts.

Such an individual is often an excessive talker and becomes loud and heated in his declarations.

He belittles those who oppose him.

If you are not such a person you may have met the kind.

In nearly every place of employment there are men whose education and knowledge are limited but who try to force their ideas upon others.

If they are not heads of departments, delegated to direct others they take it out in an undercurrent of what they would do in the superintendent's job.

The deficiencies of such men are so apparent that it is not worth while to argue with them, to ignore them is wiser policy.

IN THE GARDEN

His garden was lovely, with bloom it was gay
And aglow with the splendor and glory of May.
As we strolled there I noticed some petals aflame
Which were strangers to me, so I asked him their name,
And he said: "I can't tell you, but wait' I suppose
The chap that I hired for a gardener knows."
"Hey, Bill!" he called out, "what is this growing here?
Is it new or a thing which we planted last year?"
Then I fancied I caught in the gardener's eye
A look of disgust as he turned to reply,
As if he thought owners of gardens should know
The names of the blossoms they're trying to grow.
Perhaps feeling more questions the millionaire said:
"Come on! Follow us around and explain every bed."
Which he did, hat in hand, in a manner polite
Very frequently setting his master aright
But I'm sure at the end when I bade them goodbye
I picked up a wink in that gardener's eye!

Mr. Hints and Dints: The most remarkable married couple I've ever known are 82 and 84 years old respectively. They have been married 58 years, and reared three children. They never scolded them, nor punished them, never said "Don't" to them and never had a dispute in their family.

The wife says she has no emotional nature, has never cried, nor known anger. Says nothing is bettered by crying anyway, and nothing is worth losing one's temper over. She has a keen sense of humor, a bright mind, and great charity. Her husband is quite talented, even-tempered, sweet. Both have led busy lives and are still active. They are assuredly the one model married couple, just that, and no mistake. The wife doesn't claim any credit—says she was born unemotional, doesn't know what anger is. That's the answer.

Alfonso's Friends And Foes Subject Of Wide Comment

Possibility Of Successful Republic Considered, While Spanish King's Personality And Record Are Examined In Comments On Revolution

Friendly and unfriendly attitudes toward Alfonso, deposed King of Spain, are balanced in the minds of Americans who discuss the revolution in that country. It is observed that royalty has been meeting with rebuffs and that the Spanish King has had trouble for some years, but the question of successful rule by the leaders of the people, under the new regime, is a subject for debate.

"Spain faces troubled years before attaining political stability," in the opinion of the PHILADELPHIA EVENING BULLETIN, while the CINCINNATI ENQUIRER feels that "the able leadership of the new republic gives reason for hope that Spain will survive the transition without grave disorder or foolish radicalism." The PROVIDENCE JOURNAL is of the opinion that "political stabilization will come much sooner with the dynasty out of the way," pointing out that "the country backed the wrong horse in the world conflict."

"Tyranny can be exercised under republicanism," declares the HAMILTON (ONTARIO) SPECTATOR, expressing the hope that "those in the seats of authority may be governed in their policies by a spirit of wisdom and moderation." The INDIANAPOLIS STAR holds that "if those who have been agitating against the monarchy can get together in common cause and submerge their own personal ambitions, Spain may be at the beginning of a new and better era." The HOUSTON CHRONICAL says: "For King Alfonso we have sympathy; but for Spain we are glad; for her, the masses of the world wish a brighter future under a free government expressing the will of a truly free and capable people." The JERSEY CITY JOURNAL contends that "the new republic will be stronger for the taste of suppression of civil rights which the people have had."

"That the change may mean much and may mean little to the people" is the conclusion of the SCHENECTADY GAZETTE, which is convinced that while "perhaps the monarchy would have done as well, any people fitted for self-government can go farther with complete power in their own hands." That paper states that "the United States will welcome the newest addition to the ranks of sister republics" The CHICAGO DAILY NEWS comments: "The new republic has the good wishes of liberal thought the world around It promises a rule of law, justice and civil liberty That is much, but the Spanish people will expect also intelligent promotion of economic prosperity by sound agarian, administrative and fiscal reforms"

"The decision that the nation shall function as a federated republic" is hailed by the TORONTO DAILY STAR, seeing "an arrangement which will give diverse elements in the population a large measure of self-determination"

"American sympathy for the republic may be taken for granted," says the CHICAGO DAILY NEWS, adding: "Much of Europe will observe Spanish events with ill will or hostility. A Spanish republic is a new factor. To the surviving monarchies it is a bad portent." As to world trade, the CHARLOTTE OBSERVER records that the American Department of Commerce is anticipating that "the new government organization in Spain will speedily lift the value of the peseta to a point that will interest our country." The HARTFORD TIMES believes that "to meet conditions fairly adequately with constructive measures will be the test of the new government," and the PHILADELPHIA INQUIRER warns that "if the new republic is to survive it must attain a greater unity than previous Spanish republics have done."

"Successful self-government seems to be obtained by evolution and not by revolution," argues the LOS ANGELES TIMES, pointing out that "Spain's troubles are economic and the control of economic forces is not yet in man's possession." That success is doubtful is the judgment of the SOUTH BEND TRIBUNE, while the LOUISVILLE COURIER-JOURNAL suggests that "perhaps the States of the country are as hostile and divided as they have been traditionally" and the CHARLOTTE NEWS warns that "graft persists in spite of democracy and partisanry oftentimes becomes less benevolent than monarchy." the ROANOKE WORLD-NEWS says: "Sympathy with the Spanish people in their aspirations for more liberal government, while general in the United States, will be tempered by doubts of the possibility of establishing anything like true representative government in a land where a large part of the population is illiterate, where there is no free press, and where there is no background of free expression or free government."

"The nation's present attempt to rule itself seems certain to result in a form of democratic despotism that may or may not be endured," in the judgment of the ASBURY PARK PRESS. The LYNCHBURG NEWS raises the question as to the ultimate verdict on the problem whether republics and constitutional monarchies possess as many shortcomings as did absolute monarchies.

Discussing the passing of the monarchy, the ATLANTA JOURNAL exclaims: "Spain a republic! Spain of the Hapsburgs and the Bourbons, of Charles the Fifth, of Philip the Second and Duke Alva! Spain of a thousand years of monarchy! Incredible it seems, incredible it would be, had we not so lately witnessed the vanishing of the Romanoffs from Russia, the Hohenzollerns from Germany, the Hapsburgs from Austria. In such a twilight of the kings the exit of Alfonso the Thirteenth appears not unnatural. Yet it is somehow as hard to picture Spain without a crown as without castles and bells and colorful 'state and anciently.' *What a day may bring forth for the new-born republic, there is no predicting the factors are too numerous and diverse, the possibilities too hazy. But of all who wish Spain a happy issue out of her present uncertainties and a future rich in prosperity and progress, none does so more heartily than the United States of America."

"With Alfonso's abdication passed what had seemed an almost impregnable fortress of monarchy," says the NEW YORK SUN, adding: "At the same time there passed from Spain a man of strong democratic tendencies, admired for his human qualities and his undaunted courage, one endowed with such a patriotic regard for his country that he preferred to accept the demands made upon him rather than precipitate civil strife."

"It is merely a local disturbance," states the COLUMBUS OHIO STATE JOURNAL, with the appraisal that "its moral, if it has any, is that probably the only constant thing in this world is change."

The WASHINGTON EVENING STAR thinks Alfonso "may be recalled," and that "in effect he takes an indefinite leave of absence from the kingship," while the MILWAUKEE JOURNAL views his departure as "in the nature of a coup" and the good qualities of Alfonso are lauded by the CLEVELAND PLAIN DEALER and the ROCHESTER TIMES-UNION. The NEWARK EVENING NEWS concludes that he "will be heard from again." The WHEELING INTELLIGENCER describes him as a man of wealth and adds that "none of the Bourbons appears to have been more prudent in either personal or public policy." The CHARLESTON (S. C.) NEWS AND COURIER says in review of his career: "For Alfonso, who was literally born a king, the problems have been solved. He has been beset on all sides for years. One threat against his throne after another has followed frequently. The danger of the collapse of the monarchy has been real. His personal wealth assures him of comfort in whatever land he takes up residence. The former king is about to find peace."

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

"TOM MELLON'S SON."

Harry Alloway, who writes for the Wall Street Journal, can remember—yes, he can and does remember much about the dynamic figures which have marched through the financial history of these United States. He tells a story which should interest all Pennsylvania people. 'Tis a story about Tom Scott, Henry Phipps, Andy Carnegie, Joe Wharton and Tom Mellon's son—the present Secretary of the Treasury.

"Colonel Thomas A. Scott, who came close (at the time of this story) to being the personal proprietor of the expanding Pennsylvania railroad, was obviously favoring young Andrew Carnegie in his steel manufacture parlaying; and Joseph Wharton, with ardent Philadelphia backing—overtopping Carnegie in trade repute—was showing himself much put out by the awarding of contracts to the climbing Scot without any of the little conventions of competitive bidding. The makings of a good old-fashioned jamboree were ready at hand.

"In the railway directory itself there came to be mutterings, night explosions. Only the diplomacies of Henry Phipps kept back open war—banker Thomas Mellon meantime brusquely 'against any mild-mannering' with the Wharton-Drexel opposition.

"Came as a climaxing challenge to tempers upon both sides the announcement that the railroad was about to broaden hundreds of miles

Temporary Halt In Graft Probe At Youngstown

Depositions Will Be Taken Saturday In $100,000 Slander Suit

(International News Service)

YOUNGSTOWN, O., April 24.—A temporary lull was occasioned today in the tangled utilities controversy here pending the taking of depositions Saturday morning in the $100,000 slander suit filed by Attorney A. M. Henderson against Ray Thomas, county prosecutor.

The slander suit was the outgrowth of spectacular disbarment charges filed against Judge David G. Jenkins. Judge J. K. Lyon of the Mahoning county common pleas bench, and Attorney Henderson, one of their legal advisers in the proposed grand jury investigation of the utilities.

Thomas yesterday filed a motion in court attacking charges instituted against him by the judges in their efforts to conduct the utilities probe independently of the prosecutor's office, which, they charge, is involved with the utility situation. The prosecutor alleged that charges made against him by the jurist were motivated by prejudice. The motion will be passed upon next Wednesday by Judges A. J. Pearson of Cleveland and Alfred Mack of Cincinnati, called in by the Ohio supreme court to act as impartial adjudicators in the present charges and counter-charges.

Witnesses subpoenaed to attend the Saturday session include Thomas himself, A. E. Reinmann, former president, and S. A. Arnold, former secretary of the now defunct Central Savings & Trust company; Hugh W. Grant, president of the City Trust & Savings bank; W. C. Hozworth, manager for the receiver of the Struthers Furnace company; Judge J. K. Lyon and Attorney F. R. Hahn.

of auxiliary track, to be laid with heavier steel.

"Philadelphia and Pittsburgh went into hectic grips—Carnegie assured by precedent of preference; and Wharton's attorneys giving notice that the impending contracts would go to the lowest bidder or to court. Colonel Scott played Sphynx; and nobody went guessing that he could be either coaxed or coerced into switching from his accustomed autocratic way with an appropriation. Heartiness of his jests at a call upon the head of the Mellon bank left nobody in doubt about his being 'all set.'

"But day of contract letting upset the oracles. Instead of award to anybody, President Scott merely confided to the public through his directors that for the present there was going to be suspension of the proposed reconstruction work. Why? 'Oh, a young fellow took me to dinner out in Pittsburgh last night—that's all!'

"Cryptic talk like that but italicised the surprise—not reduced by the railroad monarch's added vagueness that 'Young fellows are queer fellows—I'll say they are!'

"Apostrophised 'young fellow' was busy beyond that dinner table. Within a fortnight he was reporting to Colonel Scott—for the first time in the role of a harkener and a facesaver: 'Mr. Carnegie and Mr. Wharton are dropping in on you at the Union League this evening, arm in arm, for a little happy all-around chat—both anxious to have you understand that they are the best of friends, that they both love you, that you call for bids they may be even bidding together."

And what soon happened was that the biggest rail contract known to that date was divided—by way of the operation of the first official call ever made by any American railroad for competitive bids.

"Some history!" acclaims the reminiscent; and he proceeds:

"That 'young fellow,' without other incentive than to exercise generalship, had amiably faced the belligerent steel masters with the jolting suggestion that he would like to have their reaction to a plan he was thinking about, plan to make himself a philanthropist by providing the Pennsylvania with high-type English-made rails at an import price away down.

"'Who are you?' Joseph Wharton wanted to know. Andrew Carnegie did not need the information—he knew Tom Mellon's son."

Boys' work department clubs are rapidly ending their season's activities. Director Thomas said today that the clubs under him will end their work by next week. Many clubs have finished up already.

Society

Ever Ready Dinner

Members of the Ever Ready Class of the First Methodist church, of which Walter Reneker is teacher, met Thursday evening in the dining room of the church at 6 o'clock for a tureen dinner.

The tables were arrayed in spring flowers and lighted tapers, which added an air of festivity to the good fellowship which prevailed. A delicious menu was served from the tureens brought by the members.

A brief business meeting in charge of the president, Harry Thompson, was held at conclusion of dinner and plans for the summer activities were formulated.

May 28 will mark the date of the next meeting, which will be in the home of Mrs. A. P. Shaffer, Delaware avenue.

L. O. A. Club.

The L. O. A. club members met Thursday with Mrs. Ralph Ferree on DuShane street with Mrs. M. Reynolds and Mrs. O. E. Michaels as special guests.

Prizes for the entertainment during the social period were won by Mrs. John Evans, Mrs. Jesse Dufford and Mrs. Elmer Taylor. The club favor was given to Mrs. Ray Richards.

An added feature was the handkerchief shower on Mrs. John Evans honoring her birthday anniversary.

During the business hour Mrs. Michaels was taken into the club as a new member.

They adjourned to meet on Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. J. F. Titus for a 6:30 o'clock tureen dinner.

Drill Team Meets

Members of the Drill Team of the Daughters of Union Veterans met Thursday evening in the K. of P. Hall, East street, for the regular business meeting, with Mrs. Emma McKissick presiding. Plans were made for the activities of the next few months.

Bridge keno formed the amusement for the after business hour and prizes were awarded to Mrs. Jessie Crooks and Mrs. Minnie Kaufmann.

The May meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Minnie Kaufmann, East Washington street, with Mrs. Minnie Kaufmann, Mrs. Minnie Mayers, Mrs. Phoebe Earl and Mrs. Sarah Linton as the hostesses.

R-Nu Club

Miss Betty Ferchaws home on Cedar street was the scene of a club meeting recently when she entertained the R-Nu club members. Busniess matters were discussed, when Catherine Cuban was taken in as a new member of the club.

Special guests were Minnie Theis and Theresa Margel.

Dancing and cards were later in vogue as pastimes, followed by the serving of a tasty lunch by the hostess assisted by Minnie Theis. Green and white tones were carried out in the appointments.

The next meeting will be in the form of a pajama party and will be at the home of Josephine Rzepka on Ashland avenue, Tuesday, May 5.

Birthday Dinner

Mrs. John Kaufman, East Washington street, entertained a number of guests in her home Thursday at a one o'clock luncheon, the day being the anniversary of her birth.

The luncheon table was effectively appointed in pastel shades, with a large birthday cake as the centerpice and tall lighted tapers at the ends: spring flowers were used most effectively in small bowls.

In addition to the family the guests included Mrs. Fanny Davis, Mrs. Virginia Hammond and Mrs. Elizabeth Steinbrink.

Mrs. Kaufman received some lovely remembrances of the occasion.

Kokonut-Klub Meets

Miss Theresa Figuly of Huron avenue entertained the Kokonut-Klub in her home Thursday evening. Games were enjoyed, including "Who's Who" and five-hundred. Following a short business session, lunch was served in the dining room at a table prettily decorated in yellow and white tones. Flowers of pastel shades graced the center. The hostess was assisted in serving by Helen Reynolds, Helen Kraft and Hettie Negubauer.

On May 14 Bertha Leonhardt will receive the club at her home on Cunningham avenue.

Section Meeting

Members of Section D of the Y. L. B. class of the Third United Presbyterian church met Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. Earl Lutz, Arlington avenue, with Mrs. Fred Wehr in charge of the meeting.

Two new members were enrolled, Mrs. Laura Wallace and Mrs. Guy. At the conclusion of the business session a social period ensued and a dainty lunch was served by the hostess.

The May meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Stewart Gray, Adams street.

Modern 500 Club

The Modern 500 Club met with Mrs. Harry Stenger on Fairmont avenue Thursday afternoon. Cards were in play as the chief pastime, with prizes for honors being won by Mrs. Edward Fulkerson and Mrs. Frederick DeJane. The feature was preceded by the serving of a delicious luncheon at 1 o'clock in the diningroom at a prettily appointed table.

The next meeting in two weeks will be held with Mrs. Harry Flinner on Hillcrest avenue as hostess.

Auxiliary Card Party

Mrs. I. W. Miller, president of the American Legion Auxiliary, announces that all arrangements are completed for the entertainment of members and friends this evening in the Legion Home, North Jefferson street.

Cards will be the diversion of the evening and the social committee will serve a lunch at the conclusion of the game.

Legislative Committee

The Legislative Committee of the Lawrence County Federation of Women's Clubs will meet Saturday evening, April 25 at 7:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. W. A. Taylor, 310 Leasure avenue. It is requested that asignments and legislative questions of interest be brought to the club at this session.

Dinner Date Postponed

On account of unforseen circumstances the dinner scheduled for this evening by the Shelton Bible class of the First Christian church has been postponed until Thursday, April 30.

Number Of Air Pilots In State Shown Increasing

Number Grows Despite Fact That Licensed Planes Show Small Decrease

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent of The New Castle News.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 24.—The number of pilots in Pennsylvania bearing the official license of the department of commerce increased during the first quarter of this year, but the number of licensed aircraft fell off, and on April first the state ranked fourth of the 48 in the number of licensed pilots and fourth in the number of licensed planes, according to figures just made available by the aeronautics branch of the commerce department.

On the first day of April, licensed pilots in the Keystone state numbered 46 and licensed planes totaled 415. This was a decrease below the 420 licensed planes but an increase over the 810 licensed pilots reported for the state on January 1.

Of the licensed pilots reported April first, 238 were transport pilots, 136 were limited commercial pilots, nine industrial pilots and 463 held private flying licenses. In addition to the 41 licensed planes, the state had 94 planes which had been identified by the commerce department and 40 gliders. There were only 37 gliders listed in the state on January 1.

Licensed mechanics in Pennsylvania totaled 403 on April first, an increase over the 401 listed on the first of January. California, New York and Illinois were credited with more licensed planes and pilots than the Keystone state on April first.

Major Hernandez To Hold Conference

Will Be In Charge Of Reserve Officers Conference This Evening

Dinner meeting and conference of the officers of the 395th Infantry and the Shenango Valley Chapter of the Reserve Officers Association will be held this evening at 6:30 o'clock in the Elk's Club. Major P. A. Hernandez, United States Infantry, who is attached to the 99th Division Headquarters in Pittsburgh, will conduct the conference that will be held at 7:30 p. m. following the dinner. He will discuss "The Operations of the Second Army in the third phase of the Meuse Argonne." It is expected to prove a most interesting conference topic. The officers here for the purpose of inspecting Troop F, will be guests at the dinner.

Mixed Chorus To Compete At Warren

The competing mixed chorus from this city which will vie for honors in the Warren festival to be held at Warren, Ohio, on May 9 has selected for its name the "May Chorus of New Castle."

The name was selected at a recent meeting of the chorus. A concert will be presented by this chorus on May 3 in the Central Presbyterian church to give local residents an opportunity to see and hear the chorus which will compete in the big event at Warren, Ohio.

Rehearsals have been going on for the past few months and according to David West, director of the chorus, the local representatives are coming along fine.

Waters To Submerge Three Nevada Towns

LAS VEGAS, Nev., April 24.—The famous "Lost City" of prehistoric times will be submerged under the waters of the Colorado river as soon as water begins to accumulate behind the Boulder Dam.

The waters of the river will cover the city 50 feet. The present town of St. Thomas will be under 70 feet of water and the adjoining village of Koalin will be under 25 feet of water.

Compensation for damages is now being adjusted. The 300 residents of the Mormon town St. Thomas will move further up the valley.

BRENT

Mrs. Tom Crawford spent Sunday in Struthers, Ohio, with her sisters.

Clyde Urev has returned from Mercer hospital.

Miss Elizabeth Rodgers of New Castle spent Sunday at the home of Gene Crowe.

Mr. and Mrs. John Wilson and family of New Castle were recent visitors at the home of Jay Cotton on Plaingrove road.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnathan Fennick and family of McCaslin spent Sunday with Mrs. Ben Hedglin of Brent.

Miss Grace Hogue is back in school after being bruised and shaken up from being hit by an automobile.

The children in the grades of Plaingrove school are anxiously waiting for April 30 when the school closes for the term. The high school will not close till June.

Wedding Record In Kansas Town

OLATHE, Kan., April 24.—Just why they come to Oalthe to get married nobody seems to know; but they do, and in numbers far beyond the population, or apparent vantage point of this east Kansas town of some 5,000 population.

In 1930, 1,264 marriage licenses were issued at the probate judge's office. Of that number, 1,144 were issued to persons living in Canada and 23 states; only 120 were for residents of this county.

And the work goes merrily on in 1931. For the first three months, the records show issuance of 291 licenses, an increase of 19 over the corresponding period of last year.

Vernon K. Campbell, the bachelor judge, officiates at most of the weddings. His office is known as "Cupid's Parlor." He lives at Merram and obliges the late comers by asking them into his parlor.

He has one inviolable rule: Don't get out of bed to tie the knot. Judge Cambell said if he had married all the couples who had pounded at his door in the midnight hours, his record would be something to really boast about. But if he has retired, they wait until the next day or go elsewhere.

DID YOU KNOW? — Illustrated Question Box

Copyright, 1931, by Central Press Association, Inc.

Are women ever buried in Arlington National cemetery.

Yes.

Flight of Geese.

The average speed of wild geese is between 40 and 60 miles an hour, although much higher speeds have been reported unofficially. The early type of Curtiss plane, traveling at a rate of 70 miles an hour, was able to overtake wild geese, thus indicating that a speed of more than 60 miles for these birds was not unusual.

Pawnbroker's Sign.

Why do pawnbrokers have three balls in front of their shops?

This custom originated from armorial bearings of the Medici family, some of the earliest and most famous pawnbrokers of Lombardy. The sign is said by some to represent three gilded pills, alluding to the profession of medicine of which the family were active members. Others says the three balls is a device adopted by the family after Averardo de Medici slew a giant who carried a club with three iron balls on the end.

Sherlock Holmes.

Was Sherlock Holmes a fictitious character?

Revive Hope For Great Seaport In New London

Interest Centers About Proposal To Make It Terminal Of Ship Line

(International News Service)

NEW LONDON, Conn., April 24.—Fond dreams of local residents of the days when New London should become a mighty seaport were revived this spring by word that interests in Brest, France, were greatly interested in a project to make Brest and New London the opposite ends of a new trans-Atlantic steamship line.

That berths for steamships at New London and Brest would cut the Atlantic voyage by at least a whole day was one of the points advanced by a delegation now in France investigating the proposition of a new line. Another point advanced was that New London and Brest each has a much lesser degree of fog than other ports in the two countries, and so there would be little chance of interruption to service between the points.

The state of Connecticut spent upward of a million dollars in erecting a pier here some fifteen years ago or more. The pier has been used chiefly by the coast guard and lumber vessels since then. Just now five finger piers for use by the submarine base are being built along side the state pier, and a great lumber terminal is being constructed there to cut the time for unloading material brought from the Pacific coast.

But so far no sign of predicted passenger service has materialized. The harbor, long boasted as the finest on the Atlantic, lies ready to receive the largest boats afloat, but so far the chief traffic has come on days of the famous Harvard-Yale regretta when the water is thronged with pleasure craft.

Still, New London hopes for the change that will help it toward the dream goal of being one of the great world ports.

EXPECT STORM WHEN PICTURE IS EXHIBITED

Picture Of Christ In Modern Crowd Expected To Raise Criticism

(International News Service)

LONDON, April 24.—A picture depicting Christ in the midst of a modern crowd has been submitted for this year's Royal Academy, which opens at Burlington House on May 4.

Photographic copies of the picture have already caused a sensation in art circles and if accepted for the exhibition the picture will undoubtedly be one of the most discussed works.

The artist is Mark Symons, of Reading, whose picture, "Were you there when they crucified my Lord?" caused much controversy at the Academy last year.

His picture for this year's exhibition is entitled "My Lord I meet in every London lane and street."

The picture represents Christ teaching modern people in a modern town and their varied reactions to His Presence.

Behind Him are grouped a number of his followers with St. Peter and St. John on either side of Him. In His left are several Pharisees holding Bibles and arguing. On His right is the young man who asks what he must do to be perfect.

With upraised hand, the Lord is saying: "I say unto you, before Abraham was, I am."

On one side a sick child is being carried out of a car to be brought to Jesus. A child in the foreground is taking off her shoes, which the artist explains is a symbol of following Christ.

In the background are school children, men digging up the road, women shopping and a statue of a public benefactor.

The scene is laid in Broad street, Reading. Practically all the people in the picture are in modern garb, and the artist says that many of the faces are those of people he has seen.

Service Men Win Fight With Solons

OIL CITY, Pa., April 24.—Oil City service men have been successful in another battle.

City council proposed to move a large German howitzer, World War relic, from a place in the heart of the city to a plot near the outskirts.

Ex-soldiers opposed the move. Council finally acceded to the demands of the service men and decided to let a contract for construction of a permanent base for the gun.

Captain Hawks Tells About Record Flight

By CHARLES A. SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

(Copyright, 1931, by International News Service)

HESTON, AIRDROME, LONDON, April 24.—Sightseeing in Europe at 200 miles an hour is "great fun," Captain Frank M. Hawks, American speed flier, told International News Service, in an exclusive interview here Thursday following his return from Rome.

The airman took "time out" to describe his birds-eye tour of the European continent a short while after he had added a new record to his impressive string by reaching Heston Airdrome from Le Bourget Flying Field in 59 minutes. The fastest flight ever made between Paris and London. The 229 mile jaunt was the last leg in Hawks' flight to Rome and return.

"Some people may think they can't see the 'sights' of Europe while speeding through the clouds at three miles a minute and more," Hawks declared.

"But they're wrong. I saw more per square mile than any tourist ever did."

Captain Hawks spoke with elation of his Twentieth-Century style "grand tour," upholding his method of "getting there and getting back again" as quickly as possible against the slower, more methodical methods of the average globe-trotter.

"The French countryside," Hawks said, "looked much like some parts of the United States, but I saw many people working in the fields with primitive horse ploughs than ever would be seen in America.

"Switzerland was just a blast, with white-capped mountain peaks poking their noses up through the clouds once in a while.

"I didn't like that part of the flight. Those peaks looked treacherous.

"Italy was very beautiful, especially along the route I took on the return journey which carried me by way of the coast.

"All along the way I could see sheer bluffs with ancient castles perched upon them. That was the most picturesque part of the flight."

Captain Hawks, who has earned the soubriquet in England of "the human bullet," confessed that at one stage of the return journey his constitution balked at high altitudes.

"I was rather frightened on the way back," he said. "I haven't been feeling well lately, and when I got up around 18,000 feet I began to get 'woozy' and was araid the rarified air might make me pass out.

"So instead of pushing up over the Alps I decided to follow the coast."

Captain Hawks said he would attempt the round trip again sometime within the next two weeks and felt confident he would reach Rome and return within the space of twelve hours.

"I will probably go via Nice to clear out the Alps," he said, "making a stop at Lyons each way."

Sunday Dancing Halted By Mayor

(International News Service)

YORK, Pa., April 24.—Dancing on Sunday is a "violation of anything" in the opinion of Mayor Jacob E. Weaver here, who ordered police to halt a dance scheduled to follow a wedding breakfast.

"It's almost too worldly to talk about," said the mayor as he issued the stoppage order.

The chief magistrate recently ordered cancellation of the annual concert of the Spring Garden Band, scheduled for a Sunday.

IN MEMORIAM

WARD—Hugh Ward. In fond and loving memory of our beloved husband and father, who passed away one year ago April 24, 1930.

When the evening shades are falling, Dad,
And I'm sitting all alone.
To my heart there comes a longing,
If he only could come home.
Sad and sudden was his call.
So dearly loved by one and all
No one knows the silent heartache.
Only those who lived can tell.
But many a silent tear we shed.
Dad,
For the one we loved so well.

Plead Guilty To Slaying Recluse

MARIETTA, O., April 24.—Three youths all of Paden City, W. Va., pleaded guilty today at a preliminary hearing on murder charges and were held for the grand jury without bond. They are charged with killing John Conrad, aged hermit of Cats Creek Hills, last August 8.

The youths are Clay Sims, 28; Waldo Pippins, 30, and Raymond Slider, 19. The grand jury will consider their cases May 11.

Jury: A body of eleven just men that gives a murderer fourteen years rather than have him set free by one stubborn man.

Good Will Toward U. S. Is Forecast As Effect Of Nicaraguan Policy

President Hoover's Refusal To Police Central American Republics With Marines Seen As Wise Move

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 24.—President Hoover's Nicaraguan policy is not at all what might have been expected from his general type of administration.

Spokesman for American concerns with large Nicaraguan holdings are saying so with extreme bitterness, anyway.

It is true, Mr. Hoover never has appeared to be particularly imperialistic. In fact, he has said publicly that he does not consider marines very desirable representatives of the United States in foreign countries.

Still, it is big business which is squaking for more of them to protect its interests in Nicaragua.

And the Washington government curtly refuses to guarantee American investments abroad against the risks of local disturbances.

* * *

One may agree with the president that it is not Uncle Sam's duty to safeguard Americans' property rights in Nicaragua any more than in England or France, for example and that is the obligation of Americans who are in danger in the Nicaraguan interior, and want to be saved, to make for the coast, where warships can rescue them without too much difficulty.

Or one may argue that the United States owes it to its citizens to land enough leathernecks to police the entire republic in the present emergency, as well to prevent tresspassing on a fruit company's plantations as to insure its employes against personal violence.

The fact remains that the Hoover policy of respecting Nicaraguan sovereignty is calculated to create more good will toward this country throughout Latin America, than any president of the United States has adopted since the Monroe Doctrine first began to be twisted to suit the convenience of Washington statesmen, in disregard of Latin America sensibilities in connection with it.

* * *

Perhaps Mr. Hoover has this in mind; perhaps not.

In either case, on the strength of several years' residence in the new world's Latin republics and quite a cose acquaintance with their inhabitants, I will say that that will be the effect of it.

The folk of the stronger, more southerly countries of the western hemisphere, such as Brazil, Argentina and Chile, have not, to be sure much in common with those of the extreme north, regarding them (except the Cubans) about as we do here—that is to say, as rather trifling, turbulent and irresponsible.

Nevertheless, they do instantly resent the slightest shake of the formidable North American armed fist in the direction of any of their number—even Haiti or Santo Domingo.

* * *

It is not unnatural, either.

The United States is too large and powerful a neighbor to be safe, and whenever Washington threatens any one of the southern peoples all the others realize that it might be any one of the rest of them. Moreover a threat from the United States, intended for one of the southern coterie, is not a threat of a fight but a spanking, which is undignified.

And there have been quite a few such threats—and some fulfillments.

Of course Latin dislike is no military peril to Uncle Sam, but it simply is ruinous to the development of his commercial relations with the Latins.

* * *

Latin America probably never meant much to President Coolidge; less to President Harding. President Wilson's administration actually provoked anti-Yankee riots south of the equator.

President Hoover has been there. He gives evidence of an enlightened understanding of the Latin American psychology.

Secretary of State Stimson is thoroughly familiar with Nicaragua, especially. He served as mediator between the warring Nicaraguan factions just before his appointment to the governor's generalship of the Philippines, which, in turn, preceeded his promotion to cabinet rank.

Their policy has all the earmarks of intelligent celebration— if only they can stick to it in the face of the outcry for a campaign in the jungle in defense of the banana trade.

Hoosier Grocer Takes Eggs As Money

(International News Service)

OTWELL, Indiana, April 24.—To stimulate trade with farmers who suffered from lack of purchasing ability due to the record low prices of eggs and other farm products, Ira Mansfield, local grocer, advertised an "egg trade week."

"Bring in your eggs. No limit on the amount you may buy" Mansfield's advertisement in the Weekly Star here read.

The ad listed the trading basis of eggs. Some of the groceries that could be bought with eggs were:

Two boxes of matches—5 eggs.
One can of pumpkin—8 eggs.
One pound of peanuts—10 eggs.
A 2 pound can of baking powder—22 eggs.
Three bars of soap—10 eggs.
1 pound of oleomargarine—13 eggs.
1 can of pepper—13 eggs.
100 pounds of chicken grit—63 eggs.
I pound of lard—13 eggs.
I can of milk—7 eggs.
I pound of crackers—19 eggs.

Mansfield reported a rushing business.

Beginning of the End of Spain's Monarchy

Chicago Gangsters Elude Ancient Vagrancy Laws

By W. F. PETERSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, April 24.—Whatever else Chicago gangsters may be, they are not vagrants.

This has been established in the recent dismissal of many of the vagrancy charges preferred against "public enemies" in warrants issued by Judge John H. Lyle. Judge Lyle was defeated for the Republican nomination as mayor by William Hale Thompson, who subsequently was defeated for re-election by Anton J. Cermak, Democrat.

Among the cases dropped was one involving Scarface Al Capone, Chieftain of Chicago's underworld.

Sergt. Roy Van Herik, at the first hearing of Capone's case, told Judge Frank M. Padden that he had signed the complaint against Scarface not of his own knowledge, but on hearsay. When no policeman could be found to sign the complaint of his own knowledge, the gang czar promptly popped out of court on a nol pros.

The procedure was similar in the case of Dennis "The Duke" Cooney, who, according to the police, has been operating disorderly houses in the notorious 22nd street sector for a quarter of a century. His release on a nol pros was a matter of minutes.

More recently, Frankie Rio, alais Cline, came into court with his lawyer. Rio is the man who served a year in a Philadelphia jail with Capone for gun-toting conviction. Disposition of his case, via the dismissal route, took about 30 seconds.

And then came Bernard O'Donnell, member of a west side clan well known to the authorities. O'Donnell was given an opportunity to speak his mind.

"Well, sir," he told Judge Francis Borrelli, "you could have knocked me down with a feather when that copper served me with a vagrancy warrant. I'm secretary and treasurer of the Commission Wagon Drivers' Union and have been for three years. I get $125 a week. Me a vagrant?"

O'Donnell looked pained.

Sergt. Van Herik told how he picked up O'Donnell with another police character and hustled him off to the detective bureau. He also said he did not sign the complaint of his own knowledge.

"I am reminded," mused Judge Borrelli, "of the judge who used to rule on a case and look up the law afterward. This business of nabbing men on vagrancy warrants and then scurrying about afterward in the belief that something may turn up to prove procedure is silly."

The vagrancy drive was based on an old Illinois statute under which a person proved devoid of any legal means to support might be sentenced to six months at hard labor.

Among other "enemies" who were freed on nol pros were George "Bugs" Moran and Jack Heinan.

The prosecutors were unable to obtain convictions against Harry "Loud Mouth" Levine, Joe Saltis or Jake Guzik.

Some of the results of the vagrancy drive were the return to prison of James "Fur" Sammons and George "Red" Barker on old charges. An old murder case was discovered against William "Three-Fingered Jack" White and he was sentenced to fourteen years in the penitentiary.

Scores America For Neglecting Its Nationals

By MICHAEL WILSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, April 24.—"The United States government is the only government that refuses to appropriate funds for the repatriation of destitute nationals," according to Major W. V. Cotchett, president of the American Aid society in Paris.

Severely criticizing this policy, Major Cotchett told International News Service that he had been fruitlessly corresponding with high officials of the state department for a number of years in a futile endeavor to obtain official funds.

"America, the richest country in the world, spends hundreds of millions of dollars annually for the relief of other nationals. Yet the state department maintains that 'it cannot afford' the few hundreds of thousands of dollars necessary for the repatriation and relief of her own countrymen.

"The Aid society here is entirely supported by voluntary contributions which, however, are never sufficient. Needless to say, if visiting Americans would only contribute to the society as freely as they do to foreign hospitals and relief organizations there would be no need for us to request the state department for financial aid."

Major Cotchett revealed that out of 488 Americans requesting transportation home in 1930, the organization was only able to take care of 150. Already this year 38 have been repatriated and 100 have received cash relief out of 259 cases.

Foreseeing more cases this year than ever owing to the present economic crisis, Major Cotchett stated that at present the greater part of those appealing for aid were students and artists who had previously received an allowance from home which was now stopped. Many Americans, unable to find work at home, who came to Europe looking for employment but once over here were unable to obtain workers' permits from the French government, are also demanding relief.

"I strongly advise unemployed not to come looking for work in France as they will be but jumping out of the frying pan into the fire," he concluded.

Another way of expressing it is—do unto gossipers as you would if you were the subject and they didn't know you.—The Forth Worth Star-Telegram.

Old Civilization Object Of Hunt

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 24.—An expedition to operate in the north Persia in the attempt to uncover traces of a civilization that flourished and died centuries before ancient Greece, has been financed by the William Rockhill Nelson trust of Kansas City.

The Nelson trust will work with the University of Pennsylvania. The work will center at Astrabad, near the southern shores of the Caspian sea. It is there that scientists believe the Sumerian culture, one of the earliest known, flourished more than 3,000 years before Christ.

The excavating is under the direction of Dr. F. R. Wulsin, a University of Pennsylvania archaeologist. With added funds supplied by the Nelson estate, Dr. Wulsin hopes to dig into ancient Scythian burial grounds in order to learn the physical characteristics and study their civilization.

Under Persian law, the Nelson estate will be entitled to half the relics found. The other half will go to the Persian government.

Breast Fed Infant Has Best Chance

Clendening Gives Formulas For Artificial Feeding

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

One of the most remarkable changes in practical medicine has come in the attitude of pediatricians towards special artificially prepared infant food. It used to be thought that the only proper food for infants, when breast milk could not be obtained, was modified cow's milk. The modification of cow's milk in those days was an elaborate and intricate process. I remember the first cold winds of doubt which blew across my mind about the infallibility of my teachers when I found that some of the babies which I had been vainly trying to set right on modified milk mixtures began to thrive when the parents put them on advertised commercial foods against my advice.

The change of mind that the children's specialists have undergone is partly due to the increase in scientific efficiency applied to the manufacture of infants foods. Of course everyone still agrees that mother's milk is the best food of all for the baby. If that fails breast milk from a healthy wet nurse is best. But the profession of wet nursing is not thriving as it once was, and wet nurses are usually hard to find. Fresh cow's milk in the old milk, sugar, water mixture is next best if the baby thrives on it.

The main difficulty with cow's milk is that the protein is in a different form from that in mother's milk. In cow's milk the protein is in the form of casein, which tends to form larger curds than the lacto-albumin of mother's milk. These curds present mechanical difficulties to smooth digestion and often pass through the intestines unchanged. The large casein curds are entirely different from the small flacculent curds formed from mother's milk in the baby's stomach.

The process of evaporating milk, now extensively practiced in commercial form, changes the protein and the fat of cow's milk so as to make it more digestible. The milk is heated in a partial vacuum until reduced to about half its original volume. The fat is emulsified into smaller globules so that it does not rise to the surface as cream. The protein is changed in some way so that the curds formed in the process of digestion are smaller than in the natural state of cow's milk.

No sugar is added to evaporated milk in the manufacturing process. After evaporation it is sealed in cans and sterilized at a temperature of 240 degrees.

To prepare it for feeding equal parts of water are added to the required amount of the evaporated milk. Sugar, or dextrin-maltose, or milk sugar are added as in the preparation of the regular fresh milk, sugar and water mixture. Thus eight ounces of sterile water, plus one ounce of sugar and enough water to bring the total to 30 ounces, makes a mixture suitable for six bottles of five ounces each, suitable for a month-old baby. Vitamin C has to be added to the diet in the form of orange juice and vitamin in the form of cod liver oil.

"All things considered," says an authority, "evaporated milk is the most suitable form of milk available at present for the feeding of most infants. Unsweetened evaporated milk should not be confused with condensed milk."

Electric "Finger" Latest Invention

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, April 24.—An electric "finger," designed to detect the exact thickness of various articles, has been perfected at a research laboratory here.

The instrument tells, with uncanny precision, thickness of silk hosiery, paper, documents, clothing leather and other materials. It can detect or spurious certificates or checks by thickness of the paper used in them.

LOOKING BACK

IN NEW CASTLE

Who can name off hand some of the principal municipal office holders of thirty-five years ago? Very few individuals now living in New Castle.

One good reason is that most of the office holders of that time have passed on and so have most of the people residing here at that time.

Some of the names mentioned will no doubt be familiar to quite a number of people, although, no doubt, they have long since forgotten the connection of these officials with the city.

Some of the more important officials at that time were as follows:—Mayor—Samuel W. Smith: City Engineer—R. H. McConaghy: Assistant City Engineer—M. E. Miller: City Treasurer—John Blevins: City Solicitor—A. W. Gardner: City Clerk—Frank Tidball: Controller—J. W. Reis: Health Officer—S. R. Kelly: Street Commissioner—Jacob Fleming: Mercantile Appraiser—James Verner: Chief of Police—Joseph Robinson: Fire Chief—Jas. H. Brown: Poor Director—David Dickey.

Intoxicated Man Kisses Sergeant, Given $10 Fine

(International News Service)

FAIRMONT, W. Va., April, 24.—Osculation is no proper salutation for a Fairmont police sergeant.

Harvey Bridgeum, of Pittsburgh, learned that to his cost (the cost being $10) when he was arrested here on a charge of intoxication.

Brought into the station, Bridgeum saluted Desk Sergeant C. H. Bartlett with a kiss.

The sergeant slapped on the $10 fine.

Jailed Prosecutor Liked By Convicts

(International News Service)

SAN QUENTIN PRISON, Calif., April, 24.—A prosecuting attorney, who at the height of his career was hated and feared by the criminals with whom he dealt, is now one of the most popular convicts in the state penitentiary here.

He is Asa Keyes, former district attorney of Los Angeles, serving a sentence for bribery conspiracy.

When he entered the prison a year ago, he was well guarded, was refused work among the prisoners, and was given a protected berth. It was feared that some of the prisoners who had been prosecuted and convicted by Keyes might attempt to harm the man.

But in the year that Keyes remained in the prison he became well liked by his fellow convicts, and says that he has learned much about men and criminals while there.

"One year of prison has done much for me," he says. "Every official who deals with crime should have a stretch in prison. With a prisoner past 50, one year in here is equal to from five to ten for a younger man."

Keyes is planning to ask the prison board for parole.

Halts Traffic By Stunts In Air

(International News Service)

DRESDEN, Germany, April 24—Thea Rasche, famous German woman flier, was hailed into court here on the charge of having obstructed traffic on the ground while flying through the air.

Thea gave such a thrilling stunt performance with her red plane before a crowd which had just finished viewing a football game that the crowd, in the words of the complaining police, "refused to move on."

But Thea was unbashed.

"If everybody looks up in the air to watch me that is a compliment for me," she told the judge. "And that was the purpose of the stunts."

And then she flung this defiance at the court:

"If I am found guilty I am going to go to jail. I won't pay a fine."

The puzzled judge adjourned trial in orded to call additional witnesses.

B. R. & P. Officials Meet Here This Week

YOU NEVER KNEW BRAN COULD BE SO DELICIOUS

KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN is a delightful surprise. It is as good to eat as it is good for you.

This appetizing ready-to-eat cereal protects and relieves you from constipation—and from the headaches, the dizziness, the lack of "pep" that go with it.

Start the whole family on this health-habit tomorrow. Two tablespoonfuls of ALL-BRAN, eaten daily, will prevent and relieve both temporary and recurring constipation. In severe cases, eat ALL-BRAN with each meal.

Delicious with milk or cream, fruits or honey added. ALL-BRAN also furnishes iron, which brings color to cheeks and lips. At all grocers in the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Believe Ruins To Be Oldest In Southwest

Attention Of Scientific World Is Centered On Tucson, Arizona

By LUCILLE J. NORVELL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

TUSCON, Ariz., April 24.—Attention of the scientific world has been focused on Tuscon following substantiation by Dean Byron Cummings of the University of Arizona of the fact that a prehistoric village inhabited by Indians 2500 years ago had been discovered near historic San Xavier mission site here.

Extensive ruins believed to be among the oldest in the southwest, were located by archaeologists aided by Indians. Fred Horn of Catskill N. Y., discovered the ruins and called Dr. Cummings' attention to them.

Three mounds of an extensive group subsequently were uncovered near Martinez hill.

"It is evident," Dr. Cummings said, "that this group of villages is an extension of the tribal dwellings established along the Gila river and its tributaries."

Individual dwellings, he said, were massive structures of adobe, with walls varying in thickness from two to five feet. Two of the newly found mounds had more than one story, it was indicated by trickness of lower walls, Dr. Cummings said.

Scores of sculls were found in the ruins. Dr. Cummings said they belonged to a simple tribe of Indians who lived and vanished centuries ago. They were fortifications to protect the villages from enemy attacks.

Much decorated pottery was found and taken to the state museum for analysis and classification. The motif, Dr. Cummings said, was "red on buff," a type characteristic of the region in centuries long past. A few urns and a number of complete ollas have been removed from the ruins.

Local Woman Is Hit By Auto On Youngstown Road

Mrs. Mary John Of Scioto Street In Jameson Hospital; Hit By John Higgins' Car

Mrs. Mary John, of 1129 Scioto street, is being treated in the Jameson Memorial hospital today for a severe cut on her head and lacerations of the knee, as a result of having been hit by an automobile driven by John Higgins of this city, Thursday afternoon. Her injuries are not serious, according to report from the hospital this morning.

Mrs. John was hit by the Higgins machine when she crossed the Youngstown road near the telephone repeater station several miles from New Castle. It is reported that she became confused when crossing the road, suddenly seeing the oncoming car.

Mr. Higgins stopped and took Mrs. John to the Jameson hospital, where it was found that her injuries were minor.

Hickory P. T. A. Closes Year With Gala Event Thursday

Thursday evening marked the close of a successful year for the Hickory Heights Parent-Teacher Association when the members gathered in the Rhodes Mission, with every seat available filled and many standing about the room.

On behalf of the parents, Mrs. H. F. Robinson, the president, thanked the teachers for their splendid cooperation throughout the past year. She also appointed an executive committee, composed of Norman Patton, Mrs. Loy Patton, Mrs. Olan Hartman, Mrs. W. V. Wagner and Fred Fisher, who will function during the next term.

Closing the business session the meeting was turned over to the program chairman, Mrs. W. V. Wagner, who presented an unusually entertaining program.

Misses Ethel and Louise Munnell gave some piano and violin numbers and David and Howard Kimmel pleased with songs to ukulele accompaniment after which a minstrel show was put on with Clarence Kimmel and Jack La Rue as the end men and A. W. Mercer as the interlocutor. The cast consisted of Mrs. Fred Fisher, Mrs. J. W. Allen, Mrs. Olan Hartman, Mrs. Loy Patton, Mrs. Harry Grant, Mrs. Jack LaRue, Mrs. Andrew Lee, and Loy Patton.

The refreshment committee had charge of the closing ceremony, which was the serving of a light lunch with Mrs. Enez Withers, Mrs. Ben McFarland and Mrs. Harper in charge.

Dibble Meetings Nearing Close

Final Services Of Campaign Will Take Place On Sunday

Tonight will be the final week night meeting at the Epworth M. E. church. The Jubilee Singers and Mr. Dibble will be in charge of the music. Mrs. Dibble will bring the message upon the topic "The Compassionate Christ."

Saturday night the Jubilee Singers will present a plantation melody program in original costume at the First Baptist church. Everyone is invited. The program begins at 7:30. No admission charge but an offering will be received Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Mrs. Dibble will preach her famous sermon on the "Home". Mr. Dibble requests that folks come by families and he has promised to give a Bible to the largest family present, regardless of race, church affiliation or nationality. A musical program will be presented by the Jubilee Singers at the beginning of the meeting. Everyone invited.

Two great services in Epworth M. E. church Sunday morning and Sunday night. Sunday night will be the closing service of the campaign, Mrs. Dibble bringing the message, "Eternity or is There a Hell."

Legion Of Honor Will Entertain Families In May

Committees Are Announced For Family Night On May 8 By Commander Chapman

Arrangements were completed at the meeting of the Legion of Honor of the New Castle Consistory on Wednesday evening for the observance of family night on Friday, May 8, when the wives and children of the members will be guests at a pancake supper and entertainment.

A big evening is in store for the families of the members, according to present arrangements, a program of diversified entertainment being planned which will be of interest to both the adults and children.

The committee who will have charge are as follows:

General chairman, James A. Hewitt.

Bingo, Hurmphrey Richards.

Dance, Earl Moffatt and Ivor V. Davis.

Stage, Ross Aubel and Lewis Conn.

Music, Raymond Clark and Frank S. Nessle.

Peanut hunt, Leon Drumm and Howard Geary.

Door prize, R. Loy Boyd and Chris Walker.

Bingo prizes, Chester Sweesy and W. J. Chapman.

Registration, Charles E. Allen and Ed. Marshall.

Reception, membership of organization in New Castle.

The program of the evening will be provided free of all charge to the guests and many of the members and their families from out of town are expected to attend.

The cat is thought to be the oldest pet of man.

Find Average Cost Of Producing Potatoes

It cost 55 farmers in 15 Keystone counties an average of 92 cents a bushel to produce potatoes last year, records summarized by farm management extension specialists of the Pennsylvania State College show.

Order Forest Seedlings—Now is the time to order forest tree seedlings for 1932 plantings. Early orders get the best selection. Choose black locust for fence posts, Norway spruce for pulp wood, larch for telephone and electric light poles, Scotch pine for mine timbers, red, white, and pitch pine for lumber. Consult your county agent.

Feed Cows on Pasture — Grain feeding is necessary when cows are on pasture if milk yield is large. Cows giving more than 20 pounds of milk daily should have grain even if grass is abundant. A common rule is one pound of grain to each six pounds of milk given by the cow. Protein content of the grain mixture need not be above 15 percent.

Apply Potato Sprays — Spraying of potato vines is absolutely essential if successful culture is to be realized. Bordeaux mixture is the greatest of all sprays for potato disease in the field.

Mow Lawns Often—The best way to use a lawn mower is often. Clipping the grass at short intervals improves the looks of the yard as nothing else can.

Corn Borer Aids Plowing—Fighting the corn borer has helped farmers to do a better job of soil preparation. Plowing under all trash is a fundamental control measure.

Raise Turkeys Successfully—Turkey eggs can be hatched in incubators and the poults can be raised successively with brooder stoves. Growing and mature birds can be yarded and kept away from contaminated soil.

Human Kindness Rewarded By Blow

(International News Service)

DENVER, Col., April 24.—The milk of human kindness soured suddenly for Ira Wilson, 19.

Driving along a Denver street late at night, Wilson narrowly missed hitting a pedestrian. He stopped his car and asked if he could aid the man he had so narrowly missed.

The man stepped up to Wilson, pulled out a blackjack and struck the Good Samaritan over the head.

When Wilson came to the next morning he found his watch, $38 in cash and $5 worth of groceries missing.

Church Plays Are Concluded

Final Set Of Plays In Religious Drama Tournament Last Night

SERIES MAY BE CONTINUED HERE

A splendid audience witnessed the presentation of the last three one-act religious dramas presented in a tournament by the various churches of the city in the High School tournament Thursday evening.

These plays have been under the direction of Wilbur Flannery, pastor of the Wesley Methodist church and were presented with the idea of raising the ideals of the citizens of the city to plays of this nature and it is hoped that a continuance of the tournament will be carried out next year, as the project is one that is worth while, bringing a higher form of entertainment which enriches the understanding of spiritual forces which struggle in men's souls.

Tableaux Presented

The Temple Israel congregation presented the first of the Thursday evening plays, "Prayer in Picture," which was directed by Mrs. Norman Ehrlich. The play was in the form of tableaux with Miss Rosalind Ehrlich as the Angel of the Lord, making the prayer for the different groups; gowned in a long white robe and against a black back-ground which represented the cover of the "Hebrew Union Prayer Book" Miss Ehrlich made a beautiful picture and her voice rang out strong and clear as she intoned the various prayers for the groups as they represented the various prayer pictures.

The curtains were drawn aside showing the setting at each change by little Caroline Cosel and the first picture presented Mrs. Ted Marlin as "Modesty," turning her back on the frivolous "Vanity," as portrayed by Mrs. Adolph Goldman; then came the picture of two old Hebrew men, poring over their prayer book; these were Mrs. William Goldblatt and Mrs. Harry Cukerbaum; the next picture was one of impressiveness as the beautiful Jewish mother was seen with her two children, at prayer; this picture was presented by Mrs. B. Kline, Bobby Goldman and Natalie Ehrlich; the next scene was the blind, the beggar and the cripple, portrayed by Mrs. A. Gonick, Mrs. J. F. Perelman and Mrs. William Blau; the next scene presented the "Spirit of Peace" hovering over the farmer, these parts being taken by Mrs. Jack Gerson and Mrs. M. Schornberger; Moses and Miriam were next presented by Mrs. N. Love and Mrs. Jack Conn and their part of the program closed with a patriotic scene: "The Spirit of World Court" and the nations of Japan, France, England and Italy; splendidly portrayed by Mrs. Joseph Ehrlich; Estelle Cukerbaum, Bobby Goldman, Natalie Ehrlich and Reva Love.

Central Church Play

Members of the Central Presbyterian congregation presented "The Golden Rule in Courtship" under the direction of Miss Joyce Wingerd and the beautiful story of "Do Unto Others As You Would Have Others Do Unto You" was portrayed by Geraldine Fry in the role of Charity Clark, a maiden lady; Gladys McNeese in the part of Margaret, her niece and John Thompson in the role of Jim Wilson, Margaret's fiance. The parts were well taken by the characters and the message was put over in a splendid manner.

Closing Play

The play that closed the tournament for this year was "The Valiant", the same play that was awarded the grand prize in the Chicago tournament, after which the local tournament was planned.

This was presented by the members of the First Congregational church, under the direction of Griff Thomas and professional actors could not have presented the marvelous story any better.

The part of "The Valiant," a stoic, unbending character, was portrayed by Griff Thomas and he walked to his death on the gallows as a murderer with head up and shoulders straight. The message brought by this play is one that will not soon be forgotten by those who witnessed the performance.

The role of Warden Holt of the State's prison at Wethersfield, Conn., was taken by W. P. Williams; Rev. Rees T. Williams, pastor of the First Congregational church was right in line with his own work when he represented Father Daly, the prison chaplain; Louise Davis played the part of Josephine Paris; Grif Thomas was James Dyke, the prisoner; Dan, a jailer and Wilson, an attendant, were James G. Davis and Daniel Hughes, Jr.

Project May Continue

Wilbur Flannery announced that it might be possible this project would be further carried out in another series of one-act plays again next year, and he thanked all those who had had anything to do with the success of the initiatory program.

Kansas May Enforce Its Old Blue Laws

TOPEKA, Kan., April 24.—Forces supporting reform and forces advocating modification of Kansas' blue laws today prepared for a legal battle, which may close permanently theaters in the state's larger cities.

According to state statutes, it is against the law for theaters to operate, however, such as Kansas City, Wichita and Hutchinson, the law is not enforced.

A recent movement has been launched by club women and ministerial alliances of the various cities for strict enforcement of the blue laws. The most important fight now is underway at Wichita, where plans have been made for filing of an ouster petition against the Fox West Coast Theaters Company unless it closes its shows in Kansas on Sunday.

Parisien Dandies Now Feminine

(International News Service)

PARIS, April 24.—Dandyism is not dead in Paris, but today the spirit of the famous Beau Brummel lives in a feminine incarnation. The so-called weaker sex now produces the dandies.

They can be seen on any fine day along the Grands Boulevards or the Champs Elysees, women who are not only chic from tip to tie, dressed in the very latest fashions created by some prince among the dressmakers, but expressing their own individualities in some novel manner.

Lately seen at the Ritz bar was a pretty Parisienne peering out of one of the dainty little forehead veils which keep immaculate waves in order. But hers had a little monocle embroidered in just the right spot for one of her lovely eyes.

Says Auto Industry Gains By Designs

(International News Service)

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., April 24.—The automobile industry is the only major business that has been able to increase demand from year to year by making radical changes in its products, according to Prof. G. W. Starr, director of the Bureau of Business Research of Indiana University.

"Each time that the demand for motor cars appeared to be lagging, the industry has responded with new designs and new engineering features which made cars already in use obsolete from the point of view of the majority of their owners," Professor Starr said here.

Hospital Community Institution

The modern community hospital is really a very young community institution. Opinions of hospital administrators and trustees are still at wide variance on the question of whose business it is to support the community hospital. Some there are, of course, who feel that community hospitals should be either owned and operated by the Federal Government or financially backed by federal funds. Such opinions, however, are to be looked upon through the same critical spectacles with which we look on State Medicine and standardized medical practice procedures. Others, less grotesque in point of view, hold that there should be a per-capita state tax to absorb the red-ink in hospital ledgers. Some communities have their hospitals city and county owned and operated—sometimes with political meddling and favoritism. Majority opinion holds that the community hospital is an institution of mercy in which organized public benefactions, large and small, should be educated to orderly annual collection for the carrying out of a definite plan of growth and accomplishment and improvement of hospital care. The problem is not dissimilar to that of the recent contention concerning relief in the drought areas. Should it be a Federal dole or whole-hearted voluntary support from all the people able to contribute.

It is characteristically American that we take pride in our public-spirited contributions to worthy institutions. More and more worthiness is measured by performance rather than sentiment.

Your Jameson Memorial Hospital is performing for the good of the whole community.

Muenster To Exhibit Old Art Treasures

(International News Service)

MUENSTER, Germany, April 24—The old art treasures of the city of Muenster—paintings, plasticworks and gold and silver works—will be publicly exhibited for the first time in the Provincial Museum from May 15 to June 1. Muenster has preserved in a high degree its medieval aspect.

In its ancient Rathaus is the hall in which the Peace of Westphalia was signed in 1648, ending the Thirty Years War. The city possesses one of the finest medical university clinics in Europe. It has also decided to add a public golf course to its other attractions. It will be ready for play in the summer.

Makes Dimes Go Far By Circling Globe

(International News Service)

TIOGA, Colo., April 24.—John D. Rockefeller is the man who made the dime famous, but Oscar Bodenhauser, a Tioga traveling salesman believes he has made dimes go as far as any one.

Bodenhauser recently returned from a trip around the world—paid for entirely with dimes.

For 27 years Bodenhauser saved all the dimes which he got in change. Last summer he found that he had $3,700 saved in this manner so he carried out a long-cherished plan of a trip around the world. He boarded a ship at San Francisco and encircled the globe, paying all expenses out of his "dime fund."

MICHIGAN UNIVERSITY RECEIVED 16 MILLION

ANN ARBOR, Mich., April 24—More than $16,000,000 in gifts and endowments were received by the University of Michigan during 1930, according to Dr. Alexander G. Ruthven, president of the university.

The $15,000,000 bequest of the late William C. Cook of New York City to the college of law is believed to be the largest single gift ever given by an individual donor to an American school.

County Would Receive $310,510 State Fund If Road Bill Passes

Under the terms of House Bill 920, presented by Representative Alex Wheeler of Forest County and which passed the House of Representatives at Harrisburg, this week, Lawrence County would get $310,512.34 for the construction and maintenance of roads during the coming biennium. The bill is now in the Senate where it is expected to receive favorable treatment.

Of this, $310,512.34.. $222,112.63 would be allocated to the construction of roads on the old primary system which has been in vogue for a number of years. The money is divided upon the basis of the number of miles of primary road not yet completed of which there are 14.16 miles in Lawrence County. The total for the state is $18,000,000.

New Rural Routes

For construction of roads on the new rural routes taken over in the governor's 20,000 mile program $6,500,000 is allowed, to be allocated to the counties on the basis of the number of miles taken over under the recent act. Lawrence County has 195 miles of this sort of road and would be given $63,134.17. This should not be confused with maintenance as this money is construction of new roads.

In addition to this, Lawrence County would get its portion of the $2,500,000 for township reward, which would mean $25,265.54. This money would go to the township supervisors to aid in maintaining the dirt roads still maintained by the townships.

Another allocation of money under House Bill 920 is that of $2,000,000 for cities of the second, second class A and third class cities for use on streets over which state highways pass. Under this bill two years ago New Castle got $76,000 and would get a similar amount this time.

SCHOOL BOARD TAKES NO ACTION ON TIME CHANGE

general observance of Daylight Savings time by the industries of the city, regardless of what the rest of the community does about the matter.

The attitude of those who represented the industries was that they were rather disgusted with the bickering that has been going on between various interests who were allied for and against the proposition, and that when no attempt was made to compromise in the matter as had been done in former years, they made up their minds to observe Daylight Savings Time for five months in the year instead of the three summer months of June, July and August, as has been done during the past two years.

D. S. Pyle, manager of the Shenango Works of the American Sheet and Tin Plate Company, acting as spokesman for the industries of the city, stated that the industries planned to observe Daylight Savings Time, regardless of what the attitude of other interests might be.

Majority Favor Change

He stated that the industrial leaders had found that a majority of their employes were in favor of observing Daylight Savings Time and in view of the fact that their working hours were governed to a great extent by the main offices of their company in Pittsburgh, along with other industries, it was their determination to observe Daylight Savings Time.

Attorney J. Elder Bryan, stated that he was opposed to Daylight Saving Time because it worked a hardship on the children. He stated that he had found from past experience that it was difficult to get the children to bed in time in the evenings and they did not get the proper amount of sleep that they required.

He said that two years ago, when the matter was brought up and it was decided to compromise in the matter by observing the change in time during the three summer months, that he felt it would only be a question of time until they would want to observe it for five months, and that seemed what was going to happen.

Rev. D. C. Schnebly, representing the Ministerial Association, stated that the Association was against the change in time as it has proven harmful to attendance at church services. He stated that the fact that the people had more time to themselves in the evenings practically destroyed all interest in the evening church service. Because of these things, he stated that the Ministerial Association felt it was not a good thing and were opposed to it. He stated that this action, which was unanimous, was taken at a recent meeting.

He further stated that a great many of the church goers lost sleep during the week because of the change in time and apparently tried to make it up on Sunday mornings.

Says Matter Offensive

"The whole matter is offensive to a lot of people and causes dissatisfaction and unrest. If a few people attempt to legislate for the majority, it is a dangerous thing and foments the spirit of Bolshevism. I think it is a serious matter, and I have never seen any advantage or reason for it," he said in conclusion.

Louis Sandler, manager of the Johnson Bronze Company stated that there are two sides to every question. Some of the residents of the community seem to see only one side of it.

"Any community that closes itself in" he said, "does so at their own risk. People who don't go outside of their own county do not know hardship it imposes on others not to have the same time observed." He cited the salesman and others coming in from another district which observes Daylight Saving Time and of the hardships it imposes on him to atempt to do business.

"The people of the community are not against daylight savings time," he stated further. "We find that our men like daylight savings time. The office force likes it and the men in the plant like it. We have to take things as they come.

Should Act in Unison.

"One of the gentlemen on the school board has asked the question, 'Why did you come to us on the matter?'. We have to act in unison on this. You can remember the discord we had before, when the city observed daylight savings time and the schools did not. There were meal hours and rising hours which were in conflict and the housewives had to get meals at all times of the day. It seems strange that we cannot get together and agree.

"The industries have definitely decided to establish daylight savings time."

William H. Aubel stated that he felt the citizens of New Castle were progressive, and would go along with anything that affects each and every citizen. "The fact that this matter has been brought before the school board shows the inconsistency of the thing," he said. "I have said it is illegal and others have said it is not. I have always been in favor of the majority ruling. This matter has been brought before us by a minority."

Gives Ultimatum.

D. S. Pyle again rose to his feet and stated that there are 7,000 employes in his industry, and that if you multiply that by four or five you would have over half the population of New Castle, all of whom he felt were in favor of daylight saving time.

"We are going to have daylight saving time. This is the message that I want to leave with you. We have definitely decided upon this," he said.

Another representative of the industrial interests of the city stated that he could produce a petition signed by some 1,500 people, none of whom were connected with any industry, showing that the signers wanted daylight saving time.

Rev. D. C. Schnebly, president of the Ministerial association, stated that he would like to leave a further thought in the matter. He said that the wife of one of the men who works in the hot mills had told him that her husband did not like daylight saving time. She had told him, he said, that the hot mill men suffer from a loss of sleep and the work being very strenuous, it was hard on every man who worked in the mills. A great many of the hot mill men do not like it, he said he had been told. He said he did not think any appreciable per cent of those engaged in hard manual labor favored it.

Howard C. Richards, superintendent of the New Castle Water company, stated that a few years ago there might have been strenuous objection but did not feel that this is the case at the present time.

Richards Speaks.

"I have had contact with a great number of men, both along the line of sports and as an employer of labor. A few years ago you might have had strenuous objection against daylight saving time, but if you people could go out to the municipal course and see them out there early in the morning and late in the evening you might change your mind. While daylight saving time is not in effect, employes of the stores and industries will go out there early in the morning and then hustle in to their work. If you could see these people out there trying to catch a few hours of pleasure at any time that they can, you would change your mind about it.

"A few years ago I would walk out among my employes and all I could hear them talking about were baseball pools, betting on horse races and a discussion of what was wrong with everything. Anyone who was against anything in particular would have no difficulty in obtaining an audience if he began to run something down. Now throughout these places all you hear them talk about is golf.

"There is a bigger side to this thing than any selfish interest of the industries. There are two things in life that are most important. You have heard the quotation, 'By the sweat of your brow.' To be happy, you must work, and when you work you must not play. The other is to play and when you play you should not work."

James M. Smith, Sr., president of the Shenango Pottery company, stated that four years ago they had taken a vote on Daylight Saving Time among the pottery employes. Slips were given out to each employe and a secret ballot was taken. Sixty-five per cent of the employes voted in favor of Daylight Saving Time. I don't know anyone in our plant who is much opposed to it now.

Bryan Asks Questions

Attorney Bryan said he would like to ask to questions. One was, "Why does Youngstown not have Daylight Saving Time?" and the other was, "Why don't the industries take the same attitude as the business men, who opposed the thing at a recent meeting?"

D. S. Pyle stated that he could answer the first question. He said that the industries of New Castle are governed by the time of their main offices in Pittsburgh, while the Youngstown industrial plants were not affected in this manner.

Mr. Bryan stated that if it was so material, he couldn't see why the matter was not placed before the people of the city so they could vote on it.

P. J. Flaherty arose and quoted a news dispatch coming out of Harrisburg, in which it showed that 88 per cent of the Chambers of Commerce of the state were in in favor of Daylight Saving Time; that 60 municipalities would enjoy Daylight Saving Time during the coming summer season, and that 40 per cent of the people of the state would be governed by Daylight Saving Time.

"The men in our plant want it and that is why I want it. If we are going to have progress and advance we must co-operate with the industries. If we don't it will soon get around on the outside that the people of New Castle do not co-operate with their industries. If you want to bring any new industries to the city you will have a hard time doing so."

In conclusion, Mr. Pyle stated again that the industrial representatives wanted to leave the thought with the meeting that the industries are going to observe Daylight Saving Time regardless of what the other people in the city did.

Farmers Represented.

A. H. Fullerton, representing the grange interests of the county, asked if he could be permitted to talk. He stated that he hesitated to say anything as he felt the meeting was one between the citizens of New Castle and their school board and he was not a resident of the city. "After coming here and hearing what the industries have to say about the matter, however, I feel that it is a meeting of the industries rather than the citizens," he said jokingly.

"I represent the interests of the farmers of whom there are approximately 12,000 in the county. At the recent meeting we had with the Better Business Bureau, I thought the matter had been definitely settled. The farmers observed Daylight Saving Time during the war and did so as a patriotic measure. We did everything we could do to win the war. But conditions are different now. I do not know one farmer who is in favor of it.

"The fall of all nations can be traced to the point where they forgot agriculture. Are we not so prosperous today that all we are thinking of is the spending of our money rather than the good we can do for mankind?

"We want to build up our community so that the city cannot get along without the country and the country cannot get along without the city."

"Is it not true," asked President Woolcock of the school board, "that you told Mr. Pyle you would boycott the city if they adopted Daylight Saving Time?"

"No, sir," Mr. Fullerton replied. "Some of our members wanted to do this thing, but we discouraged them from it."

Movie Owners Opposed.

Speer Marousis, representing the motion picture interests of the city stated that the moving picture theater owners found that Daylight Saving Time was the ruination of their business.

"The people take their cars and go somewhere else to be entertained. They take their cars and go to Youngstown. There they find their stores open. The stores here are empty but you go to Youngstown and you will find them busy. That is because of Daylight Saving Time. I believe we should give the citizens of the city an opportunity to vote on the matter and settle it.

The question of the attitude of the bankers and business houses was brought up and Clyde Shoaf stated that he had heard Mr. McGill and Mr. Hartman of the Lawrence Savings and Trust Company say that they were opposed to the matter. He said he understood that Mr. Foltz of the First National Bank had made the remark that their bank would operate on the regular time.

J. H. McIlvenny, a member of the board stated that the ones most vitally affected by the change in time would be the children and they ought to be heard in the matter. He said there was no question but that Daylight Saving Time would work a hardship on them. The children in the lower end of the city would have to get up at six o'clock in the morning to come to school if Daylight Saving Time is adopted, he stated.

Attorney R. W. Hazen, member of the board, was opposed to the board taking any action in the matter.

"It doesn't look to me as if the school board ought to be put in the position of making the decision on Daylight Saving Time. We should adapt ourselves to conditions as they come up. No action has been taken by council in the matter. The bankers haven't taken any action as a body. I don't know whether the Chamber of Commerce has taken any action, but I don't think they have. I don't think we should be put in the position of making a decision in the matter. I don't think the buck ought to be passed to us."

Attorney Bryan said it looked to him as if council had passed the buck on to the school board and the school board ought to pass the buck right back where it started from.

Walter Duff, another member of the board, said he felt that the tenor of Mr. Hazen's remarks indicated that the attitude of the members of the board should be for them to follow in whatever action the majority takes.

This concluded the speaking for and against the proposition and President Woolcock thanked those who had come before the board and expressed their opinions and suggested that the meeting be closed so that the board could proceed with their regular order of business.

When the matter came before them for discussion after the delegation had left, members of the board expressed themselves as being opposed to taking any initiative in the matter, and a motion was finally put by Mr. Hazen, to the effect that "the matter of consideration of Daylight Saving Time presented to the board by the citizens of New Castle be tabled, to be considered at such time as in the judgement of the board, the working hours observed in the city of New Castle warrants further consideration."

In other words, the school board would follow in whatever action the majority of the citizens of the city wished to take in the matter, but that the school board would not take the initiative. If Daylight Savings Time is generally observed, then the school board will be governed accordingly and will change the school hours to conform with the time observed by the citizenry as a whole.

West Philadelphia Is Rocked By Bomb

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, April 24.—Several persons were stunned and windows in nearby buildings were shattered when a bomb, hurled from a speeding automobile, rocked West Philadelphia today.

The bomb struck in front of a bakery owned by Angelo Landolfi, exploding within a few feet of three bakers. Police ascribed the blast to an attempt by New York racketeers to "muscle in" on local tradesmen.

Local Firm Makes Low Plumbing Bid

Competing with 20 other firms, William M. Clark & Co., Inc., of South Beaver street, succeeded in making the lowest bid for plumbing work on the new Pennsylvania National Guard armory building at Monessen, Pa. Their bid was $3,600.

The price asked assures the local firm of obtaining the state contract it is reported.

Fokker Chides Byrd On Flight Made By "Lindy"

Admiral Byrd Was Testing Plane For Ocean Hop When "Lindy" Beat Him To It

FOKKER COMPANY REFUSED LINDBERGH

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, April 24.—Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd is chided rather sharply by Anthony H. G. Fokker, Dutch airplane builder, in the latter's life story, "Flying Dutchman," published here in the book Fokker takes Byrd to task for the "interminable series of test flights" that preceded his tran-Atlantic venture in 1927.

While Byrd was testing his trimotored Fokker at Roosevelt Field preparatory to a New York-to-Paris fligh, a then comparatively unknown youth, Charles A. Lindbergh, took off—and, as every one knows, thrilled the world by accomplishing the feat.

"I could never understand why Byrd did not take off before Lindbergh," writes Fokker. "He could easily have done so."

Abrupt Decision

"Suddenly, with the abrupt but carefully considered decision to which the world was to become familiar, Lindbergh took off May 20 for Paris while Byrd was sending out invitations to members of the French colony for an elaborate dedication, May 21," writes Fokker. "It was a joke on us, for my sales manager afterwards told me he had turned Lindbergh down when he wanted to buy a Fokker plane for the flight."

The day after Lindbergh hopped, the christening ceremonies of Bryd's plane, the America, were "involuntarily turned into a celebration of Lindbergh's arrival in Paris."

"Byrd joined in, like a good sport, though it must have irked him to see the 'unscientific' Lindbergh nose him out with as perfect a flight as the world has ever seen," writes Fokker caustically.

Woman Attorney Best "Speller"

(International News Service)

CARLISLE, Pa., April, 24.—It took words like "mellifluous" and "ipecacuanha" to determine the champion speller of Cumberland county, in a contest held here.

And when the "spelldown" was over, Miss Ida Kast, Mechanicsburg, an attorney, was named champion

More than 40 persons, adults and children, started in the contest. An oral test was given first and all but ten were eliminated. Then the ten took a written test and Miss Kast, with a perfect score, romped off with the title.

That "ipecacuanha" proved pretty tough for everyone.

Lebanon Grows By Annexation

(International News Service)

LEBANON, Pa., April 24.—Population figures for Lebanon gathered in the 1930 census are already outdated.

Under an ordinance of annexation approved by Mayor William L. Brunner, the city's population was boosted by inclusion with the corporate limits of North Cornwall township, with a population of 500.

DANIEL LEASURE CAMP MEETS ON SATURDAY NIGHT

Members of Daniel Leasure Camp No. 24, United Spanish War Veterans, their wives and families will enjoy a supper Saturday evening in the Legion Home after which the regular meeting of the camp will be held. Matters of importance will be considered at this meeting.

A delegation of the Northwestern Pennsylvania Council of the United War Veterans were in the city over the last week end and matters of importance were considered.

To Crown Beauty This Summer

Moulders of fashion are again busy creating the perfect headgear for milady for Summer wear. At the left is the large-brimmed hat that has returned to popular favor. This model carries out in beige and brown straw an interesting hat with grosgrain ribbons used as underbrim edgings and bow trimmings. (Right) Grecian in mode, this combination of white silk braid with a wreath of green laurel leaves and a fine mesh veil adds an alluring feminine touch.

CURIOUS JOB

Every year about this time Tom Hogan, custodian of the police property rooms at headquarters cleans house.

Tom's storeroom contains everything from pearl necklaces, poisoned candy and Persian rugs, to burglars' jimmies and murder trunks. Although 2,500 guns from this store were dumped into the river last week there are still in stock 4,500 which have to be held as evidence in unsolved crimes, or crimes in which the accused has not yet been tried.

The total value of Tom Hogan's strange assortment is estimated variously from $8,000,000 to $10,000,000.

TREASURE GALORE

In the large vault are thousands of envelopes, some of them yellowed with age. There's something like $50,000 cash on hand now—money found on dead bodies and unclaimed money recovered from robbers or found at the scene of crimes. It's filed away in envelopes—treasury notes, pennies and all. Some of it has been there as long as 20 years.

In the safe are kept also stocks, bonds and cash recovered from ambitious but unscrupulous bank cashiers; misappropriated jewels and anything of particular value which may be found in the streets.

There's a pearl necklace there valued at $100,000. It was taken from an alleged "fence", and although there have been several claimants, it hasn't been relinquished yet.

* * *

AND THE 10 PER CENT?

There's an envelope containing $12,750 in bills and it is being retained until the various owners, once prisoners, can persuade the courts to make the police hand it over.

There is a one dollar watch, taken from a negro prisoner who jumped bail 15 years ago. It is still waiting for him. Next to it is an envelope containing a small wrapped piece of poison candy which figured in a murder ten years ago.

Diamonds, pearls and other precious stones; medals, rosaries, buttons for excellent church attendance, all find their way into the police property clerk's yellow envelopes. All but about 10 per cent eventually finds its way back to the rightful owners.

BOUNTIFUL BEAUTY

The other day Flo Ziegfeld, blue shirt and all, went over to his theatre for the first chorus tryout of the new edition of "The Follies".

Later, when the sweet girl candidates, their mothers, grandmothers and nursemaids had departed, Flo took a sip of ice water and in a rich baritone voice said to newspaper men:

"The standard of beautiful womanhood is growing daily in these United States of America. Never before in my experience have I seen such a superb collection of beauty assembled for a first-day try-out. I feel certain that I shall be able to gather a group of glorified girls that will out-rival every record I have made in the past."

That's "some order," but the Great Glorifier is not in the habit of murmuring through his chapeau—so it looks like there's great times ahead.

SHAVIAN HA-HA

Earle Balch recently visited George Bernard Shaw in order to arrange for the publication, by Putnam's, of the forthcoming Shaw-Ellen Terry letters. They were talking of the Irishman whom all writers love to discuss—George Moore.

Mr. Balch wondered, swallowed, tended some years ago when he was less experienced in the publishing business and more timid than he is today. The tea was at the home of a famous critic and Mr. Balch felt considerably thrilled and a little nervous when he thought of the splendor and brilliance that surrounded him. He stood silently in a corner.

In the court of the afternoon George Moore found himself beside Mr. Balch—a modest man whom George Moore had never met. Moore's pale face scowled mightily as he turned to Mr. Balch and said:

"Just what do you think of modern French poetry?"

Mr. Balch wondered, swallowed, collected his thoughts and said:

"Why, I try not to think of modern French poetry."

At which point in Mr. Balch's narration of the episode, Shaw laughed most immoderately, looked delighted and said: "Go on, go on, tell me. What did Moore do?"

"Why, he seemed very angry, and dashed across the room."

"Ha! You should have followed him," said Shaw, "and you should have slapped his back and should have said:

" 'I had you that time, eh Moore?' "

Start Day Right With Exercises Says McGovern

Early Rising Should Be Practiced Despite Late Hours

By ARTHUR McGOVERN
(Written Exclusively For and Copyright By International News Service, 1931.)

NEW YORK, April 24.—The way we start the day has much to do with the manner in which we spend the remainder of our time.

Irrespective of late hours the night before, we should arise every morning at a definite time and not indulge in the luxury of stolen minutes to make up for lost sleep.

If we can possibly do so—and it would be wise to sacrifice fifteen minutes of sleep—we should exercise regularly every morning to tone up the circulation which has become sluggish after the relaxation of sleep. This morning exercise need not be strenuous. A few simple movements will suffice to keep the body in good condition.

The morning bath should not be too hot for in some cases this is weakening. Take a warm tub, followed by a temperate shower, or if you like a warm spray then follow it by one as cold as you can comfortably stand. For your rub down use a heavy turkish towel and rub the body vigorously. Never linger in the bath tub—get in, wash well, and get out!

Drink one or two glasses of water before breakfast. This need not be hot or cold—the ordinary faucet water will do. Breakfast, and in fact all your meals, should be eaten leisurely and thoroughly masticated. Gobbling your food with your hat in your hand before rushing for train or car will do more harm to your digestive organs than the few extra moments sleep, which make it necessary, can ever benefit the general system.

And now a word as to breakfast—it should, for healthful reasons, be a substantial meal. After a night's sleep the stomach and intestinal tract is completely empty and we cannot expect to do our best work or retain good health if we substitute a cup of coffee for a satisfying and nourishing breakfast. The average person crowds three meals into ten hours during the day and it is hardly fair to our digestive tract to crowd so much work upon it during the day and expect it to work for us without a good start in the morning.

Scholarships For Ministry Students Have Been Assured

(International News Service)

LEWISBURG, Pa., April 24.—Sixty thousand dollars of the endowment fund of Mt. Pleasant Institute, a Baptist preparatory school in Western Pennsylvania, will be given to Bucknell university here for Christian education, Bucknell officials announced.

The action was taken by vote of trustees of the Mt. Pleasant school.

At present, Mt. Pleasant has only a music department and is not equipped to offer a course for ministers as provided by donors of the endowment fund. It is understood the fund will be used to provide scholarships for ministerial students only.

Labor's National Committee To Meet

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, April 24.—First nation-wide conference of Labor's National Committee for Modification of the Volstead Act will be held here April 27 and 28.

Matthew Woll, president of the Modification committee, which has the approval of international unions, state federations and central labor unions, announced the purpose of the national conference is to make effective one national policy throughout the United States and render the campaign for modification uniform and cogent.

Pedals Bicycle Thousand Miles To Visit Mother

(International News Service)

DENVER, Col., April 20.—While airplanes were being kept on the ground and automobiles were stalled in snowdrifts during the recent blizzard which swept eastern Colorado, Harry Cahoon, 53, was furiously pedaling his bicycle along the highways between here and Temple, Texas, nearly 1,000 miles away.

Cahoon received word that his mother was seriously ill in Temple. Mounting his bicycle he rode to Temple in six days, arriving six hours before his mother died. He averaged about 175 miles per day.

Going south Cahoon ran into all sorts of difficulties.

"I ran into a terrific snowstorm 52 miles from Denver, near Palmer Lake, Colo.," he recounted. "It was tough going and my hands were like ice on the handlebars, but I managed to fight through it.

"Near Walsensburg, Colo., "Old Nell" (his bike) pretty nearly balked in the mud from a recent rain, which was several inches deep in the road. Every car and truck that passed sprayed me with thick, wet mud. On the outskirts of Walsenburg, I ran into a deep rut and skidded over the handlebars. I had to put the wheel in a garage and myself in a cleaners.

"I found I couldn't make it up Raton pass, so I waited at the bottom until a truck came along and then I hooked a lead rope. The truck pulled me to the top in about an hour, and I coasted down the other side.

"Near Amarillo, Tex., I encountered a terrible sandstorm. The wind was carrying the sand directly in my face and the pedaling became agonizing work.

Then, after his mother's funeral, Cahoon pedaled back to Denver.

"I didn't have a single puncture and the entire trip cost me only $13" he said.

Cahoon has spent most of his 53 years on a bicycle. He operates a dry cleaning establishment in Denver and makes his deliveries on "Old Nell."

The Bank of England has its own churchyard adjoining where many of the officials have been buried.

In the early days of our naval history warships were named the Wasp, the Rattlesnake, the Hornet, the Frolic, and so on.

Harvard Given Enormous Sum

Harvard University Given $5,800,800 By Adjudication Of Wyeth Will

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, April 24.—Harvard university was richer today by $5,800,800 a the result of an adjudication filed by Judge Lewis H. Van Dusen in the Orphans' court in the estate of Stuart Wyeth, wealthy Philadelphian, who died December 30, 1929.

The testator, who was the son of the late John Wyeth, manufacturing chemist, made pecuniary bequests amounting to about $220,000, and Judge Van Dusen ordered an additional $50,000 retained by the executors pending the determination of a claim by the commonwealth for personal property tax. The court awarded the residue along with $300,000 income to the president and fellows of Harvard as provided by the will.

Calvary Mission Society Organizes

At a meeting in the Calvary Presbyterian church Thursday afternoon the women of the church organized a Women's Missionary Society, with seventeen charter members.

Mrs. Porter of Ellwood City, president of the Presbyterial mission board of this district was the organizer and she was assisted by Mrs. Woods and Mrs. Howard Magill.

Mrs. S. A. Kirkbride gave an outline of the mission fields and the work of the society in connection with the fields.

Officers elected were Mrs. I. A. Lytle, president; Mrs. George Lawrence, vice president; Mrs. Earle Powell, secretary, and Mrs. Hannah Carnes, treasurer.

Plans were made for a delegation to attend the missionary conference in Pulaski on May 5.

Board To File Liens For Taxes

Will File Liens For Unpaid School Taxes On Seated Lands Before May 1

Members of the New Castle School Board at their meeting last evening, following the advice of their solicitor, Attorney W. J. Moffatt, took action to have liens filed against all seated land upon which 1930 taxes have not been paid. This will be done prior to the first of May.

Mr. Moffatt informed the board that there seemed to be some difference of opinion as to whether the Act of 1929 relating to this procedure was legal or not. In several instances, the lower courts have held that the Act is unconstitutional because of its ambiguous terms. He also informed the board that there were several Acts relating to this matter before the present legislature, but it seemed unlikely that any of them could be put in shape for passage prior to the first of May.

The lien Act of 1923 was not repealed by the Act of 1929 and there are two Acts on the statute books relating to the same subject. In order to play safe, he felt that liens should be filed against all seated lands before May 1, and the board acted accordingly in the matter, instructing that such action be taken.

Other Matters

Rev. C. S. Joshua, pastor of the Croton M. E. church appeared before the board and asked permission to use Franklin Field at some date prior to July 4, for a track and field program which the Dependable Bible Class of the church was promoting. The petition was granted by the board.

Business Manager S. G. Ligo told the board that it had been the policy of the board in past years to oil the streets around the various school buildings where the residents of the district cooperated, and paid their share of the cost of the same. After a brief discussion, the board voted to authorize Mr. Ligo to take the same action as they had done in former years and gave him permission to purchase the oil necessary.

The board was informed by the city that it was the latter's intention to pave Laurel Boulevard, and asked them to put in any sewer or service lines that were necessary before the street is paved. The school district owns a plot of ground across the street from the Highland Building, which is used as a playground. It was voted to locate one water service connection on the property for the benefit of those who use the playgriunds in the summer. If the committee which supervises the city playgrounds wishes to install a drinking fountain for the benefit of the children the connection will be there for that purpose.

The meeting was adjourned comparatively early, there being only a small amount of business to transact, the meeting having been called primarily to discuss Daylight Saving Time as it would affect the operation of the schools.

Honduran Rebels Are Being Chased

Government Troops Are Forcing Revolutionary Forces To Retreat

IMPORTANT AREA IS NOW CLEARED

By GUILLEN ZELAYA
International News Service Special Correspondent

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras, April 24.—The government of Honduras, determined to stamp out all vestiges of rebellion on the northern coast, planned today to send a large expedition into the interior to annihilate rebel strongholds.

Beaten at almost every point in the coastal region, where the revolutionary generals hoped to gain control and establish a base of operations, the Insurrectionists fled inland hotly pursued by Federal detachments. According to information reaching the office of President Colindres, the Rebels under General Gregorio Ferrera are retreating toward Intibuca, the general's home and mountain stronghold.

Their retreat, the direct result of reverses suffered in sharp encounters at Chamelecon, Olanchito and Guayemas, practically cleared the important area of San Pedro Sula and Puerto Cortes of rebel forces. They were believed to have abandoned all hope of success in this region.

It was believed here that General Ferrera, reluctant to abandon Revolutionary hopes, would retreat to his own territory and attempt to organize an army of native Indians for renewed attacks on government forces.

Army Secures More Recruits

Many Opportunities Are Now Open To Those Desiring To Enlist

Sergeant J. W. Thompson has been advised by the Pittsburgh office of the Army recruiting service of the acceptance of two men enlisted through the local office.

The men accepted are Delbert Weis, 917 Maryland avenue, who goes to the Twelfth Infantry stationed at Fort Washington, Md., and James Choffe of Sharon, who has been accepted for service in the Air Corps at Panama.

Complaint Comes From South Side

Merchants of the south side are complaining about the number of beggars who daily invade the south side stores in the hope of securing food.

Of late the beggars have been making it a habit to beg in the stores daily. The number is large and the merchants believe something should be done to prevent this condition.

Kittanning Man Is Poisoned By Water

Insurance Salesman Sent To Hospital—Drank Impure Water At Banquet

(International News Service)

TARENTUM, Pa., April 24.—James M. Gallagher, of Kittanning, today was recovering in Allegheny Valley hospital from drinking what physicians believe was impure water at a banquet given to 80 life insurance salesmen yesterday.

Nearly a score of other salesmen, who attended the banquet, suffered slight ill effects from drinking the water.

Gallagher was the only hospital case.

Night Light System On Field Increased

The football enthusiast who goes to Taggart field this evening for the spring football game will find the ground flooded with daylight from 20 reflectors.

The illuminating department of the P.-O. last night completed all work on enlarging the system to a total of 81 kilowatts. Six more reflectors containing three units of 1,000 watts each have been added, to increase the power of the lights from the 63 kilowatts in use last season.

Will Alfonso Come Here To Obtain Employment With Big Corporation?

"No!" Says Utah Senator, Student Of Foreign Conditions, And Explains Why; Movie Offers To Be Shunned

Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 24.—Knig Alfonso (it seems premature to call him an ex-king, considering the pains he took to explain that he was renouncing none of his royal rights when he left Spain) has been described as fascinated by American big business and quoted to the effect that he would like to become an industrial magnate in the United States in the event of his loss of the Spanish throne.

From all accounts, several opportunities of this sort already have been offered to him.

He took considerable money into exile with him, for one thing. His name, title and career also naturally suggest themselves as susceptible to capitalization on a grand scale by a capable advertising manager.

* * *

Nevertheless, Senator William H. King of Utah (whom I have had occasion to mention hitherto as exceptionally well acquainted with the trend of European events and with old world personalities) ventures the guess that nothing will come of such negotiations.

"In the first place," says the senator, "I have my doubts if any American business man of premier rank would care to take the at least temporarily retired monarch into his organization.

"It would be a spectacular stroke of publicity to acquire him, certainly, but its value in actual dividends necessarily would be problematical, and the expense assuredly would be mighty heavy. It is questionable, too, whether royalty would be popular in an American commercial enterprise. It would be showy, but how about matter-of-fact folks' estimate of it from the standpoint of stability?"

* * *

"On the screen," agreed the Salt Lake City lawmaker, "of course a real king would be a tremendous attraction.

"However, it is safe to dismiss all thought of a Hollywood success from consideration, as altogether unacceptable to Alfonso, regardless of the enthusiasm with which it is easy to believe movie producers would welcome him.

"In fact, the probabilities are strongly against much sincerity in any of the exiled king's expressions of his desire to engage in business at all.

"Few things can be predicted more confidently than that his every act, henceforward as long as he lives, will be shaped with a view to his recall to the throne. Let him engage in trade, no matter in how dignified a fashion, and that chance will vanish immediately. He will sink to the rating of a mere bourgeois."

* * *

What are the prospects of his recall?

"Conflict between rival Spanish elements and areas," replied the senator, "may lead to it.

"Still, the republicans have begun rather cleverly by launching an investigation into the ex-ruler's management of national affairs since he has been of an age to be held responsible for them.

"They undoubtedly will disclose a great deal that will tend to discredit him—for example, his personal interference in the prosecution of the Moroccan war, at the cost of the lives of thousands of his soldiers, as well as more recent maladministration under the dictatorships he created in an effort to check the growth of liberalism.

"When the whole story is told perhaps very little will be left of his boasted popularity."

* * *

As a matter of cold-blooded, practical politics, would the triumphant republicans have been wiser, maybe, to resort to the expedient of a firing squad when they had the opportunity?—thus eliminating all risks of an attempted come-back.

"I don't thing so," answered Senator King. "An ex-monarch's son or grandson often makes a more formidable pretender than the original one.

"In Austria today Prince Otto has a far stronger following than ever favored the restoration of his late father, Emperor Carl, who was forced to abdicate. Carl was blamed by many of his subjects for the country's war misfortunes. With Otto they sympathize instead. If any turn of the wheel should re-establish royalty in Germany, it would not be the kaiser but one of his grandchildren.

"The Russians, indeed, tried to exterminate the entire dynasty, but of course they could not do it completely. The monarchists could rally as effectively, if at all, around a nephew or a cousin of Nicholas as around Nicholas himself, were he living."

* * *

"All in all, the Spanish revolution appears to me," said the senator, "to have been very judiciously managed.

"No unnecessary sympathy was created for the royal family. They were treated courteosuly to the last and allowed to leave in comfort, taking with them their gold and jewelry, their crown and all their paraphernalia. Nothing was done or left undone for them to complain of.

"Now a formal investigation has been started, calculated to discourage any movement to invite them back again.

"A well managed affair! It is to be hoped no belated trouble starts to spoil it."

Health Expert Urges Women To "Keep Fit"

Peculiar Constitution Cited As Reason For Keeping Fit

By ARTHUR A. McGOVERN
(Written Exclusively For and Copyright By, International News Service, 1931.)

NEW YORK, April 24.—If I were asked to give one brief rule to all women for greater happiness, a richer life, a deeper contentment, I should say without hesitation, "Keep fit!" Women may be more delicately constituted than their brothers, but this is all the more reason why they should know how to maintain health.

Women need strength to enable them to carry the burdens nature has placed upon them, and I speak now of the housewives and mothers as well as those women who have assumed their places in the business and professional world. Women are under greater strain than men because they are naturally more sensitive, more subject to nervousness, more delicate and more high-strung. But in nine cases out of ten we find that women pay far less attention to the demands of good health than does the average man.

The normal woman is strong, vital, and enduring even though she may seem at a disadvantage muscularly. This being true there is no excuse for a woman failing to realize her natural destiny of robust health, and the personal beauty of attractiveness that accompanies and expresses vitality.

If women would practice some of the common sense rules of health which are part of the life of almost every man, we would have fewer cases of neurasthenia of "nervous breakdowns" or the other common ailments of women who have passed thirty. Regularity of life, moderation in work or in play, systematic daily exercise, and wholesome physical diversions will do much towards the development of the sound health which is the essential foundation for that elusive thing we call "charm."

POOR OUTLOOK FOR COPS

A little girl was explaining to her younger brother that it was wrong to work on Sunday.

"Well, policemen work on Sundays," said the boy. "Don't they go to heaven?"

"No," she replied: "they don't need policemen up there."

West Notes Growth Of Forest Routes

(International News Service)

PORTLAND, Ore., April 24.—Benefited by an increase in federal appropriations, forest highways along the coast and in the Pacific northwest are threading their way through the national forests rapidly.

With $9,500,000 appropriated for road construction work in the national forests of 29 states and 2 territories, the five states of Oregon, Washington, California, Idaho and Montana will receive more than half the allotted amount for a combined total of $5,305,692.

All districts benefiting from the fund have had their apportionments doubled for the fiscal year ending June 1931. An equal amount has already been appropriated for the following year and should prove an aid in the employment situation.

Montana Town Eschews Elections

(International News Service)

WALKERVILLE, Mont., April 24—Walkersville almost broke a 13-year old precedent recently when Mrs. Monetta Suydan filed for the office of city treasurer.

Since 1918 there has not been a municipal election in Walkerville. In that year the citizens decided that biennial elections were too much trouble.

The Walkerville "system" is very simple. The city council appoints the mayor and the mayor appoints the councilmen. Mrs. Suydan withdrew her petition when she learned that the office of treasurer was filled by an appointed officer.

Survey Shows Women 20 To 25 Ideal, Most Popular Mothers

By SAM JACKSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

DENVER, Col., April 24 — The young woman between 20 and 25 is the ideal mother—and she's also the most popular one.

She's the best because her children have the best chance of surviving and growing to adult life. She's the most popular because of all age groups she bears the most children—although her slightly older sister between 25 and 30 is a close second.

These and many other facts about the maternity question in Denver are settled in a paper, "Some Preliminary Observations on Denver's Infant Mortality Study," by Prof. A. D. H. Kaplan, to be published in the next number of the Colorado Journal of Medicine.

Kaplan, economic adviser to the bureau of business and social research at the University of Denver School of Commerce, has been in charge of a two-year study of the problem managed by the bureau and participated in by various civic agencies.

Of approximately 5000 birth cases recorded, 1490 thus far have been classified by age groups. These show that 451 mothers were 20 to 25 years of age; 423 were 25 to 30; 255 were 30 to 35, and 189 were under 20. In the older age groups, 107 were 35 to 40, 37 were 40 to 45, 2 were over 45 and in 26 cases no age was reported.

The younger mothers—under 20—as a class probably don't know how to take care of their children the survey indicates. The death rate of children of these young mothers is 122 per thousand, or about one child out of eight.

The prize for successful care of infants goes to the next age group—those between 20 and 24—where the death rate is only 58 per thousand.

From there on up, the death rate climbs as the mothers grow older, until in the group between 40 and 45 years old the rate is 216 per thousand.

One fact brought out by the study is the low number of still-births in the cases of mothers under 20, indicating that the high infant mortality in that class is due to any physical source but to lack of experience or care.

A close relation between the infant death rate and in the financial circumstances of the family into which a child is born also is shown by the survey.

It was found that in families with incomes of $3000 or over the death rate was only 37 per thousand, regardless of the age of the mothers. At the opposite extreme, families reporting incomes of less than $500 a year had a death rate of 183 per thousand.

Arranging the figures in another way, Dr. Kaplan found that the groups with incomes below $1500 a year had a death rate of 99.2 per thousand, while those receiving more than $1500 had a rate of 47.5.

Certain investigations of home and hospital care indicated to investigators that much of the mortality in poor homes was due to the actual home conditions. A tendency for the death rate to increase after the first month was observed among the poor, while the increase among the higher income levels was slight by comparison.

An indication of the economic circumstances of Denver's families was afforded in the discovery that 37 per cent of the births considered in the preliminary report were in families with total incomes of less than $1000 a year. This relationship between income and the death rate also was shown by charting deaths on a map of the city. The highest rate, 183, was suffered in a district along the Platte river constituted largely of shacks and poorer dwellings, while the lowest rate, 19, was in Park Hill.

The infant mortality study was undertaken by a group of civic bodies when a report for 1928 showed that Denver, despite its climatic advantages, had a higher infant death rate than any other of the 25 largest cities of the country—91 per thousand.

The bureau was in charge of the study, while the actual field work was done by the Visiting Nurse association. The study was financed by the May company, the city administration, an anonymous local gift and a contribution by the Rockefeller foundation, made through the University of Denver School of Commerce.

Dress Stealing Leads To Arrest

Alderman Metes Out 15-Day Term To Man Caught Near Local Store

A plain wash dress and suit of overalls brought on the downfall of Charles Reed, about 35, whose home is near Pittsburgh. Today he was committed to county jail to begin a 15-day stretch on a charge of larceny to which he pleaded not guilty in Alderman Hamilton's court.

Reed was arrested Thursday afternoon near the store of P. H. Levine, 206 South Jefferson street. The owner and John Peluso gave chase after Reed, it is alleged had pilfered a dress and overall suit from a display outside the store. He was lodged in jail in default of a fine of $10 and costs.

KOPPEL

SCHOOL OPERETTA

The Operetta "Peggy and the Pirate" produced by the seventh and eighth grades of the Koppel public school was given at the Koppel Theatre, Wednesday evening to a large audience. The students holding the most important parts were taken from the eighth grade and the chorus from the seventh grade. The two leading roles were held by Olga Nebrezny and Matthew Beeres supported by eight other leading characters. The operetta was conducted and supervised by Mr. Kanagy, the school's music teacher. Miss Kirkbride asisting and Miss Johnson was the accompanist for solos and choral numbers. A similar operetta is given by the pupils of these grades each year. Gerald Muder is the principal of the school.

TAKEN ILL

Nick Fusco of Koppel, was rushed to the Providence hospital of Beaver Falls, Wednesday evening and was operated upon for appendicitis immediately upon his arrival there. Mr. Fusco had not been ill during the day but was taken to the hospital in an ambulance at the earlier part of the evening. He is doing as well as can be expected.

Forsakes Home For Hollywood; Divorce Asked

Case Of Paul Crowl Against Gladys Crowl And Others Are Up For Hearing

That the stage held greater appeal to his wife than domestic life was the allegation of Paul E. Crowl, whose petition for divorce from his wife, Gladys E. Crowl, came up for a hearing before Judge R. L. Hildebrand at court this morning. Crowl married an actress who had been playing at the Capitol theater. Later she became discontented with married life and told her husband that she was going back to the stage. She left him and is now supposed to be in Hollywood, Cal.

In her application for a divorce from Claude Frampton, Mrs. Hazel Frampton testified that her troubles began three weeks after they were married when her husband tore a dress off her during an altercation that started over some trivial matter. From that time on until they separated, Mrs. Frampton said that her husband abused her, frequently striking her, and calling her names. Mrs. Frampton was supported in her testimony by friends who knew of their domestic troubles, and who had seen black and blue marks on Mrs. Frampton. Mr. Frampton did not contest the divorce.

In the case of John C. Gillette against his wife, Margaret R. Gillette, Mr. Gillette testified that he had provided for his wife and had tried to do his part, but that his wife had left him on several occasions, finally leaving for good.

Desertion was also alleged in the cases of Martha E. Cowden against J. H. Cowden, Anna L. Trich, against Henry C. Trich; Mildred V. Craft against Arthur C. Craft; Francis against Francis; Biddle against Biddle, and Murry against Murry.

Mrs. Stella May Stiritz, claimed cruel and barbarous treatment in her application for divorce from William F. Stiritz.

The case of Dorothy M. Owen against James F. Owen, for desertion, was continued, also the cases of Starr against Starr, Gierlak against Gierlak and Monzo against Monzo.

The Flower Parade

(This is the second article of a series of gardens.)

PRUNING ROSES
Written for Central Press
By DR. CARL F. KELLERMAN
Bureau of Plant Industry

In pruning his roses, the gardener must be guided by several important factors. First to consider horticulturists of the bureau of plant industry point out, is the type of rose—cut flower roses, of which the hybrid teas, the teas, the pernetianas and the hybrid perpetuals are typical: the climbing roses; and the decorative varieties, which serve to ornament the garden in the same way as shrubs.

Dr. Karl F. Kellerman

Then, too, the gardener must consider the growing habits of his rose plants, and determine whether he is growing the blooms for mass effect or for individual beauty and perfection.

When the mass effect of a great many blooms is desired, the spring pruning should be light. If the roses are to be cut and you want fine individual blooms with long stems, then prune more severely.

It is good practice to cut back teas and hybrid teas in the fall to a height of two feet or less. In the spring, then, it is necessary only to cut away the dead wood and weak shoots to get the desired mass effect of the blooms.

Hybrid perpetuals grown for the blooms should be trimmed back to a height of two feet or less. Except in the case of very vigorous plants, hybrid teas require even more severe cutting—to a height of 15 inches and even less.

Very severe pruning is inadvisable for plants that have been allowed to run wild. They should be brought back into shape gradually. The first year's pruning should be light.

Climbing roses, properly handled, are pruned in the fall after the flowering season. In the spring it is only necessary then to cut away the weak spots. If the fall pruning was omitted, though all the old wood—the flowering branches of last year—should be removed.

Agenda Loan Fund Plans Are Started

Preparations Begun For First Affair To Aid Students Thru College

Plan to get the Max E. Samuels Student Loan Fund under way were started by the Agenda Club at a meeting last night when additional discussion on the proposal to aid several financially-handicapped college students was held.

The organization has undertaken to raise a sum for the student fund which will be named after a deceased member of the organization. Agenda plans to conduct social and other events to promote the plan.

Pirate Chorus Of Girl Scouts Will Rehearse

Pirate Chorus Will Be Presented In May At Leaders And Councillors Convention

A rehearsal of the pirate chorus, composed of local Girl Scouts and which will be a part of a presentation at one of the sessions of the regional Girl Scout convention in May, will take place Saturday morning at 10 o'clock in the City hall.

Members of the chorus are: Beatrice Sandler, Wanda Hanna, Mary Keifer, Sally Smith, Grace Clark, Betty Glass, Ruth Kratzmont, Lettie Shriver and Edna Rainey.

Lois Marian Smith has been giving the piano accompaniments at each rehearsal of the chorus. Her untiring cooperation has helped greatly in the preparations for this program.

The pirate chorus, along with an Indian chorus and a fairy chorus, will be presented in the open, on the grounds of the New Castle Field club.

Let us be kind to each other here on earth; it will save us much confusion when we meet in heaven.

Quartet To Sing In Baptist Church

A program of unusual interest will feature the opening exercise of the Sabbath School in the First Baptist church Sunday morning, according to Paul D. Weller, superintendent of the school.

The Jubilee singers, who are in the city with the Dibble party at the Epworth Methodist church, will sing a number of selections and they will also appear before the Men's class in their room, during the morning session.

SELECTING FOODS

Selecting foods for the family nowadays is a real problem for every woman. There are three things which must be taken into consideration: Quality, Quantity and Price.

Quality is essential, because it very often has a bearing on one's health, and more specially for the children. When we go out to select a school for our children we always go to the best and we must be just as careful of what goes into their stomachs as well as their heads.

Then there is quantity to be considered. To buy economically one should not buy more than they need.

Price—we have taken care of that for you. At our market you will find everything of the highest quality at the lowest prices possible.

Results of the gas mileage contest conducted by the company last week were made public today.

Mileage record of the following who were each awarded 50 gallons of gasoline, follow:

A. E. Ronisher of 1210 Atlantic avenue, 49 miles; John Ellis, 707 Superior street, 45.1 miles; Jesse Shaffer, R. D. 1, Ellwood City, 42 miles; Inice Book, R. D. 2, New Castle, 43.4 miles.

Sixty took part in the contest. Ten attained 40 miles or better on a gallon, 37 attained 30 miles or better, and 55 made 25 miles or better.

Gas tanks of participants' cars were drained and then filled with a gallon of gasoline. The tank was then sealed.

Greely's Arctic Quarters May Be Occupied Again

WASHINGTON April 24—John A. Fleming, acting director of the Carnegie Institution, said recently plans for American participation in the second polar year program of international scientific investigation include reoccupation of Fort Conger, (Lady Franklyn Bay) on frozen Ellesmere island in the Arctic.

It was from this lonely white land that Adolphus Washington Greely and a little party of explorers rescued by Commander W. S. Schley in June 1884, after two other relief efforts had failed.

"We are hopeful an expedition may be arranged through private assistance to supplement the government's part in the program" Fleming said. "If plans go through, Fort Conger might be occupied for two years.

"It will be expensive and will involve more risk than the other part of the program, because the expedition would be dependent entirely on itself in this absolute isolation. But it would be particularly desirable because of the location with respect to strategic geographic and magnetic points.

"We may expect to learn more of atmosphere electric storms and of magnetic storms. The latter directly affect radio transmission and reception."

Junior Choir Names Officers

The junior choir of the Highland United Presbyterian church met Thursday afternoon in the church for the purpose of organization.

Mrs. Joseph F. Replogle is director of this group of young folks and the choir now numbers about 30 and Mrs. Replogle is planning on having them present a cantata in the church in June.

Thursday afternoon officers were chosen and James Manor was selected president; Phyllis Elder, secretary, and Dick Brundage, librarian.

The choir will meet Thursday afternoons at the close of school.

The Fine Art Of Prayer

"Brass Tacks" On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

Lord, teach us to pray.—Luke 11:1.

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL

It is incidents such as the two parables on prayer included in thir lesson and recorded only by St. Luke that gives to his gospel the title of "The Gospel of Prayer."

The Parable of the Unjust Judge was spoken by our Lord to teach His disciples importunity in prayer. If so irreligious and unsocial a character as this unjust judge, "who feared not God, and regarded not man," was moved to favorable action by the prayers of a helpless widow simply because of her persistence, how much more shall a righteous and loving heavenly Father be moved by the unceasing prayers of His children? But prayer is more than persistence in asking things of God. Prayer is communion with God for the sake of what God Himself is to us, and not for the sake of what we may get out of Him. For this reason "men ought always to pray and not to faint." The prayer that quits God cold as soon as it seems to be unanswered is not true prayer. True prayer "asks, seeks, knocks" until God bestows the blessing sought or reveals the fact that His withholdings are often better than His bestowals.

Humility in Prayer.

The Parable of the Pharisee and Publican teaches us humility, sincerity, piety and brevity in prayer. Someone has said, "Prayer is either a prodigious force or a disgraceful farce. If a farce, you may pray much and get little; if a force you may pray little and get much." Two men went up into the temple to pray; one a Pharisee and the other a publican. The Pharisee stood and prayed thus with himself, God, I thank thee that I am not as the rest of men, extortioners, unjust, adulterers, or even as this publican. I fast twice in the week; I give tithes of all that I get." This man made prayer a farce instead of a force. He used to many capital "I's". He went to tell God how terribly good he was. Instead of smiting himself upon his breast in humility, he patted himself on his back in pride. The publican, on the contrary, made a prayer of force, and "went down to his house justified rather than the other." "But the publican, standing afar off, would not lift up so much as his eyes unto heaven, but smote his breast, saying God, be merciful to me the sinner." Hear were brevity, piety, humility and sincerity. In six words he pictured himself as the chief of sinners and asked God to make propitiation for him. "Nothing in my hands I bring, simply to Thy Cross I cling."

When Sir James Young Simpson the great scientist who discovered the use of chloroform in surgery, was asked what he considered his greatest discovery, he replied, "That I am a sinner, and that Christ is my Saviour." The publican had made that discovery; the Pharisee had not. Reader, have you?

(The international uniform lesson for April 26 is Luke 18:1-14, the subject being "How to Pray" and the Golden Text, Luke 11:1, "Lord, teach us to pray.")

Semi-Solon Fails To Alter Sentence

SAN FRANCISCO, April 24—Circuit Judge, William H. Sawtelle was called upon to determine whether a sentence was of more effect than a semi-colon.

Hugh McLeod, British alien was sentenced in 1924 to serve a prison term for the theft of jewels. In 1930 the government secured an order for deportation of McLeod, on the ground that he had been sentenced and imprisoned.

McLeod appealed this order basing his claim on the position of a semi-colon in a section of the law relating to deportation. Judge Sawtelle ruled that the semi-colon's position did not alter McLeod's case and upheld the order.

Old Time Fiddlers Praised For Feeling

EL PASO, Tex., April 24.— Old time fiddlers get the heartfelt expressions of compositions into their playing sometimes better than master violinists, Samuel Martinez, El Paso violinist believes.

"The masters get more of the technique into their playing" Martinez said. "But the old time fiddler plays with his soul, expressing the thought on which the composition is based."

Martinez has just returned from giving concerts in Mexico City and plans soon to start on a tour giving concerts in southwestern cities.

Run Down Three Desperate Men In Missouri

Burke, Fleagle And Durkin Are Captured In "Show Me" State

By ROBERT A. HEREFORD
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ST. LOUIS, April 24.—Missouri as the result of the capture of three nationally notorious desperadoes within its boundaries in the past five years, is earning the reputation owned by the colorful Northwest Mounted police of Canada, of "gettin' its man."

The "Show Me" state, which has been showing the way itself in the matter of tracking down master criminals registered its latest when Fred "Killer" Burke, a modern "Jesse James" awoke at his farm hideout near Green City, Missouri to find himself staring into the muzzles of several business-like machine guns.

Less than a year ago, Jake Fleagle, one of the most nortorious gunmen the west has produced was shot to death by postoffice agents as he attempted to board a train at Branson, Missouri. The shooting down of Fleagle occurred on October 14 last.

The first of the three notorious criminals for whose capture Missouri was to find itself in the public eye was Marty "Sheik" Durkin, the Chicago killer. Department of Justice agents, aided by St. Louis police nabbed Durkin in a pullman stateroom as his train pulled into Webster Groves, St. Louis suburb, January 30, 1926.

Clever and interesting detective work on the part of the Government, in the case of Durkin and Fleagle was responsible for their capture. An amateur, small-town detective effected the capture of the dangerous Burke who had successfully eluded the smartest police "masterminds" in the country.

According to an official of the Department of Justice it was Marty Durkin's flare for a certain type of highpowered automobile that resulted in his capture. When Durkin bumped off E. C. Shanahan, a special agent of the Department of Justice on October 11, 1925 in Chicago when the latter attempted to interfere in Durkin's favorite racket of car stealing the "Sheik" bandit made a fatal mistake. Shanahan's death marked the first fatility in that particular Federal Department since its establishment and Shanahan's buddies throughout the country determined that the slayer of their fellow officer must be brought to justice.

The government sleuths quickly learned of Durkin's theft of a high powered car of the type for which he was known to have a weakness from a Los Angeles showroom. He was traced by means of this car to a town in Texas where he wrecked the machine and thence to the stateroom of a pullman car where he was captured with his beautiful wife Irma Sullivan Durkin, as the train pulled into St. Louis.

Routine, but nevertheless thorough and clever work by government postal agents resulted in tracing by means of the mail, Jake Fleagle to Branson, Missouri, where he was shot down as he attempted to board a train there.

Here Comes The Bride

In Washington's "Most Important" Wedding Of The Season, Allan Hoover Being In Attendance

Gertrude Lamont and her fiancee, Charles Saltzman; Allan Hoover, inset.

By RILLA SCHROEDER
Central Press Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, April 24.—Not content with being the "cabinet bride" of the season, Gertrude Lamont, slim young daughter of the socially prominent and officially important Robert Patterson Lamonts, has stolen the spotlight entirely away from the other capital brides with the announcement that Allan Hoover, young son of President and Mrs. Hoover, is to be a member of her wedding party. Miss Lamont's father is secretary of commerce, President Hoover's old "job".

"Trudie," as her chums know her, is to be married May 2 to Charles Eskridge Saltzman of New York, son of Major General and Mrs. Charles McKinley Saltzman of Washington.

The engagement was announced in December, setting at rest rumors the Gertrude would bestow her hand and heart upon one of the popular young attaches of the British embassy staff who, it is alleged, has been nursing a broken heart since her choice was made known.

Popular in Smart Set.

A debutante of two seasons ago, Trudie has been one of the most popular members of her youthful but exceedingly smart set. Her coming out party, staged at the ultra-fashionable Montgomery County Country club, was the gayest of the "bud" events of her debut year, and she has since maintained her reputation as a young lady with a decided flair for doing the right thing at the correct moment.

The family came to Washington two years ago from Chicago, where the Pattersons and Lamonts have been regarded socially "ace high" for several generations.

The parents of the bridegroom-to-be, Major General and Mrs. Saltzman, have made their home in Washington since the retirement of the Spanish-American war hero from active service. Charles is their only son and is himself a graduate of the United States Military academy at West Point. He served in the army until last summer, when he resigned to go into business in New York.

Was White House Aide.

For several months prior to his resignation Saltzman was one of the aides at the White House, and it was during his period of service there that the romance developed. The youthful couple, however, kept their plans a secret, and only Trudie's closest friends knew of the possibility of the match, while capital society was busy rumoring her coming betrothal to the Britisher.

The news broke just a few days after the congressional reception at the White House this season. Only a few of the throng at the executive mansion that evening, however, observed the erect young chap who was her escort "for the evening." And he, incidentally, shared her smiles that evening with the host of White House aides and capital youths following in her train.

The ceremony that will unite Trudie and the starwart young New Yorker will be performed by Canon Anson Phelps Stokes of the Cathedral of St. Peter and St. Paul in Washington. The bride will be given in marriage by her father and, with Allan Hoover in the bridal procession, it is reasonable to believe that the President and Mrs. Hoover will head the imposing list of dignitaries attending the nuptial ceremony and reception that will follow.

Her Attendants.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Chauncey Belknap of New York, will be matron of honor. Her other attendants will be Miss Elizabeth Duncan of Baltimore, maid of honor, and Mrs. Henry Cole of New York, Miss Jane Trowbridge and Miss Helen Ewing, both of Lake Forest, Ill., and Miss Harriet Beardsley of Utica, N. Y., bridesmaids.

Lieutenant Standish Weston, U. S. A., is to be the best man, and the ushers, other than young Hoover, will include Chauncey Belknap, Lieutenant Charles H. Barth, Jr., Dr. Roger O. Egeberg, Hazard Eskridge, Edgar William Garbisch, Richard William Jewitt, Captain Albert Carl Lieber, Jr., John Lisgar Merrill, Virgil Richard Pogue, James Rogers II and Lieutenant Miles Reber.

As a cabinet bride, Trudie shares in her own right more than the average interest bestowed upon brides, but with young Allan in her bridal party her wedding assumes unusual importance. For Allan already has gained enough prestige in Washington to be known as the American Prince of Wales.

Offer To Assume Share In Taxes

SHAMOKIN, Pa., April 24.—Residents of Trevorton, near here have offered to assume part of the tax burden of the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron company in Northumberland county in return for resumption of mining at the North Franklin colliery there.

The citizens offer was to assume 15 percent of the 30 percent reduction asked by the coal company on the tax assessment levied on its properties by the Northunberland county board of commissioners.

The citizens proposed that an adjustment of the assessment be made to center the reduction on the unseated coal lands of Zerbe township, in which Trevorton is located.

The North Franklin Colliery has not been operated for several years.

Social Accomplishments—When it comes to obscurity, being vice president is almost as bad as being the husband of a movie star.

Dress Up Paris For Expected 1931 Tourists

(International News Service)

PARIS, April 24.—France is preparing for more tourists than ever before during the coming summer of 1931. And Paris is getting all dressed up for them.

New trees and all kinds of shrubbery and flowers are being planted in the public gardens and along the highways. The thousands of statues and other works of art are getting a thorough cleaning and everything that is painted is getting a lovely fresh coat of it.

Added services for the Americans who are expected to make up the large bulk of tourists, are no small part of the big program. Transit visas will be extended for an indefinite period, provided the travelers have admission cards to the Colonial Exposition of Vincennes, which will of course be the main drawing-card this spring. Substantial reductions in the fees for automobile licenses are also expected to be made.

Teachers will benefit by a proposal to place at their disposal all French educational buildings vacant during the vacation period. Multilingual civil servants will have preference in service promotions, thus assuring tourists of greater convenience in talking business with government employees etc.

Everything is going to be done to make the Americans feel at home, according to M. Gaston Gerard, Under-secretary of state for tourism, and they will not be obliged to spend one more cent than they wish for anything.

Expect Boats To Again Use River

KITTANNING, Pa., April 24.—Although it is 75 years since a steamboat has gone up the Allegheny river to Warren, Pa., there are two river pilots who have confidence that the stream again will be used by river boats to that point.

The pilots, Captain E. K. Campbell and Captain Sylvester Smith, have had their pilot's license extended to Warren. They are believed the only pilots possessing such licenses.

It is said that all the old pilots who navigated the river as far as Warren 75 years ago are dead. The river still is navigable to Warren during periods of high water but low bridges do not permit passage of the large river steamers.

The license were granted by the steamboat inspection service in the belief that slackwatering of the river, which now has been completed as far as Brady's Bend, will be continued to Warren.

It looks as though Portugal had taken on altogether too much old Madeira.—The Janesville Gazette.

Stomach Ills; "Ragged" Nerves; Sleeplessness Relieved By Nu-Erb

New Herbal Medicine Helping Thousands Of Former Sufferers From Disorders Of Stomach, Kidney, Liver And Bowels

The new herbal medicine, Dr. French's Nu-Erb, which is being introduced in New Castle by a special representative located at Eckerd Cut Rate Store, is daily being praised because of its prompt action in bringing relief to many different forms of health troubles. Suffers from indigestion, gas formations after meals, pain and distress through the stomach, heartburn, dizzy spells, neuritis or aches and pains through the limbs, joints and muscles, will find in Nu-Erb splendid relief from such distressing ailments.

In fact, a short treatment of Nu-Erb will often relieve each one of these troubles. Appetites increase, food digests without causing pain or distress through the stomach and chest—nerves are steadied, sleep is restored and aches and pains disappear. Nu-Erb also strengthens the entire system and new feelings of health are enjoyed by those who will give this medicine a chance to help them.

The virtue of Nu-Erb is due to a combination of herbs, roots, leaves and barks which act on the vital organs of the human body. Each one is a tonic within itself and combined they form a medicine of undisputed value for the common ailments of mankind.

THE NU-ERB MAN

Eckerd's Cut Rate Store, is the only headquarters in New Castle where Nu-Erb may be purchased. Go see the Nu-Erb man now making his headquarters there and let him explain to you the merits of this remarkable medicine.

Rheumatism Goes

Swollen Joints Vanish

How To End Rheumatism In Less Than A Week

If you suffer from torturing rheumatic pains, sore muscles or stiff inflammed joints, it's because your system is full of the dangerous poisons that cause rheumatism and make thousands helpless. What you need is RU-MA, and need it right now.

RU-MA acts on the blood, kidneys and liver, and helps drive the dangerous rheumatic poisons from the system through the natural channels of elimination—it eases pain the first day.

You must use an internal medicine to free the joints and muscles of crippling stiffness, soreness and torturing pain. That's why RU-MA succeeds while external remedies and pain deadening drugs give only temporary relief.

Eckerd's, New Castle Drug Co. says no matter what kind of rheumatism you have, or how long you have suffered, try RU-MA—it must completely end all rheumatic agony or you get your money back.

FINE HEALTH AGAIN

Sufferers from disorders of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, rheumatism, neuritis and nervousness are finding remarkable relief after taking Ten Herbs. This wonderful medicine which is being used by thousands, is also widely used as a spring tonic of great value. It cleanses the entire system and eliminates poisons and waste matters, toning up the vital organs to new activity.

"Ten Herbs relieved my health troubles," said Mrs. Augusta Prediger, 1703 Morris street, New Castle. "I suffered from pains through my body and limbs for many years. After eating my stomach would fill with gas and bloat. I was troubled with indigestion and my nerves were in a terrible condition. I had headaches all the time and my disordered liver caused my skin to be sallow. I had to arise several times at night, which greatly disturbed my rest. I tried Ten Herbs and now my stomach is normal and I can digest my food without being troubled with gas, nausea or retching. Headaches have stopped and my nerves are greatly improved. I sleep soundly without having to arise. I have been so vastly improved in health that I cheerfully recommend Ten Herbs as a wonderful medicine for building up one's general health."

Ten Herbs is sold at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 E. Washington St., and by all leading druggists throughout this entire section.

Truth Serum May Convict Criminals

By W. F. PETERSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, April 24.—"Who killed Cock Robin?" and like questions may be answered readily and correctly by the most hardened criminals provided the "truth serum" is perfected by scientists in the crime detection laboratory of Northwestern University.

"Truth serum" is a new name for "twilight sleep", an old opiate whose chief ingredients are morphine and scopolamine. Through its use, the experimenters hope to be able to break through the lies and silence of law breakers.

One big obstacle stands in the way, however. This is a law stipulating that the accused may not be forced to give evidence which may be used against him.

The effect of "truth serum" is to depress the nervous system and create a condition of drowsiness. It removes the inhibitions and breaks down the resolutions of patients to tell lies, according to Dr. C. W. Muehlberger, assistant director of the laboratory.

"Actually," Mr. Muehlberger said, "it stimulates a synthetic jag, comparable to the condition induced by about a half dozen drinks of gin. Varying the old adage, 'in vina veritas,' it may be said of this drug that "in scopolamine there is truth."

More than a dozen patients have undergone tests at the laboratory. They came to the laboratory at night, reclined on a couch, and were given periodic doses of the drug with a hypodermic needle.

After the patients were drugged for an hour and one half, the questioners stood over them and shouted inquiries into their ears. To date, according to Dr. Muehlberger, the answers of the patients have been 80 per cent truthful. The 20 per cent of untruth was attributed to the fact that the patients were not sufficiently drunk with the drug.

The patients remained at the laboratory all night and awoke in the morning with no ill effects. They did not remember what they talked about during the night.

"The truth exists fundamentally in the mind," Dr. Muehlberger explained, "and with the inhibitions withdrawn by the effects of the drug, the truth is first to be expressed."

Declares Futurism Barbaric Invasion

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Pa., April 24.—A "new dynamic, potent, finer art" will be evolved from the invasion of futuristic design in art, Dr. Henry T. Bailey, director of the Cleveland School of Art, told an audience here.

Futurism, Dr. Bailey said, is just another barbarian invasion of the sort which has helped raise civilization to its existent high standard.

"The motto of the barbarians through the centuries," declared Dr. Bailey, has been "Damn' everything that has been."

He urged patience with the Futurists for the improvements their work will eventually bring.

DR. FREEMAN HELPS ARRANGE COLLEGE MEET

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., April 24.—Dr. Charles Freeman, dean and acting president of Westminster College, has been one of the members of the committee in charge of the gathering of district college presidents and faculty members in The Castleton hotel, New Castle, tomorrow.

The meeting tomorrow at which representatives of Allegheny, Geneva, Grove City, Thiel, and Westminster will be present, will start with a number of group conferences on different phases of work in the denominational liberal arts college. These group meetings are scheduled for 3 o'clock.

At 6:30 a dinner will be served at which many of the members of the faculties of the five sister colleges of the district will be present. Dr. Frank Graves, commissioner of education for the state of New York, will make the principal address at the dinner.

Chamber Has Taken No Action On Time

In an advertisement which appeared in The News on Thursday, April 23, it was stated that almost unanimous action was taken at a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of the Better Business Bureau not to have Daylight Savings Time.

This statement in the advertisement is erroneous, the Chamber of Commerce having taken no action in the matter. Such action was taken at a meeting of the Better Business Bureau, which is a minor division of the Chamber of Commerce.

The News Company was not responsible in any way for the statement made.

Dentist Bails Patient From Jail

NORWALK, Conn., April 24—Hilden Olsen kept an appointment with his dentist but not until the dentist had bailed him out of jail with the money Olsen had given him to settle his bill.

Olsen before going out to have "one heck of a time" with his war bonus money, paid the dentist $25 and made a date for the following day. The veteran woke up next day in a police cell, penniless.

The dentist furnished bail and reopened Olsen's account.

New Type Rod Mill To Be Built

VANDERGRIFT, April 24—A new continuous type copper rod mill producing between 50,000 and 60,000 pounds of quarter-inch round rods per hour is expected to be erected in the Vandergrift plant of the United Engineering and Foundry Co. soon as the result of the development of the new type mill.

The mill can operate profitably on a small production basis.

Put your car in shape for Summer

LUBRICATE CHASSIS. The lubrication charts used by "Standard" service men show the right lubricant for every cup and friction point on every type of car. To assure thoroughness, every point is carefully checked as serviced. Special greases meet every lubrication requirement.

NOW is the time to change to summer grade motor oil—and fresh new greases all around. Have it done today at your "Standard" station or dealer.

All "Standard" lubricants were developed in the "Standard" laboratories. There is a special grease to meet every lubrication requirement.

Any "Standard" dealer can drain your crankcase and refill with fresh "Standard" Motor Oil of the right grade for summer.

The larger dealers and "Standard" stations are equipped to give complete lubrication service—and to supply you with Atlas Tires—the new, economical, first quality tire, guaranteed against all road hazards. Lifts, pits, special lubricating equipment assure rapid, thorough service. Have your car spring-serviced the "Standard" way today—you'll reap the reward all summer.

AWAY WITH THE OLD WINTER OIL. Remove sludge and dirt from the motor with "Standard" Flushing Oil. Then refill with fresh "Standard" Motor Oil, or Penotol, the new 100 per cent Pennsylvania oil.

ATLAS TIRES are insured for one year against all road hazards, by the Standard Oil Company of Pennsylvania.

DON'T FORGET YOUR DIFFERENTIAL AND TRANSMISSION. Have these gear boxes flushed and refilled with "Standard" Leaded Compound—the new special gear lubricant, developed by the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey. "Standard" service men do this job thoroughly.

Funny Film Star Gets No Salary Is An Idealist

By LYLE ABBOTT
International News Service Special Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., April 24—A motion picture actor who takes his pay in good will instead of dollars has been discovered working in Hollywood's smallest and busiest studio.

He is Mickey Mouse, whose ancestors came to this country in an ink-well.

Mickey is a very real character. He has temperamental spells like other film celebrities, but in general is easy to get along with.

"I am an idealist," Mickey told an interviewer. "I am Mickey Mouse, instead of a jack-rabbit, politician or other form of humor, because I am cuter the way I am. My public is unlimited by the age of any individual in it.

"In my day, I assume many characters and I enjoy my work.

"I ask for no money for my work. But I do demand of my studio that it make my public laugh ten times in six minutes."

Mickey's pictures take only six minutes on the screen.

In the six minutes, said Walt Disney, formerly a newspaper cartoonist and now head of the Mickey Mouse studio, it is necessary to run Mickey through enough funny situations to make the audience "bust loose" every 36 seconds.

This is done by sprinkling the scenoria with gags, and Disney hires men whose serious mission in life is just to think up gags.

It is much harder now that sound goes with even the Mickey pictures, and the costs are four times what they were in silent days.

Besides a staff of 30 artists, Mickey requires an orchestra.

He hires one man who does nothing but write music scores for one trap-drummer. And the orchestra has four trap-drummers.

As a matter of fact, Mickey and his whole studio are simply a case of drawing boards and India ink, thin sheets of celluloid on which to make pictures and a brand of movie cameras that make only one photograph at a time.

For Mickey is only a cartoon with animation. People who have learned to make cartoons that move now are called "animators" and they are so scarce that good ones draw big pay.

The sequence of events leading up to a Mickey Mouse film are:

1. Disney and his staff get an idea, such as having Mickey in an adventure with Old King Cole or Robinson Crusoe.

2. The story is written just like any other scenario, and gags and music are put in where they will do the most good.

3. The artists draw several thousand pictures and the cameramen photograph the pictures on movie film, while the band plays the accompanying music and makes the necessary noises.

The result is Mickey, gracefully going through a lot of highly dramatic moments.

So smoothly does the picture finally unroll on the screen that the spectators think it takes Disney a dreadfully long time to make it.

"It would take me two years to make the drawings needed in a six-minute picture," Disney said. "If we didn't have lots of shortcuts."

Depression Is Well Handled

Industrial Leaders Working Out Solution For Future Emergencies

CONSTITUENTS MUST BE HAPPY

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, April 24—The text of civilization is its success in making prosperous and happy its constituents," declared Col. Arthur Woods, chairman of President Hoover's emergency employment committee to the American Philosophical meeting here.

A free state, Col. Wood said, does "not owe a man a living but it does owe him the fair chance to make his own living.

"Unemployment and depression in business eras of today," Col. Woods said, "while similar to depressions experienced before cannot be directly compared with them because treatment of the entire situation is different, than ever before."

Looks To Agencies

Where formerly the workingman thrown out of employment looked to relatives and neighbors for aid, he now looks to the public and to charities for the need made through no fault of his own, the employment committee head said. Supplanting of compact urban life for the looser rural life of the past is in part accountable for that, he said.

Col. Woods told his audience the most admirable thing about the present depression is the earnestness with which national authorities manufacturers, employees and economists are attempting to survey the situation with the idea of formulating a plan of action which will permit similar recurrences in future to be met more ably.

Industrial leaders, he said, now work on the theory that industrial depressions may be placed in the same category as dread diseases which have required time and science for discovery of remedies able to cope with them successfully.

Senatus Romanus Selects Officers

Junior High School Tournament To Be Held On Saturday

At a regular meeting of Senatus Romanus at the senior high school yesterday, the election of officers for next year resulted as follows:

Consul Primus—David Long
Consul Secundus——Mary Jane Metzler
Scriba—Tom Stevenson
Quasstor—George Muse
Aedilis—Gertrude Graham

Officers of the organization who will retire at the end of the present year are:

Consul Primus—Tom Hawkins
Consul Secundus—Charles Kay
Scriba—Angeline Castrucci
Quaestor—Jonathan Brown
Aedilis—Josephine Allen

Besides the election the agenda of the day included final preparations for the junior high school tournament which is set for the coming Saturday at eight-forty a. m. Eigteen or twenty upper classmen in the senior high school will conduct the tournament under the supervision of the Latin department.

Ear Ornaments Get Cachet Of Paris

(International News Service)

PARIS, April 24.—Your ears must be sparkling diamonds, if you would be chic in Paris today. Well, of course they might be red rubies if you happen to be wearing a lovely red gown, or emralds with a green one, but in every case, the ears must be trimmed this spring, in the evening.

The newest novelty is the ear ornament which fastens with an invisible screw behind the lobe and then delicately follows the outline of the ear in any jewel one happens to prefer. For the moment, the very smartest are diamonds. Every curve is outlined and the ornament is so deftly made there is no danger of it slipping off.

National Farm Outlook

By ARTHUR H. JENKINS
Editor, The Farm Journal
Written For Central Press

Just about two years' ago there were many persons who believed that the surpluses farmers were complaining about were imaginary.

Those were the days of the merchandising boys—the high-pressure salesmen who whooped it up and asserted that buying power was practically unlimited — that merely scientific selling was needed, and especially a high wage scale for the salesmen.

Overproduction looks much more real in the spring of 1931, and if you still don't believe it, ask the automobile builders, the copper smelters, or the oil-well owners. They know.

Anyway, the over-supply of farm products is accepted now as real, and not fictitious, though a few voices still insist that if all the hungry and half-clad people in the world were fed and clothed, we would not have more than epough to go around.

That may be true. It probably is true. But no one has yet shown how, and at whose expense, the needy and the needed are going to be brought together.

* * *

The argument at present is not whether there are farm surpluses, but as to what can be done about them, if anything.

One group, of which Alexander Legge was a distinguished member, says: "There is no real remedy for too much production except less production. No line of business except farming goes on turning out stuff when it cannot be sold at a profit; production is cut. Farmers must do the same, and they might just as well learn how now as later."

"Ridiculous," says the other group. "Less production has been preached to farmers for years, and there never has been a case where it has had the slightest effect. Indeed, most appeals for smaller production have usually been followed by increases. The thing to do is to take all the production, sell it somewhere to somebody, and try to fix it so that we can get a fair price for the biggest part of the stuff, while we dump the surplus for anything it will bring."

"Ridiculous," replies the first group. "Your idea is all right, but it won't work, and you know it won't work. You can't split a surplus off and keep it from affecting the price of the rest, and anybody in his right mind would know he couldn't do it."

* * *

I take no sides in the argument, or at least not publicly. It is not like a high school debate, where we can merely take a vote of the judges, and the whole problem is settled. I can see this debate going on for a long time to come, and no man knoweth the end thereof.

Meanwhile, economists and many other thoughtful people say to each other that if the question is left undecided long enough it is likely to settle itself. Surpluses bring low prices, and low prices, sooner or later, are poison to surpluses. Economic history leaves no possible doubt concerning that.

Dinners To Blame For Monday's Blues

PHILADELPHIA, April 24.—If you have the "blues" on Monday blame it on your Sunday dinner.

That is the way that Dr. Gladys G. Ide, psychologist, accounts for the fits of depression felt by many folks on Monday.

"Monday blues are very apt to be the result of the Sunday dinner," said Dr. Ide. "You loaf around all Sunday, eat a big meal, upset your whole routine, then wonder why you feel depressed on Monday."

Lions And Crocodiles Among Pets Of Paris

(International News Service)

PARIS, April 24.—The pets Parisians put in their city apartments and houses are probably the most curious to be found anywhere in the world.

No fewer than seven lions are living in different parts of the city. Three other Parisians prefer tigers and a number of panthers are also kept as little pets. Still others have a penchant for wolves, of which the number registers eleven. A fine big elephant lives just outside the city. Five crocodiles are petted in different families, not to mention the various monkeys and live parrots that are often seen on Parisians' hats or shoulders on a stroll through the gardens.

St. Margaret's Services Will Start Tomorrow

Special Services Will Be Held For Three Days In Local Catholic Church

Preparations have been completed for the special services to be held in St. Margaret's on Saturday, Sunday and Monday. The services are known as 40 hours devotion. On Saturday at 8:30 a. m. solemn high mass will be celebrated by the pastor, Rev. A. P. Scholz. He will be assisted by Rev. Joseph Doerr of St. Joseph's church, New Castle, as deacon and Rev. Norbert Schramm of Ellwood City as sub-deacon. The boys' choir of St. Mary's church, New Castle, will sing the "Missa de Angelis."

Father Francis Clifford will be at the organ and direct the choir. After the mass the procession with the blessed sacrament will take place. All juveniles of the congregation will take part in the procession. During the entire three-day period hours of adoration will be observed by members of the parish. From 3 to 4 in the afternoon the children will assemble for Holy Hour. At 7:30 in the evening the closing exercises of the first day will be held. Preparatory to the 40 hours, confessions will be heard this Friday at 5 and 7:30 p. m. by visiting priests.

New Novels At Local Library

Branch Librarian Brings Several New Books To Library On Thursday

Five new and interesting novels were brought to the Mahoningtown library on Wabash avenue, Thursday, by the branch librarian, Mrs. Ray Johnson. The books are ones in great demand and local borrowers will be glad to know they may be secured at the branch library.

The books are:

Studio Murder Mystery—by Mrs. C. B. Edington.

Rancher Jim—by Harold Bindloss.

The Craig Poisoning Case—by Fielding.

The Son of 3—by Gaston Leroux.

Happy Landings—by Fanny Heaslip Lea.

Guests At Tea At Leesburg On Friday Afternoon

Mrs. H. H. McCombs and daughter Mrs. E. M. Johnston of 612 West Clayton street went to Leesburg on Thursday and were guests at the home of Mrs. George Douglas.

A silver tea was an event of noon, attended by 25 members of the Full of Pep club, with Mrs. McCombs and Mrs. Johnston as special guests. Quilting was a pastime of the afternoon hours.

MANY ATTEND CARD PARTY AT LYCEUM

The card party held at the Lyceum hall Wednesday evening was a success. The committee is grateful to the many friends who attended. Prizes were awarded to the following: in 500, Mrs. Nellie Moore, Miss Mary Sullivan, William Semler, James Gallagher; in euchre, Miss Maxine Gillespie, Mrs. Mary Jones, Gus Hammer and William Avery; in bingo, Miss Joanne Boyle, Mrs. Catherine McGowan, Masters Russell Basterfield and Raymond Carlin. A special prize was won by Mrs. Roy Merriman.

The next card party in the Lyceum hall will be held under the auspices of "The Margarites" Thursday, April 30.

PAINTING INTERRUPTED

Weather conditions delayed the completion of the exterior decoration of St. Margaret's. Yesterday Charles Reimer and Steve Cushion were engaged in re-setting the guard rail at the rear entrance of the church.

Woman Drives Team Of Horses For Her Health

(International News Service)

DENVER, Col., April 24.—A living testimonial to the feasibility of equal rights for women, Mrs. Roy Kent of Denver cares little about the question. To her it has meant recovery of lost health, and a well-stocked family larder.

A husky, bronzed man was recently seen handling a 500-pound scraper on a new lawn being built in the residence section of Denver. By his side was a tanned and healthy-appearing woman, driving the team of sturdy bays hitched to the scraper.

Passersby stopped to admire her skill.

"No, this isn't some crazy equal rights stunt," she explained. "This is how I keep my health. Been doing it for six years. Don't you think it agrees with me.

"Dirt? I don't mind it. It comes off and doesn't do any harm. What won't come off and does do harm is the nervousness which comes from living indoors all the time.

"Housework? Sure, that's something to do, but aside from that I can't say much for it. Ash hauling is more in my line. That's what I call real healthy employment. Of course, the only trouble now is that there are so many ash haulers. You know, I believe there are at least 1,000 ash haulers in Denver."

Mrs. Kent explained that after marrying and taking up housework she had lost the good health which had been hers as a girl on an Indiana farm. Six years ago she joined her husband at his work and found it both profitable and healthful for her.

"We've had work most of the winter, which is more than lots of families can say," she said. "But what is more important than making a living is keeping healthy. Try ash hauling some time. You'll like it. Giddap!"

Frank Campa, a house painter of Malden, Mass., was fined $5 because he went to work on Sunday, which he claims to have mistaken for Saturday.

Seeks To Discover Man's Ancestor

(International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, April 24.—Dr. Roy Chapman Andrews, famous scientist is hot on the trail of Adam's grandfather.

Dr. Andrew's one of the nine men distinguished by the coveted Hubbard gold medal award of the National Geographic Society for his brilliant discoveries of early mankind admitted this as he sailed for the Orient from here to effect arrangements for continuation of his scientific search in the Gobi desert of Mongolia.

"We are hot on the trail of old Adam's grandfather" said Andrews. "This is a field of exploration fabulously rich in possibilities. For 150 millions years this area has been continuously dry.

"This means we should be able to piece together an unbroken story of both plant and animal life that will carry us further back into the beginnings of time than any other region has made possible."

On his other trips to the Gobi desert, Dr. Andrews has found dinosaur eggs, huge fossils of shovel-tusked mastodons and faint relics of the first plainsmen—grandfathers of the cavemen.

U. S. Plans Check On Expenditure Of Seed Loans

Find Money Intended For Seeds Used For Other Purposes

(International News Service)

BROWNSTOWN, Ind., April 24.—W. P. Stall, Jackson county agricultural agent, has been informed by federal government officials that the government is checking up on the use of money advanced to farmers to purchase seed.

T. Weed Harvey, administrative officer in charge of the St. Louis, Mo., seed loan office, wrote to Stall saying that many instances have been revealed wherein loans made for seed, livestock and agricultural rehabilitation have been used for expenditures other than that for which they were authorized by law.

Harvey intimated the persons using the loans irregularly would be prosecuted.

The government also will collect every cent of the loans, Harvey said.

His letter, in part, said:

"It has been reported to this office from some sections of the official seed loan territory attached to the St. Louis office, that the United States government does not seriously contemplate the collection of these loans when they are due this fall. Such reports should be corrected at once, since this office is already making extensive plans for collection of these loans.

"Loans made by the United States government from the $45,000,000 appropriation, as well as the $20,000,000 fund are secured by a mortgage on the 1931 crop and it will be unlawful for any mortgagor to sell any part of this crop without applying the proceeds of such sales to the note held by the federal government. Payment of these loans must be made from the proceeds of the first crops sold. Any violations of the foregoing will be severely prosecuted."

French Chef And Tub For Hunters

SALEM, Ore., April 24—Johnny Jones, big game guide in the Yukon carries a bathtub and a French cook among other things, when showing wealthy tourists where to bag game.

Jones makes 30 to 60 day trips into the wilds. His headquarters are at Skagway, where he keeps a string of 40 horses.

"A guide to be successful should arrange the best for his parties," Jones said. "Sportsmen make the trip with me usually in pairs, never more than five. I take a complete outfit for camp convenience, including a stove and bathtub. French cooks are the best and I always have one along."

German Architect Proposes Windowless "Earthscrapers"

By WALTER DIETZEL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

(International News Service)

BERLIN, April 24—"Earth-scrapers" without windows, where the occupants breathe artificial air, and daylight is excluded, are being advocated by Geo. W. Claudius, German architect, as the ideal working quarters of the future.

Claiming that artificial light and artificial air are much healthier and more suitable for the human system than daylight and fresh air, Claudius proposes the erection of huge light and airtight cubic buildings.

Such buildings, in the architect's opinion, would have a marked advantage over ordinary ones. People could work there at any chosen depth under the earth, and there would be practically no limit to underground construction, just as at present there seems to be almost no limit to sky-scraper construction.

Claudius also favors a scheme by which all traffic in futuristic cities should be directed across the flat and levelled roofs of his sub-terranean 'earth-scrapers."

The German architect has formulated his futuristic building program as follows:

Windows are disadvantages from the modern viewpoint of hygienic airing, because by opening them, you let in the air from outside replete with dust, noise, bad smell and dangerous bacteria.

Windows increase the costs of heating.

Windows are by no means ideal light spenders. Modern electric light is a perfect substitute for daylight and much more suitable to the human system than the former.

Window-less buildings allow underground construction down to any chosen number of stories, and, if built equally high, the flat roofs of the 'earth's scrapers" form ideal thoroughfares for the traffic.

Occupants of window-less earth-scrapers are absolutely safe in case of gas attacks in future wars.

Artificial air, a mixture of twenty-five per cent oxygen and seventy-five per cent argon is not infected with bacteria and therefore much healthier for the human system.

Window-less earth-scrapers would promote business, especially the electric industries.

Claudius says be obtained his ideas about window-less buildings when he studied sky-scraper building in the United States and his futuristic "earth-scrapers" are modelled after the New York sky-scrapers turned downward.

Young Jesuit Succeeds "Padre Of The Rains"

(International News Service)

WESTON, Mass., April 24.—Upon the youthful shoulders of Rev. Raymond J. Buckley, S. J. of the Jesuit college here has fallen the task of succeeding the late Father Ricard, famous astronomer and known as "The Padre of the Rains," as head of the observatory at Santa Clara, Cal. University.

Fr. Buckley, who is only 32 years old, was a teacher of science in one of the Jesuit colleges prior to coming to Weston college and studied under Father Ricard, who regarded the young scientist as one of his most promising students.

Upon his arrival at Santa Clara Fr. Buckley will immediately assume his duties at the observatory and also officiate as professor of mathematics.

Fr. Buckley was chosen to take this important position because it is said he thoroughly understands the theories of the late Fr. Ricard.

Police Dog Mourns Death Of Officer

TORONTO, Ont., April 24—"Dusty" a police dog, was the inseperable companion of Captain James Kennedy, former officer of the Queen's Own Rifles, and Boer war veteran.

Unconsolable at the death of his master "Dusty" tried several times to jump into the casket beside Captain Kennedys body before the funeral. Shut out of the room where his master's body lay "Dusty" jumped upon the late captain's armchair and refused to move.

The pet has been sent away temporarily.

Cleveland's Famed Hot Tamale Vendor Dead

CLEVELAND, April 24.—Gateano Messina, 68, who as "Hot Tamale Joe" was known to all Clevelanders, is dead. He died as he had lived for 53 years, pushing his cart through darkened streets while shouting his familiar but mysterious cry: "Chic-a-labo, skelliboochi." He had always refused to reveal the meaning of these strange words.

With $40 in his pockets, Messina came to Cleveland to establish himself as a hot tamale vendor. It was his boast that he doubled his original stake nightly. At any rate, he saved money, purchased property, put two sons through college, one of whom is now a physician, and in his later years, spent his winters in California or Honolulu where he maintained residences.

Women To Manage California Prison

SACREMENTO, Calif., April 24—An Alpin village 4000 feet high in the Techachapi Mountains soon will materializing feminine ideas of how a prison for women should be designed and run.

There will be no "grim gray walls" no watch towers, no heavy barred windows, cell blocks or armed guards.

The superintendent and all other employes, so far as practicable, will be women, yet it will house at the outset 120 inmates now confined in San Quetin penitentiary and ultimately will have accommodations for a maximum of 500.

The new experiment in penology starts out with the idea in mind that the best penitentiary for women is the one which looks the least like one and which has a "corrective" rather than a punitive atmosphere.

One Man Caged With Twenty-Five Lions and Ten Tigers Proves He Is Master

At an Early Age Clyde Beatty's Love for Animals Led Him to a Post in the Zoo—Today He Ranks Among the World's Leading Trainers of Savage Beasts.

Lion taming according to Clyde Beatty, of circus fame, has, like all other pursuits, its ups and downs. He daily demonstrates before circus fans and during rehearsal that the mighty king of the jungle has met a master. Not content with making lions and tigers go through their paces for the amusement of a thrill loving audience, this 24-year-old young man from Chillicothe, Ohio, locks himself into a cage full of lions and tigers, all ready to pounce on him if he should show the slightest sign of wavering. He is unable to describe the power which he holds over the savage beasts but asserts that fearlessly looking a wild beast in the eye will many times calm him. Still, he does not advise a foolhardy attempt at this as a means of safety. Neither does he advise others to emulate him.

WEEK-END COTTAGE BECOMES PERMANENT HOME

A small week-end cottage built on land which was found attractive for week-ends but a bit too wild for permanent living was the start of the house pictured, belonging to Mr. and Mrs. William A. Greer of Locust Valley, L. I., N. Y. During the short stays the flower boxes and beds, as well as the enlargement of the house were visualized. Inset is the early English Renaissance doorway of the house. The house itself has brick walls painted white with half timber work of oak.

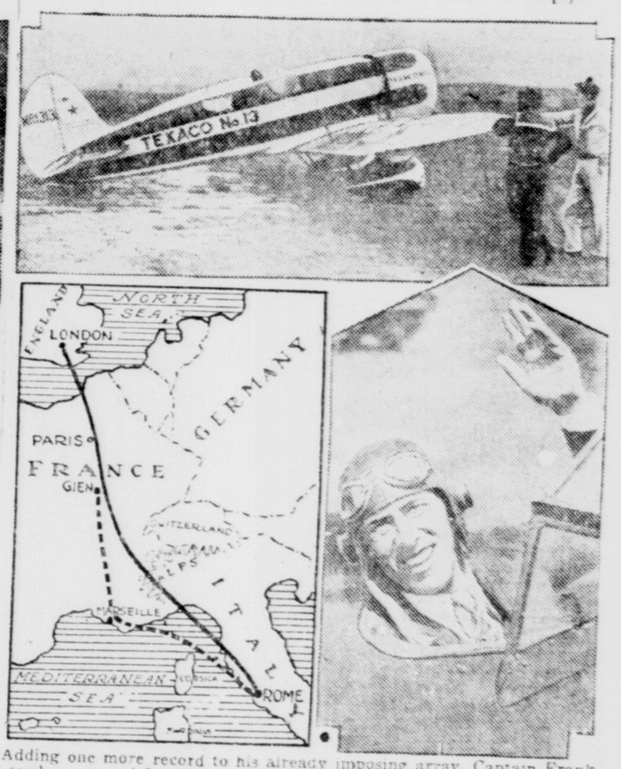
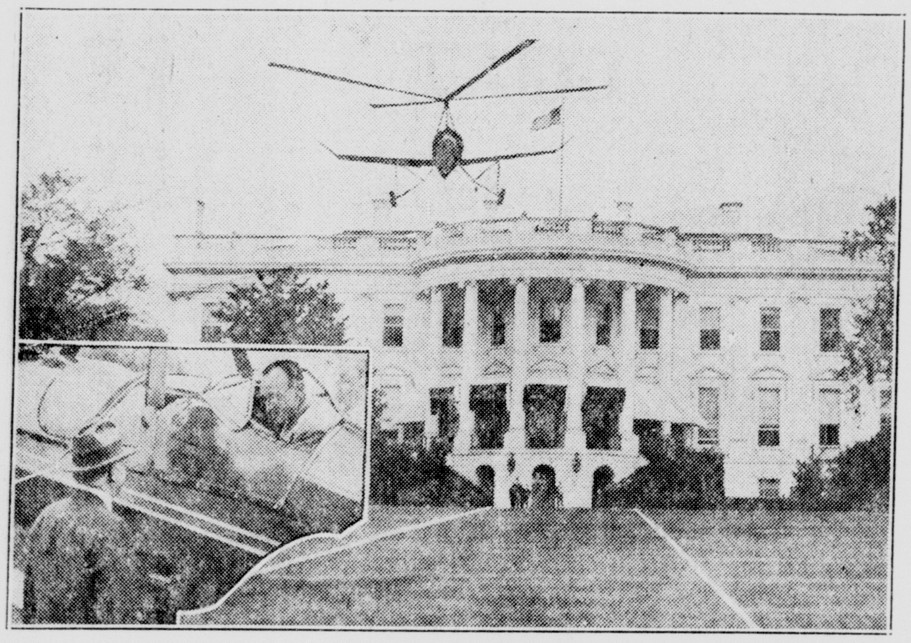
Accident Mars Record Flight



Adding one more record to his already imposing array, Captain Frank Hawkes, started his European series of inter-city record attempts by flying from London, Eng., to Rome, Italy, in 5 hours and twenty minutes, covering the 914 miles in less than half the previous record time of 12 hours and a half held by Kingsford-Smith. Hawkes was well on his way to establishing a round-trip record until forced down at Gien, 100 miles south of Paris, by bad weather and fuel shortage. Black line on map shows course from London to Rome and dotted line the return course. Top photo was made on the occasion of Hawkes' visit to Cherbourg, France, and shows the famous pilot about to take off in his equally famous Texaco 13.

Autogyro Drops In On President



For the first time in history an aircraft landed on the grounds of the White House when James G. Ray piloted an autogyro down beside the Executive Mansion, on the south lawn. The occasion was when President Hoover presented the Collier Trophy for the greatest achievement in aviation in America during 1930 to Harold F. Pitcairn for his work in the development of the autogyro in this country. Picture shows the windmill plane gently alighting on the White House lawn. Inset is President Hoover congratulating the pilot.

Activities At Field Club Are Now Under Way

Greens Opened Two Weeks Ago, The Earliest In History Of Club

COMMITTEES WORK OUT HANDICAPS

Activities at the New Castle Field Club are now under way, although the official opening of the club will not take place until May 30, President Walter Duff stated today.

The greens were opened two weeks ago, the earliest in the history of the club and almost a month sooner than they were last year. Despite unusual weather conditions during the past year, they are in excellent condition and many members are taking advantage of the fact to get into early golfing form.

The drouth of last summer and the unusually open winter seem to have had little effect on the greens and they are in excellent shape for play.

The professional's shop and the caddy house have been opened and almost seventy-five per cent of the members have already taken their clubs out of storage and placed them in the racks at the club house.

Members are now turning in their scores for their handicaps, which the golf committee expects to have worked out and posted before the official opening date.

James B. Mathews has been named chairman of the golf committee for the coming season and is planning a number of activities for the coming season.

Usually the fairways are pretty wet and soggy at this season of the year, particularly on holes four, five, eight, and twelve, Mr. Duff states, but this year they are unusually dry and the turf is in almost perfect condition.

Harry Moore has been named as greens keeper again this year, assuring the members of the club that the course will be kept in good shape throughout the summer.

Performance Of Contract Decreed In Exchange Deal

Court Holds That W. Claire Smiley Must Go Through With Agnes Rhodes Agreement

W. Claire Smiley must go through with a deal for an exchange of property with Mrs. Agnes M. Rhodes, according to an opinion handed down by Judge Hildebrand at court this morning. Mrs. Rhodes owns a property at 309 Highland avenue and Smiley owns an apartment house at the southeast corner of Moody and Highland avenue, known as 816 Highland avenue.

On July 30th, 1929 an article of agreement was signed between the parties for the exchange of property. Mrs. Rhodes property was to be conveyed free of encumbrances. There was a first mortgage of $24,000, and a second mortgage of $2500 on the Smiley property.

The Smiley property was to be conveyed free of all encumbrances except $12,000, and the Rhodes property free of encumbrance. After the agreement was signed Smiley attempted to get a loan of $12,000 on the property which he was to get from Mrs. Rhodes. It was said that Mrs. Rhodes knew that an effort was to be made to get this loan and tried to help get it.

Smiley was unable to negotiate the loan and therefore was unable to go through with the contract. An equity suit followed.

In the opinion handed down by Judge Hildebrand he holds that the agreement does not show that the deal was contingent on getting the loan, but that it was a straight contract for exchange.

In the court's opinion W. Claire Smiley is enjoined from encumbering the property at 816 Highland and 324 Moody avenue, and from selling to any other person other than Mrs. Rhodes, and further it is held that W. Claire Smiley specifically perform his contract with Mrs. Rhodes and convey the said premises at 816 Highland avenue to her free of encumbrance, except $12,000, as provided in the article of agreement and that he accept a deed from Mrs. Rhodes for her property free of encumbrance, at 309 Highland avenue.

Senator Davis Gives Advice To Students

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, April 24.—The senior graduating class at South Hills high school carried with it today a blanket text, "Honor Your Father and Mother," delivered by Senator James J. Davis.

In an informal address to the students, Senator Davis said:

"Never be ashamed of your parents. No matter how poor or illiterate they are, or how twisted and gnarled their hands from work, be proud of each bend in their backs.

"If their clothes are shabby, it's because they are giving you a chance."

She headed a delegation from thirty-seven countries in a visit to President and Mrs. Hoover.

Lawrence County Men Present Important Bill In State Legislature

Lawrence County's members in the General Assembly from the second district, Hon. William G. McElwee, Jr. of New Wilmington, Pa., is receiving state wide attention for the congressional re-appointment bill which he presented this week. The bill was presented at the request of the Pennsylvania State Elections Association and has the endorsement of the administration.

Mr. McElwee's bill is one of three such measures. One presented by Senator John J. McClure of Delaware County is known as the Philadelphia Organization bill. This leaves the Philadelphia Congressional situation in the same uneven balance it has been for twenty years. The 26th district, Lawrence Beaver and Butler counties, is left in the same shape as it now is.

Spangler Bill a "Stray"

A bill presented by Representative Robert S. Spangler of York County is more or less of a "stray." Nobody seems to know why it was presented or for what reason. To the already large 26th district, Spangler would add Mercer County which would make this district topheavy.

The McElwee bill is considered to be the most representative proportioned bill of the lot. His bill is arranged upon a strictly mathematical basis, with each district containing few more or less than the average congressional population which is approximately 290,000.

It is interesting to note that in the listings of population, the 26th district stands out as the largest congressional district in the state, with perhaps the exception of one or two districts in the Germantown district in Philadelphia. The population of the 26th district is 326,800.

The fate of the congressional apportionment bills is problematical. It is conceded that the McElwee bill is the fairest bill of them all, but because it is so fair it does not suit the whims of the Philadelphia machine leaders. The McClure bill is their choice but this may not suit the independent element in the General Assembly. The Spangler Bill will probably get pickled in committee as it deserves. The probabilities are that the final draft of the congressional reapportionment will be a compromise between the McClure and the McElwee bills and might be reported out as the McClure-McElwee bill. Reapportionment is vitally necessary at the present time as unless this session passes such a bill, all congressmen, must be elected at large in the election of 1932.

Other Reapportionments

Representative A. L. Sheffer, of Mifflin County has presented a Judicial reapportionment bill which does not disturb the situation in Lawrence County but does add a judge to Mercer county. It makes a separate judicial district of Mifflin County, combines Bedford and Huntingdon counties, combines Potter and Tioga Counties and gives an Orphans Court judge to Dauphin County. This is a Pennyslvania Elections Association bill.

Another Pennsylvania Elections Associations bill is that of Representative Bart Richards of Lawrence County which is a Legislative Reapportionment bill. This is also an administration measure and has the antipathy of the Philadelphia delegation as it reduces their number to forty, from forty one, adds one to Allegheny County's 27, adds one to Luzerne and Delaware and takes one away from Dauphin and Cambraia. The total of the House under the new bill would be 209 instead of 208 as at present. The present situation in Lawrence County is not disturbed.

Other bills presented by Richards during the week were a bill to regulate the method of electing county and state committee men, with the stipulation that in the state committee, two shall be elected from each senatorial district, one of which must be a woman. Another bill is designed to enforce the mandate of the people of a district which has voted to adopt voting machines, but which mandate has not been carried out by the county commissioners.

During the Tuesday evening session of the House Richards was asked by Speaker Goodnough to act as speaker in his absence. For about an hour the Lawrence County member wielded the gavel and during that time the bill providing for the collection of gasoline tax at source instead of from the retailer, as at present was passed.

Three Children Are Rescued In Fire at Bradenville, Penna

State Police Effect Rescue Of Three Children In Flames Swept Home

(International News Service)

GREENSBURG, Pa., April 24. — State police today rescued three children, imperiled by flames which destroyed a two-story frame dwelling at Bradenville, 12 miles east of here.

The home was occupied by Mrs. Tony Savenelli, the children, and Mr. and Mrs. Domineck Agnostine. The children had accompanied Mrs. Savenelli to the Agnostine home while their father was away.

The troopers were returning from patrol duty when they discovered the flames and the predicament of the children. Latrobe and Derry firemen answered the call for aid.

Hayes Arrives For Meeting

Harrisburg Credit Bureau Head To Address Local Bureau Members

James S. Hayes, manager of the Harrisburg Credit bureau, arrived here this morning, in preparation for the meeting of the New Castle Credit bureau this evening, when he will address members on the various phases of credit work in which all are interested.

Mr. Hayes spoke to members of the Meadville Credit bureau last evening, where he was given an enthusiastic reception. Next week he will be in New York, where he will lecture for three days on credit subjects.

He assisted in the organization of the New Castle Credit bureau four years ago, and started the local institution out on the right foot. It has been functioning most successfully ever since.

There will be a good representation of the membership of the credit bureau at the dinner this evening in Trinity church and they are assured of an interesting talk by Mr Hayes, and one which will undoubtedly help them in their credit problems.

Youthful Slayers Stand Indicted In Death Of Trooper

(International News Service)

TROY, N. Y., April 24.—William Schemnitzer and Stanley Chero, Broughton, Pa., youths, today were indicted by the Rensselaer county grand jury on a charge of first degree murder.

The two youths are charged with the slaying of Sergeant John E. Frey, of the New York State police. Frey was killed, the state charged, while taking the two youths to jail to question them regarding a stolen automobile.

Reward Offered For Arrest Of Escaped Gunman

Reward Of $500 Placed On Head Of Frank Mitchell For Alleged Slaying

(International News Service)

BOWLING GREEN, O., April 24—Spurred by the death of Patrolman Ralph Castner, 26, from injuries received in a gun battle in which "Billy the Killer" Miller, formerly of Ambridge, was killed, Wood county authorities today offered a reward of $500 for information leading to the arrest of Frank Mitchell, Miller's pal, who escaped after the shooting.

A first degree murder charge will be filed against Mitchell when he is captured, authorities said. Mitchell escaped from a train several months ago while enroute to Ohio penitentiary to begin serving a term of from 12 to 25 years for a bank robbery. Officials hold him responsible for Castner's death.

Beulah Baird, who was with Miller and Mitchell, was wounded in the gun fray. Her sister Rose is under arrest.

Overblouses are returning to marked favor.

Prisoner Asks For Longer Term

(International News Service)

NEW HAVEN, Conn., April 24.—Benny Seigel, of Hartford, traded a jail sentence of eight months for a term of a year and a day in the Federal prison at Atlanta.

Completing two months of his jail sentence for violation of the Federal narcotics act, Seigel petitioned Judge Carroll C. Hincks for a term in Atlanta.

When he declared he was suffering from diabetes and expected to get good hospital treatment at Atlanta, Siegel was granted his petition.

Aliquippa Music Students Present Program At Lincoln High

ELLWOOD CITY, April 24.—The students of Lincoln high school were given a real treat Thursday afternoon as the members of the musical department of the Aliquippa high school presented a musical pageant in the Lincoln auditorium.

The modern stage of the auditorium was profitably used to portray certain effects. It had been cleverly set for the occasion. The costumes proved to be very dazzling and some clever dancing was performed.

The purpose of this program was to portray in song and dance from a contrast between the classical schcol of music, and what is termed "jazz"

Ellwood Girl Scouts Are Ready For Program At Wurtemburg

ELLWOOD CITY, April 24—A pageant "Blessing the House" will be the main feature of the program of the Ellwood City Scouts when they dedicate their little house in Wurtemburg on Saturday at 2:30 p. m.

Attractive invitations have been sent to civic organizations of this city and to Girl Scouts of other communities.

The three principal parts in the pageant are to be taken by Mary Jane Johnston as "Light Bearer," Gretna Lemery as "The Bearer and Helen Pawol as Fast Bearer. Those in the special chorus are Betty Gilchrist, Alice Marie Wright, Elizabeth Musselman, Katherine Krah, Margaret Klenidenst, Edith Worcester, Gertrude Jones, Mary Smith, Evelyn Crams, Mary Bell, Betty Gearhart, and Helen Burkett. The violin accompaniment will be played by Elizabeth Caughey.

Preceding the pageant a short program will be given including the scout ceremony of repeating the scout promise and the pledge of allegiance to the flag. There will be singing of negro spiritual and a gypsy song and a folk dance by 20 girls scouts.

After the dedication services have been completed the guests will have an opportunity to inspect the house.

The arrangements for the entire program are under the direction of Mrs. J. Emmett Libendordfer of the Girl Scout Council. The chairman of the various committees are Mrs. Frances Tomasson, Mrs. L. S. Springer, Miss Mary Rhoads, Mrs. Max Groden and Mrs. John Hough. Miss Kelley of the Central School is training the girls in the folk dances.

The buses in Wurtemburg will leave the Central School at 2:00 p. m. and the Ewing Park Bridge at 2:10. Boy Scouts will be at the bus stop in Wurtemburg to direct the way to Girl Scout House. If the day is rainy the exercises will be postponed until the following Saturday.

ELLWOOD CITY, April 24.—The King's Daughters Bible class held their regular meeting last night in the ladies parlors of the U. P. church.

Mrs. Jennie Sarver, vice-president of the society due to the illness of the president presided on this occasion. There were 18 members present on the occasion.

The usual business meeting was first held at which time plans were completed for selling tickets for the mothers and daughters banquet to be held in early May. Also other matters had come up for consideration.

At an appointed hour a delicious luncheon was served by a committee as a concluding event of the meeting.

The hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. Robert Callahan, Mrs. John McKim, and Miss Martha McKim.

Black jewelry is expected to have a renewel vogue this spring. Jet and onyx will be worn with many black and white costumes.

Firemen Answer Call This Morning

Loss Of $350 Is Estimate For Blaze On Division Avenue

ELLWOOD CITY, April 24.—The Ellwood City fire department was called about 10:15 this morning to cope with a fire at 417 Division avenue.

The building was a one-story frame structure owned by Antonio Linardo of McKeesport and occupied by Joe Saliamaeo and family. An overheated stove set fire to some clothes hanging near by and the flames spread rapidly. There was no one home at the time, the family being out shopping.

Fire Chief H. T. Plante estimates the damage at $350. It is not known whether there is any insurance covering the loss.

Aged Pioneer Is Dead In Pittsburgh

Henry Steffler Dies At Age Of 90 Years—Was Early Merchant Here

ELLWOOD CITY, April 4.—Henry Steffler, aged 90, of Pittsburgh, and pioneer resident of Ellwood City passed away at his home on Atlantic avenue, Pittsburgh, Thursday afternoon at 1:15.

Mr. Steffler was a pioneer merchant of this community, having a place of business in Wurtemburg and Lillyville before Ellwood City was planned. For the past 35 years he had been a contractor in Pittsburgh.

The deceased is survived by his widow, Mrs. Matilda Mehard Steffler; a brother, Charles Steffler of Camp Run; two daughter, Mrs. Lilly Brown of Beaver Falls and Mrs. Christina MacValia; two sons, Attorney Robert F. Steffler and Dr. Sam Steffler of Pittsburgh.

Funeral services will be held from the residence Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the Shadyside U. P. church.

Quota Club Is Entertained On Thursday Night

ELLWOOD CITY, April 24.—Miss Louise Barton was hostess to the members of the Quota club and several special guests at their regular meeting last night at her home on Glen avenue.

This meeting was purposely a recreational one with bridge being the chief diversion of the evening. There were 11 tables at play and the room was gorgeously decorated in snapdragons, margurites, and other flowers and presented a lovely appearance.

At the conclusion of the games Miss Grace Anderson and Mrs. Earle Yahn were presented the first and second prizes respectively. The door prize was won by Miss Minnie Jenkins.

A delectable menu served by the hostess assisted by Miss Elizabeth Patton, Mrs. Nora Moyer, Mrs. Ada Hennon, Mrs. Clara Smith, and Miss Mable Long.

The next will be a strictly business meeting held at the home of Mrs. Harry Zeigler on Crescent avenue on May 4.

Just before the meeting closed Mrs. Catherine Charles told of the aims of the club and the work being done at present.

T. N. T. Club Members Are Entertained

ELLWOOD CITY, April 24.—With delightful hospitality Mrs. Herman Wilson entertained the members of the T. N. T. club at her home on Fountain avenue last night.

Besides the regular club members there were several special guests present on the occasion with five tables of bridge being at play. At the conclusion of the games it was found that Mrs. Carl Davidson and Mrs. Audley Cunningham were the prize winners for the special guests and Mrs. Jack Boyle and Mrs. Steve Peck were presented the club prizes.

Later in the evening a delicious luncheon was served by the hostess being assisted by Mrs. W. E. Bayers and Mrs. C. R. O'Neil.

Mrs. Bayers will entertain the club at her home on Pershing street in two weeks at their next regular meeting.

ELLWOOD CITY, April 24.—Miss Lillian Anderson was a charming hostess to the members of the O. N. T. club last night at her home on Ninth street.

Bridge occupied the attention of the members for the greater part of the evening with two tables being at play. At a later hour when the games were concluded Mrs. Edward Eichenlaub and Miss Roberta Haswell were the first and second prize winners respectively.

An added pleasure was a delicious luncheon served by the hostess and assisted by her mother Mrs. W. Anderson, in the beautiful surroundings of spring flowers.

The club will meet again in two weeks at the home of Miss Bessella Caplan on Crescent avenue.

Ladies Surprise Rotary Members

Attend Meeting In Body Thursday Night—Rabbi Philo Speaks

ELLWOOD CITY, April 24—The members of the Rotary Club received a complete surprise at their regular meeting last night in the First Presbyterian church, when their wives marched in on them in a body.

The ladies had gathered at the home of Mrs. J. W. Humphrey on Spring Avenue and had proceeded to the church and while the dinner was being served they gave a program. Mrs. Edward Mackasek rendered a solo which was followed by an interesting reading by Mrs. Harry Reynolds. The concluding event of this program was a beautiful solo by Mrs. Richard Hawke. Immediately following this all adjourned to the auditorium where a great crowd had gathered to hear Dr. I. E. Philo, Rabbie of Temple Rodef Sholem of Youngstown, Ohio.

Rabbi Philo is an authority on international problems and the Rotary Club had invited the public to hear him.

The speaker had chosen as his subject "The Rotary and International Peace." He explained that Rotary is an international organization with a foothold in nearly every country of the world and therefore has a great opportunity to advocate international peace and serving the world in many ways. Also he discussed the outlawry of war and the great part this organization had to play.

The fine crowd was fell repaid for being present on this occasion after hearing Rabbi Philo's address.

Auto Built In 1868 Is Titled But Fails To Qualify For Tags

HARRISBURG, April 24.—The State Bureau of Motor Vehicles has issued a certificate of title covering what appears to be the oldest gasoline motor vehicle in the United States and perhaps in the world. James F. Hill, of Fleetwood, Berks county, claims to have built the car in 1868. Certificate of title No. 2-916,413 has been issued for it to Daniel S. Shade, of Fleetwood.

In an affidavit made before Charles V. Glynn, notary public, of Fleetwood, Hill declares he built the car in 1868 and operated it along the roads in Fleet wood and vicinity. He also asserts that about 1905 he received state permit No. 56 allowing him to drive the car and for which he paid $2. Shade says he bought the car from Hill about 1922.

The car has iron tires, is of the roadster type and has a two-cylinder engine capable of 7.2 horse-power. Head lamps and tail lamp are fitted with candles. Because its equipment fails to meet the present standard of safety as required by the vehicle code, the bureau has declined to issue license tags. If it is to move over the highways, it will have to be towed by one of its more modern descendants. Hill says the car was built as an experiment.

In a letter to Benjamin G. Eynon, commissioner of motor vehicles, Glynn quotes Hill as making the following statement before Fleetwood residents who saw him making the car as well as operating it:

"I built the car for my own amusement, as I always wanted to do something mechanical, in 1868, and in my capacity as stationary engineer of a small plant here I had the use of machine tools. I first used a two-cylinder steam engine, size 2½ by 5 inches built by myself A Peter Reahm, of Reading, Pa., made a boiler for me. The boiler was fired by two gasoline burners, but I had trouble to carry sufficient steam to satisfactorily operate the engine. In fact I was afraid to blow up the copper boiler, so after a few weeks of experimenting I discarded the steam boiler and engine and replaced same with a single cylinder gasoline engine, 7-inch stroke by 3½-inch bore designed and made by myself.

"It did run the car but had not sufficient power to pull it up much of a hill and when I tried it out on the road or on the street I was chased away as a nuisance. Becoming tired and disgusted with the idea, I put the car away until 1908 when I designed and built the present two-cylinder gas engine which is now in the car. From 1869 to 1908, I made about eight different types of gas engines as experiments."

Delving into "Americana" (1923), the Title Section of the Bureau finds that the actual beginning of the automobile gasoline engine is traced to Beau de Rochas and the Belgian inventor, Jean Joseph Etienne Lenoir, and to the exhibition of an engine of this type by Lenoir in Paris in 1878. Hills' first engine would antedate this by ten years. Gottlieb Daimler, Stuttgart, Germany, and Karl Benz, Mannheim, Germany, are credited by Americana with producing operative gasoline automobile in 1884, sixteen years after Hill declares he and his car were chased from the streets of Fleetwood.

"Horseless Vehicle With Explosive Motors," published in 1901, fixes the appearance of the motor car in the United States as follows: "The Duryeas took up the experimental line in automobile motors in the United States in 1886, and after five years of personal effort produced their first motor vehicle in 1891." Hill's car then was twenty-three years old.

Executives Meet To Aid Industry In New England

(International News Service)

BOSTON, Mass., April 24.—Fourteen recommendations were included in a working program for New England industry in 1931 made by 739 leading business men and compiled by the industrial committee of the New England Council.

Business executives were asked to recommend the steps which, in their opinion, should be included in a practical and ideal working program during the present year.

Replies were received from numerous manufacturers in all lines of industry which were analyzed and the result compiled by the council in the order of their importance as shown by the number of executives recommending them.

The first recommendations made by 534 executives was to "hold layoffs to a minimum" by eliminating overtime and if necessary reducing weekly hours. It is better to provide half time work for the full force than to provide full time work for half the force and allow the other half to become unemployed, according to the executives.

Aggressive merchandising was urged by 501 executives in the second recommendation. Past sales should be analyzed for the most profitable lines, according to the suggestion by the executives. Improved quality, better packaging, the development of new uses for present products and of new products to meet new conditions, were among the steps included in the recommendation.

The improvement of the employe's morale was made in the third recommendation by 448 business men in their ballots. This could be done, it was suggested, by keeping employes informed regarding the progress of the company's efforts for the maintenance of steady work for them, and maintain wages and working conditions on a level that enables the employe to prosper as well here as elsewhere.

The remaining recommendations suggested the encouragement of normal buying, urged householders to clean up paint and repair, the overhauling of machinery and equipment, development and plant modernization programs and numerous other suggestions.

The program was distributed to more than 5,000 New England manufacturers and to several thousand other business men and executives.

Urge Passage Of Highway Measure

PITTSBURGH, April 24.—Passage of a bill to permit the state highway department to trim hedges which interfere with the vision of drivers was urged here this week by the Pittsburgh Motor Club. The bill was introduced to the legislature by Representative G. D. Sheeley of New Oxford, Pa.

In indorsing the bill, the legislative committee of the Motor Club stated that such a law is necessary to promote safety on state highways, and it will not place a burden on property owners.

The proposed law provides that the state may charge property owners for the cost of trimming hedges. It also provides that hedges may not extend more than 18 inches beyond the border of state highway land.

HEAD IS CLEAR MORNINGS NOW

All Clogged Up From Catarrh Before He Used World's Tonic

"I want another bottle of World's Tonic Treatment," said a young 32 year old farmer who lives near New Castle, Penna., as he walked into the World's Tonic drug store yesterday.

"I have already used one bottle and it is the best thing for catarrh that I've found," he continued.

"My Catarrh was so bad that I awakened every morning with my nose and throat all choked up with mucous matter and it would take ten minutes of hawking and spitting to clear it out. All day long mucous would drip down my throat and I had to hawk and spit constantly. I was becoming uneasy, too, because some of the mucous I spit up was tinged with blood and I was afraid my lungs might be affected. I also had a slight cough and some asthma and had started losing flesh. I had to take different kinds of medicines every night to get my bowels to move.

"I used several different medicines that you apply right in your nose and throat, but they didn't do me much good. In fact, nothing I ever tried helped me very much until I started using World's Tonic. This treatment is relieving my catarrh entirely. I spit up very little mucous now and I'm glad to say that there are no signs of blood on any I do spit up. In the morning I awaken with my head and nose feeling clear instead of clogged up."

World's Tonic is different from anything you ever tried. It is a systemic treatment intended to fight catarrh not only in the head and throat but all over the system. That's why it brings such amazing results. Sold at Eckerd's, McKee's, Paisley, Smith's and by all other good druggists.

Stage Money May End Robberies

Painting Firm Has Scheme To To Foil Bank Bandits

(International News Service)

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 24.—An enterprising printing firm here has advanced a novel idea for foiling bank robbers, who in 1930 held up 45 Indiana banks and secured more than $200,000 in loot.

"Stage money" is the solution for bank robberies according to the printing company.

The bank cashier's cage ought to be well stocked with 'stage money" made in enticing stacks with genuine bills on top and bottom. Placed in places where cashiers are in the habit of leaving stacks of real currency the printing company believes the bandits would grab the fake money stacks and dash off with them.

For less than $7 the printing company offered to provide a bank with 3,000 of the stage bank notes.

"Imagine how discouraged a hard working bank robber would get if after raiding a bank, running a gauntlet of bullets from vigilantes and making an auto dash to safety he started to count his ill-gotten gains and found them to be worthless," the printing company pointed out.

Police Get No Fun From Their Radios

San Francisco Coppers Get Crime News From Air

(International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, April 24. — San Francisco police have their radios, but they don't offer any amusement to toil worn cops.

Forty police autos are equipped with radios. The cars are continually patroling the city. The radios pick up messages broadcast from police headquarters. On receipt of a message the nearest cars speed to the scene of the holdup, murder, fire, riot or minor disturbances.

But during the "quiet" hours there is no picking up of jazz melodies, fight accounts, speeches or news bulletins. The police broadcasting station has eliminated this. It operates on a private wave length. The receiving sets on the police cars are tuned in on the police wave and then locked so they can receive only the one station.

Because of the low wave length home radios are unable to pick up the police broadcast.

Theatre Audiences Crave Chance To Express Selves

By DAVID P. SENTER
International News Service
Dramatic Editor
(Copyright, 1931, by International News Service)

NEW YORK, April 24.—I saw a meek looking man come out of the theatre playing "Right of Happiness" and sock a six-foot policeman right on the button. It seemed to be uncalled for as the policeman was minding his own business.

I saw an most unimpeachably dressed gentleman in a high silk hat come out of the theatre playing "Lady Beyond the Moon" and filch the coins from the tin cup of a blind beggar.

Of course, the blind man pursued the filcher and identified him positively but that has nothing to do with the principle involved.

* * *

It comes from attempting to suppress the self-expression of an audience. You cannot suppress perspiration, volcanoes, masculine vanity or feminine conversation. And it hardly seems the sporting thing to do to try and bottle up the feelings of an audience when the actors and actresses in certain productions are given free speech under the conventions.

In both the aforementioned presentations there were individual smothered outburts. There were various remarks made from hysterical auditors but under the self-conscious technique of their delivery customers in the rear of the second balcony could not catch all the syllables. And there was not the boom, the let-go, the power and sweep to the oral notations that is so charming in the critical outbursts at baseball games and prize fighting contests.

There is a vital need for some such architectural addition to the theatre as the "pit" of the Elizabethan days. Them were the days when a lad could bellow his approbation or disapprobation of what was occurring on the stage.

It undoubtedly made for better art. It keyed the performers upward and put mettle in their work. It also added leather to the lungs which makes for a healthier theatre.

"Right of Happiness" is about a famous surgeon who discovers the boy with a short leg on whom he is about to operate is his illegitimate son.

"Lady Beyond the Moon," is supposedly about sex.

Follies To Be Revived

The Ziegfield Follies, famed for its beauties which have made and unmade many a man, will blossom forth again in June after a cessation of four years.

Florenz Ziegfield, the glorifier, will present his Follies in his own theatre, thereby breaking a twenty year old tradition.

A brand new set of beautiful faces (and legs) will be gathered from the furthermost corners of the earth so it is intimated.

Walter Donaldson is writing the tunes and Joe McCarthy the lyrics. The book will be by James Montgomery.

* * *

Kiss the well-known stage door keeper good-bye and say hello to his successor.

Earl Carroll says that when his new theatre opens in July that instead of the door man at the stage entrance he will have two pretty girls on duty. They will be in uniform.

We soon become accustomed to the various stages of progress. It won't be long until a flock of airplanes flying over the city will be accepted simply as so much noise. —The Toledo Blade.

Working Way Up

Working at the humble task of selling tickets and directing passengers, for which he receives $20 per week, Felix du Pont, son of E. I. du Pont, vice-president of du Pont de Nemours and Co., is shown at his desk in a Washington, D. C., air line company. The lad is an aviation enthusiast and hopes to make it his career.

Capitol Employes Must Be Courteous

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Pa., April 24. — Capitol police, guides and elevator men at the Pennsylvania state house are "the government," and any discourtesies to visitors will cost them their jobs, state house employees were warned by J. F. Malone, superintendent of property and supplies.

"You are the government as far as the public is concerned," Malone told them. "You may think the visitors a lot of questioning yokels, but they pay your salary and mine, and must be treated courteously."

Scientist Offers Strange Solution

(International News Service)

LANCASTER, Pa., April 24.—The earth is a ball of water on which the continents float, and ocean beds are just false bottoms a couple of hundred miles thick, Albert Gamble, itinerant scientist, declared here.

Gamble, en route to New York from Texas, paused long enough to enunciate his favorite theory and to discuss a forthcoming book in which he hopes to prove it.

Expect Revolvers To Cause Arrest

ALTOONA, Pa., April 24. — Two "jinx" revolvers stolen from a sporting goods store here among other articles may lead to arrest of the six men who looted the store.

Twice before the revolvers have been stolen. Each time the weapons were recovered and the thieves sentenced to prison terms.

Police believe that the charm of the "jinx" guns will not fail the third time.

"How Children Learn" To Be Told By Myers

By GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.
Head Division, Parental Education, Cleveland College, Western Reserve University.

"How Little Children Learn" is the title of my latest series of radio addresses, one each Tuesday morning at 10:45 o'clock, eastern standard time, over WTAM in Cleveland. To all listeners who write in, a reading list is sent free.

There are many interesting facts about the new-born baby and the child during the first few years which have been made available in the last few years.

You would like to know about the infant's physical equipment and what he has to begin with as a little learner, how and when he learns to climb, creep and walk and use his hands; how he creates and develops his imagination, how he develops speech, the vocabulary of the average child at one year, two years, six years of age; how the child learns thorugh asking questions; when he begins to think and how his reasoning develops.

* * *

The books listed below will give you such facts and many others. Familiarity with such facts ought to enable us parents to enjoy our children more intelligently and to guide them more wisely. A good public library should have most of these books.

Blanton and Blanton, "Speech Training for Children," Century, New York, 1924; Buhler, Karl, "The Mental Development of the Child," Harcourt, Brace, New York, 1930; Faegre and Anderson, "Child Care and Training," University of Minnesota, Minneapolis, 1929; Fenton, Jessie C., "A Practical Psychology of Babyhood," Houghton, Mifflin, New York, 1925; Freeman, Frank N. "How Children Learn," Houghton, Mifflin, New York, 1917.

Gesell, Arnold, "Mental Growth of the Pre-School Child," and "The Guidance of Mental Growth in Infant and Child," Macmillan Co., New York, 1925; Goodenough, F. L., Measurement of Intelligence by Drawing," World Book, Yonkers, New York, 1926; Hollingsworth, H. L., "Mental Growth and Decline," Appleton, New York, 1927; Kirkwood, Julia, "The Learning Process in Young Children," University of Iowa Publications, Vol. III, No. 6, 1926; Koffka, Burt, "The Growth of the Mind," Harcourt, Brace, New York, 1927; Mathias, Margaret, "Beginning Art in the Public Schools," Scribner, New York, 1924; McCarthy, S. A., "Children's Drawings," William & Wilkins, Baltimore, 1924; Mearns, Hughes, "Creative Power," Doubleday, Doran, New York, 1929; Meeks, L. District Legion Meeting Planned

(International News Service)

ALLENTOWN, Pa., April 24.—Prominent citizens of Allentown, Catasaqua, Slatington, Reading, and nearby cities will be honored here May 6 at a meeting of the Fourteenth District of the Pennsylvania Department of the American Legion.

Posts from several Lehigh and Berks county towns will take part in the meeting, with about 3,000 Legionnaires present for the ceremonies. The occasion will be one for a triple celebration—of increase in the district membership, testimonials to posts who secured more than their quotas of new members and tribute to prominent citizens who have taken an interest in and aided the Legion in its drive.

Flier Refuses To Enter Coal Mine

(International News Service)

ASHLAND, Pa., April 24.—Martin Jensen, who flew the Pacific ocean, wouldn't go down in a coal mine here because he thought it was dangerous. Here on a sight-seeing trip, the transpacific flyer was invited to descend the shaft, but declined when he noticed the cage had only one cable.

"I don't think that car is safe with only one rope on it," said Jensen.

Horse Disappears In Big Sink Hole, But Is Recovered

(International News Service)

YORK, Pa., April 24.—There was once a fellow who lost a bass drum, but C. Allen May, farmer living north of here, bettered that record recently. May lost a horse.

Only a few minutes, however, May was plowing. He looked up from his work toward the road for a minute or so, turned around and his horse was gone.

Search disclosed the animal had fallen into a hole, caused by a sudden sinking of the earth. May summoned a tow-truck from a garage hoisted his horse back to earth.

Famous Landmark Will Be Removed

(International News Service)

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., April 24.—Widely known landmark of Revolutionary days, the Colonel Pickering homestead, which has stood on Main street, close to the central business section, here since colonial times, will be removed to Kirby Park for preservation as a historical relic.

Heirs of the estate have agreed to remove the old house, piece by piece, to the park where it will be set up and restored and used to house the valuable ornithological collection left to the city by the late Walter Campbell, West Pittston druggist and widely known ornithologist and taxidermist.

Dr. H. M. Beck has been named city ornithologist to have charge of the museum.

Forestry Students Battle Big Fire

(International News Service)

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., April 24.—Forestry students at the Pennsylvania State College got their first real taste of fire-fighting this spring when they were called out twice within 24 hours to aid in checking blazes which broke out in nearby woodlands.

Combating the first fire, which burned over about 200 acres, the students foresters were on the fire-line about three hours. When the second blaze broke out, rain came to the aid of the students and the fire was put out before it gained much headway.

Forestry students at the college are divided into four fire-fighting crews, which work under direction of the local fire warden.

Army Recruiting Officer Rewarded

(International News Service)

LEBANON, Pa., April 24.—A soldiers' medal, authorized by Congress for deeds of bravery not performed in face of an enemy, has been granted to Sergt. Clayton H. Fox, of the U. S. Army recruiting service here.

Sergt. Fox won the citation for the medal by capturing and subduing a gunman in Newark, N. J., three years ago, after the latter had shot a shopowner in an attempted holdup.

BLOOD PRESSURE MAY BE REDUCED

High blood pressure is not only dangerous, but entails suffering which often is needless. But you can get rid of the kidney and bladder weakness, blinding headaches, back-break pains and torturing nerve tension while reducing pressure.

Ask your druggist for a box of Wildunger Tee, which contains valuable mineral salts from the famous Wildunger Bad in Germany. Unless the very first box brings grateful, comforting relief, your money back.

A New York doctor while traveling in Germany was so impressed with the results thousands were securing from this great kidney and bladder activator that he brought Wildunger Tee to this country. Many American doctors now prescribe it and report that its benefits are equally surprising here.

You can get Wildunger Tee on the distinct understanding that unless it helps, your money will be refunded to you. It may be had at New Castle Drug Co., 31 East Washington St. and 144 North Mill St.

Sparks From New Castle Motor Club

PARENTS SHOULD SET EXAMPLE

Jay-walking on the part of parents taking children to school or downtown, sets a bad example for these youngsters and greatly interferes with the efficient work of schoolboy patrols, President Ralph W. Bolsinger of the New Castle Motor club states.

Pointing out that the primary function of these patrols is to see that children enroute to and from school cross the streets properly, Mr. Bolsinger states that this program has been instrumental in bringing about a steady decline in the number of child fatalities, while accidents involving adults, have increased.

"Often parents are resentful when schoolboy patrolmen call their attention to failure to stay in safety zones until traffic is clear," says the local motor club head, "and this serves to diminish the faith of children in the patrols. Such resentment is largely due to a lack of appreciation of the work of the patrols.

"The value of these patrols can be seen from reports from various points in the country. In Washington, D. C., there were fifteen children killed in 1926, the year in which the A. A. A. patrol started to function. During the school years of 1928-29 and 1929-30 not a child was killed or seriously injured in the vicinity of a school building in the District of Columbia.

"Chicago, St. Louis, Philadelphia, and other large cities, show similar decreases in the number of child fatalities.

"Parents should remember that there example is worth a great deal in teaching safety to children and if parents persist in jaw-walking, crossing against the traffic, and the like, the children will be quick to follow this example."

ROADSIDE PROGRAM

Endoresment of a tentative program of highway beautification and the regulation of roadside business in the interest of safety, sanitation and the preservation of the amenities of the landscape, which has been put forward by the American Automobile Association: is given by the New Castle Motor Club.

While the details of the program have not been fully worked out, Thomas P. Henry, of Detroit, Mich., president of the National motoring body, declares that an exhausting study of roadside conditions has revealed the existence of a variety of serious problems, each of which demanded separate treatment in the interest of flexibility and speedy progress.

"In view of the variety of conditions and the differences in road development in the various states," says the A. A. A. executive, "it would seem best that we undertake the formulation, not of one law, but of a code for highway beautification and the construction regulation of roadside business. Such a code, as we see it at the moment, should have four distinct acts, each act designed to meet a problem of importance to the users of the highway."

Act 1—To promote highway beautification through systematic planting and landscaping.

Act 2—To promote safe travel by enacting strict, uniform regulations governing the placement of signs other than warning or direction. signs at curves intersection, railroad crossings, and any other points, where the diverting of attention or the obscuring of vision would be hazardous.

Act 3—To promote sanitation by requiring reasonable supervision by the health authorities of the states of certain types of places catering to the users of the highway.

Act 4—To regulate business from the standpoint of preserving the amenities of the roadside and the beauty of the landscape.

THINGS WE DON'T LIKE

The motorist who cuts corners at high speeds.

Motorboors and roadhogs.

Operators of city-owned cars and trucks disregarding traffic rules.

The one-eyed automobile.

Pedestrians not obeying traffic lights.

JUBILEE ANNIVERSARY

Marking a quarter of a century of service and accomplishment, the Pennsylvania Motor Federation celebrates its Silver Anniversary this year, and the New Castle Motor Club, which also observes its 25th anniversary, joins with it in the Jubilee.

Organized in March, 1906, with three clubs as charter members, the Federation has grown to a statewide body of eighty-eight clubs, represented in every county of the Commonwealth. It has forged ahead and today stands as the leader in both state and national circles of organized motordom.

The Federation now has a membership of 140,000 members, leading its nearest competitor by a wide margin. But it should have more members and every P. M. F. club, New Castle included, is working out plans to increase its membership, thus adding strength both to the local and state organizations as well.

Every member of the Local Club has been asked to secure one new member. Some of the hustlers have already gotten their members and a few more besides.

The New Castle Motor Club is out to double its membership this year and if every member of the club will do his part, there will be no difficulty in achieving this goal.

THINGS YOU OUGHT TO KNOW

Members who lose their operator cards should immediately make application to the Highway Department for duplicates. The cost is fifty cents for each card.

The law requires that all automobile accidents must be reported if the "total damage' is fifty dollars or if any person is injured.

The month of January, 1931, set a new record in the number of motor vehicle fatalities. The number of persons killed in the United States was over 2,400, an increase of more than 30 per cent over January of 1930.

Examinations for operator licenses are conducted each Tuesday on Sampson street between the hours of 10 a. m. and 3 p. m. If you fail to appear for examination within the time specified on the card, you must secure a new permit. Members of the motor patrol cannot extend the time limit on the learner's permit.

The New Castle Motor Club maintains a legal department for the benefit of their members. Members are invited to make use of this service which assisted several members in difficulty last year.

Indications point to a record number of motorists going on auto tours throughout the country. The New Castle Motor Club is glad to be of assistance to any motorist who is planning a trip, either in the United States or abroad.

This ervice was widely used last year by New Castle motorists, who were eminently satisfied with the information received.

Women's Conference Plans Are Shaping

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, April, 24.—Under leadership of Mrs. C. A. Verner, Pittsburgh, plans for the spring regional conference of the Pennsylvania Council of Republican Women, to be held here May 8, are rapidly being whipped into shape.

More than 500 feminine political workers from Allegheny and nearby counties, with some leaders from other sections of the state, are expected to attend the sessions.

The northwest division of the council, with headquarters at Erie, will also take part in the conference.

New Castle-Erie Academy Play Tonight

BOTH TEAMS READY FOR SPRING GAME

Second Annual Spring Football Game Carded For 8:00 Sharp; Both Schoolboy Elevens Wind Up Long Training Schedule On Thursday; Taggart Field To Be Scene Of Contest; Coach Phil Bridenbaugh Optimistic That Locals Will Come Through Victorious; Erie Academy Bringing Good Team To Play Local Red And Black Clad Gridders; Expect Big Crowd.

For the second consecutive year, Taggart Field will be the scene of a spring night football game when the New Castle high school football eleven encounters Erie Academy high tonight. The game is scheduled to start promptly at 8:00 o'clock. Following a training program of about one month, the coaches from both teams feel optimistic that their grid machine will come through on the winning end.

Teams Are Prepared

The teams representing the two schools are prepared for the grind tonight, according to the coaches. Erie concluded its training program with light drills on Thursday afternoon while Coach Phil Bridenbaugh ordered his cohorts through a long drill Thursday evening at Taggart field to get the boys accustomed to the night atmosphere. The lads appeared to have plenty of vim in the final workout.

Coach Bridenbaugh pronounced the squad in good physical condition for the contest. The same report came from the training camp of the Erie team. A big delegation from Erie is planning to see the night contest tonight.

Veteran Tteam

Erie will take the field with a number of regulars from last season and several second string recruits from last fall. The record of 9 victories and one defeat speaks for itself concerning what kind of a team Erie had last fall.

Academy may resort to the pass to attempt to defeat the local eleven. Erie has been specializing on this phase of the game for sometime. As this is one of the most spectacular angles of football, particularly when played under floodlights, one of the most interesting games is anticipated.

The Lake region team is well balanced, it is shown by the fact that the starting line averages about 168 pounds. A team averaging 168 in scholastic football is considered big.

Coach Phil Bridenbaugh may use straight football in the hope of defeating the Erie eleven. The local mentor has been drilling his hopefuls on the pass but whether he contemplate restoring to this attack is not known. The New Castle line is heavy.

The following will probably see action on the line; Ciccone and Hileman at ends, Crisci and Mike at tackles, Babiarz and Workman at guards and Mike DeCarbo at center. The backfield which is green will probably be composed of Nick Uram at quarterback, Joe Wrona at fullback and Gene Burns, Hib Reynolds, McIver or Rambo at halfbacks.

The first string team has been showing up well in recent drills. Tickets for the fracas can still be purchased at the Sporting Goods Store for 50 cents or at the stadium. Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner announced today that the six new lights have been added to the remainder of the system and that all is set for the second annual night spring game.

The probable lineup:—

New Castle		Erie Academy
8 Hileman	L E	M. Schreck
29 Crisci (a. c.)	L T	Schnieder
25 Workman	L G	G. William
24 DeCarbo	C	Alexander
30 Babiarz	R G	Sessamen
28 Mike	R T	Kilpatrick
4 Ciccone	R E	D. Snell
3 N. Uram	Q B	Mazza
9 Wrona	F B	Dav. Snell
14 Reynolds	L H	Watson (C)
7 McIver	R H	Spath

New Castle Substitutes—1 J. Uram, quarterback; 2 Burns, halfback; 11 L. Quinn, center; 13 Teplica, halfback; 15 Maki, quarterback; 16 Bumbaugh, guard; 17 Sotus, fullback; 18 Kominic, halfback; 20 J. Quinn, guard; 21, Nocera, end; 22 Kolodjeski, tackle; 23 Ruffner, center; 26 Williams, guard; 27 Waggoner, tackle.

Officials—Referee, Fry, Pitt; Umpire, Harr, Geneva; Headlinesman, Forbes, Geneva.

Many New Champions May Be Crowned In Coming Title Bouts

Tony Canzoneri Will Defend Title Tonight Against "Kid" Berg

Gene Tunney Picks Willie Stribling To Beat Max Schmeling At Cleveland

By LES CONKLIN
International News Service Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, April 24.—Added weight was given today to predictions that 1931 may witness the greatest upheaval in boxing titles in the history of the sport.

The current year already has witnessed the downfall of one 1930 titleholder—Tommy Freeman, erstwhile ruler of the welters, who lost his crown to Black Jack Thompson recently.

Champs Tottering.

Five other fistic kings also may lose their crowns before the next income tax blanks are mailed. They are Max Schmeling, Tony Canzoneri, Bat Battalino, Mickey Walker and Maxie Rosenbloom.

Canzoneri will be put on the spot in Chicago tonight when he defends his lightweight diadem against Jack (Kid) Berg, the English windmill. The consensus of educated opinion is that Tony wil be beaten. The Italian has seen his best days and his last two fights—against Sammy Fuller and Tommy Grogan—were bad ones.

What may be taps for Battalino was sounded late yesterday when the Bat came to terms with Madison Square Garden for a 15-round featherweight bout with Fidel La Barba, the clever Californian, at the Garden on May 22. La Barba now is at the zenith of his career. He undoubtedly will be installed favorite over the Connecticut war horse as a result of his easy victory over Kid Francis, the redoubtable Italian bulldog, in his last start here. Late last year Fidel beat Kid Chocolate, the flashy Cuban contender.

The game Battalino also came from behind to beat Chocolate here last December, but the decision in his favor was questionable. Bat repeatedly has been outclassed in nontitle bouts.

Stribling Favored.

Willie Stribling is the choice of most experts to beat Schmeling in Cleveland on July 3. Gene Tunney is the latest authority to pick the Georgian to win that battle.

Pressure will be put on Mickey Walker to defend his rusty middleweight crown against the winner of the May 27 match between Vince Dundee and Ben Jeby. Walker could lick either if he can make the weight, but he probably will vacate the title in order to mingle with Jack Sharkey and other heavyweights.

Rosenbloom Done.

Rosenbloom's six months of grace since last defending his light heavyweight title expired day before yesterday and he will find himself in the same boat as the former King Alfonso if he does not sign for a title bout immediately. The gay Lothario cannot continue to train in night clubs indefinitely and still keep in shape for a real battle. Maxie looked bad in his recent fights against Joe Banovic and Billy Jones and his next defense of the 175-pound title may be his last.

With the opening of the baseball season The News will aim to co-operate with the various organizations and leagues in the city and county in publishing baseball news, but the reports of games must reach this office the night that the games are played in order to receive attention for the next issue.

Get the reports of the games in early. There is a mail chute in the front of The News office, near the main door, where the score sheets and sport notes can be dropped.

Scarazzos Nine Postpones Game

Scarazzo-North Highland Game Is Postponed Due To Condition Of Field

Due to wet grounds and that Centennial field is not in playing condition the Scarazzo-North Highland baseball game carded for Saturday has been postponed.

The Scarazzos have signed an array of players and hope to produce one of the best teams seen here in a number of years. Wylie Shiek, former Union high athlete has signed a contract to pitch with the Scarazzos. Shiek is a promising youth. In 1929 Shiek turned in a good record of 18 wins and 3 losses. In 1930 Shiek won 15 tilts and lost 2. In two years he has won 33 games and lost 2.

Universal Team To Hold Practice

Players of the Universal Sanitary have been notified to turn out for practice at two o'clock on the Universal grounds, Saturday afternoon.

The Universal had a good team last year and has become a member of the Lawrence County league this season.

When the league schedule does not interfere, the Universal will play other teams, it is stated.

The cost of living in Germany is more than 50 per cent higher than before the World War.

TITAN TRACK CAPTAIN MOST VERSATILE STAR

LOUIS PERESENYI

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., April 24.—Louis Peresenyi, Turtle Creek, captain of the Westminster College track team which tomorrow opens the season against the strong Grove City squad, is a most versatile performer. Ever since his freshman year, Peresenyi has garnered points for the Blue and White in a number of track and field events.

Peresenyi, a senior, has competed in the 100-yard dash, 220-yard dash, quarter mile, high hurdles, low hurdles, shot put, discus, hammer throw, and broad jump. This year he will confine his efforts for the most part to the 100-yard dash, broad jump, low hurdles, and hammer.

"Lou" has been an assistant to Jack Hulme, team trainer, for three seasons. He has been a star in the intra-mural basketball league, playing for Delta Phi Sigma. His all-around versatility in track and field events makes him an ideal captain for the Titan team.

Ball Yard Banter

Washington may be slapping the horsehide off the ball and be apparently determined to stay in the American league leadership— but Assistant Manager Eddie Collins of the Philadelphia Athletics refuses to worry. And says so.

* * *

The fact that it took eleven innings and Lefty Grove to save the first game of the season is discounted by Collins.

* * *

"Do you remember where the A's finished last season?" he asked, "and do you remember where we were during the early days of the season? Not until this club moved around the circuit for the second time did the Athletics get going and, once under way, they went!

* * *

"The A's went through a tough, long road trip through the west and came out with the club going great guns.

* * *

"The A's after that bad start won 13 out of 16 games. The boys were eager to win that second penant and I believe that they are even more eager this year to make it three in a row for Connie Mack. Besides, I believe we have picked up some extra pitching strength which ought to be a big help—and will.

* * *

"With young Hank MacDonald and a couple of the younger men to help out on the mound I think our chances are very good."

* * *

The Athletics' 1930 history bears out Collins in his optimism. During the second week of that campaign the Athletics fell to fourth place and did not reach first until the second week of May when they promptly fell to second again. The A's fluctuated in and out of first until the second week of July when they took the lead and held it.

Four Mat Bouts Have Been Arranged For Grappling Show Here

MAT FANS INTEREST HERE IS INCREASED

Taro Myaki and Mike Romano, heavyweights, will meet in the main bout and wrestle to a finish Monday night at the Castle bowl, according to A. J. Bertolini, matchmaker for the grapplers, who stated today that his calendar of catch-as-catch-can performers has been completely arranged.

Myaki is a Jap and Romano is one of the best Italians now appearing before the spotlight. Both have proved their ability before eastern audiences. It will be Myaki's first appearance and the second for Romano in this section.

Topping off the main bout will be a semi-final in which Karl Pogello, Lithuanian, will take on George Tragos, Greek. Pogello, one of the most prominent wrestlers in the sport, is scheduled to meet Szabo tonight in the main bout at the Arena in Philadelphia.

The Pogello-Tragos clash will also go to a finish. Should the Lithuanian come through without any serious damage tonight in Philadelphia, he will arrive here Saturday and work out so that the public can see him in preparatory action.

There will be two other 30-minute limit matches between Billy Bartusch, whom Bertolini states is either a German or an Austrian, and Tony Felece, Italian, and Jack Washburn, American, who will tackle with Ivan Vacturoff of Russia.

According to Bertolini, the calendar is one of the best that could have been arranged for any city and with the fans looking forward to the inaugural of the mat game considerable interest has been incited. The mat sport is staged nowadays with thrilling action and the [illegible] may be packed.

May Shift Titan-Grover Trackmeet To Grove City

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., April 24.—In all probability, the opening track meet of the season between Westminster and Grove City will be shifted to Grove City tomorrow afternoon, Graduate Manager Andy McDonald announced late last night. Weather conditions have made the Titan track slippery, and unless warmer weather conditions prevail today, the field will not be in shape for tomorrow's contest.

If the Grover meet is shifted to Grove City, the Bethany dual meet, pending for May 16, will most certainly be held in New Wilmington, thus giving the Titan tracksters but one home meet.

Tomorrow's meet should be closely contested, with Grove City holding the edge particularly in the middle distance and distance runs, the javelin throw, and the jumps. The meet will consist of 15 events. There will be no relay race. Both the high and the low hurdles will be 120-yards.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

TONY CANZONERI, lightweight king, and Jack Berg, junior lightweight champion, will clash in a 10-round bout tonight in Chicago. It will be the first time two champions have defended titles against each other. Each champion stands in the position of being a titular contender.

* * *

UNLESS Chick Hafey comes to terms with the St. Louis Cardinals today he will become automatically suspended. He and the Cardinals are $1,000 apart. Chick wants $13,500 and the club has offered him $12,500 to play this season.

* * *

FOURTEEN basketball games has been arranged by athletic authorities at Grove City college. Grove City will meet Westminster at Grove City, January 8.

* * *

BABE RUTH, slugging Yankee, carried from the field with an injured leg, may have to remain in a Boston hospital for a week, according to reports from Boston today.

* * *

JACKIE McCANN beat Mickey Farr and Ross Fields won from Dick Mitchell in bouts at Cleveland. They are piloted by Jimmy Dunn, who announced through a letter that Mickey Duris is ready for action again.

* * *

THE last time that Mickey appeared in a bout was at Johnstown which ended in a fatality, Sammy Harris, Akron, having been the unfortunate victim. A coroner's jury exonerated Duris.

Black moonstones will be a novel jewelry fashion for summer.

Berlinger Begins Decathlon Events

Barney Berlinger, Starts Today On Series Of Decathlon Events

HOPES TO BREAK YRJOLA'S RECORD

By TED SMITS
International News Service Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., April 24.—Bustling Barney Berlinger, who is about half of the University of Pennsylvania track team, will compete against a shadow out on Franklin Field today when the decathlon, track athletics, most exacting test of all around skill, formally opens the 37th annual Penn Relay Carnival.

That Berlinger will win the decathlon is a foregone conclusion—that is, unless someone shies a discus at him, or, remembering his football glory, he crashes through instead of over some particularly unyielding hurdles.

How About Yrjola

But the question to which everyone, and particularly Lawson Robertson, Berlinger's own coach and the head coach of the 1932 American Olympic team, will seek an answer is whether or not he can defeat Paavo Yrjola of Finland. Paavo of course, is still in Finland but ever present at Franklin Field will be the memory of his record made at the Amsterdam games. If Barney can equal or even approach Paavo's mark then there will be rejoicing in this staid village tonight.

Yrjola's decathlon record is 8.053.290. The method of scoring this heart-wracking series of events is roughly this: there are ten standard tracks tests in the decathlon, ranging from the 100-meter dash, through weight and hurdle events, up to the 1,500 meter run, said by statisticians to be about a mile in length, but hailed by exhausted decathlon performers as something between a marathon and a C. C. Pyle transcontinental foot-race.

Let a decathlon competitor equal or break a world's record in any event—just let him!—and he gets 1,000 points. A lesser effort is scaled down from this depending on the seconds or meters under the perfect performance.

Deering Is Good

Barney's competition today, quite aside from his imaginary tilt with the master Yrjola, will probably come from James E. Deering of Yale, a new entry in the lists of those who take their track seriously enough to want to do everything on the program.

Aside from the decathlon, other final championship events on this, the first day of the two day carnival program, include the 120-meter and 400-meter hurdles, the quarter-mile and sprint medley relays, and the 3,000-meter steeplechase, like the decathlon an important Olympic event.

With Clark Chamberlain of Michigan State, the intercollegiate cross country champion, competing at Drake instead of here, Joe McCluskey's scheduled victory in the steeplechase is expected to be a trifle hollow. No one on today's entry list seems anywhere near the equal of the fleet Fordham lad.

Although nearly 3,000 ambitious youths representing about 500 prep schools and colleges will match courage and skill in the historic carnival. Tomorrow's races, including as they do the 100 yard dash and the great four-mile relay, are expected to draw the largest crowd to Franklin Field, but Berlinger will have his followers today, nasty weather or not.

Driver Is Held For Manslaughter

GREENSBURG, Pa., April 24.—Adam J. Spatz, Jr., 30, of Sinking Springs, near Reading, who was arrested by members of Troop A, state police on a charge of involuntary manslaughter in connection with the killing of Frank Kolaric, 39, at Long Bridge, April 6, was held for court under bond at a hearing today before Justice of the Peace Joseph A. Walton. Spatz, police say, was en route to Detroit, Mich., when his car struck Kolaric, walking on the highway, and sped on his way without stopping.

Another She-Pro

The second woman to become a professional ball player, 19-year-old Vada Corbus (above) has joined the Joplin, Miss., Miners and will do the catching for that outfit. Although she weighs but 115 pounds, Miss Corbus' skill and knowledge of the game make her an asset to any team—especially at the box office.

Farrell's Form, Poise Make Him Open Favorite

By ROY GROVE
Central Press Golf Writer

No. 8

The fact that Bobby Jones has retired from competing in the national open makes any one of the first 10 finishers of last year a top notcher.

Of these 10, Johnny Farrell and Sarazen loom as the most dangerous, and especially Farrell. He is one golfer who can repeat.

Sarazen's winter schedule has put him in a competitive spirit. Sarazen is always dangerous under this mental condition.

Farrell's game and form are of such smooth nature that it is not hard for him to play the actual stroke which leaves him to concentrate throughout a match.

Farrell has a beautiful iron game and is equal to Hagen when it comes to getting out of tight pinches, either from traps or the rough.

Farrell's drive from the tee is done with a great deal of body and arm action. He is one golfer of the pros who knows the value of the wrist and arms.

This action is magnified in his follow through. His arms and shoulders come on around the drive which is pivoted on the right leg.

There is only one other golfer, and that is Hagen, who can get the punch through on the drive as Farrell does.

Harry Crisci Will Lead Team Tonight

Veteran Tackle Has Been Appointed To Captain New Castle Team Tonight

Harry Crisci, veteran tackle has been appointed captain of the New Castle high team for tonight when the local high school eleven meets Erie Acadamy in a night spring game at Taggart field. Coach Phil H. Bridenbaugh made the appointment recently.

Final Workout

Whether Crisci will captain the eleven next fall is not known. Coach Bridenbaugh sent his huskies through the final workout on Thursday evening under the floodlights. The drills were light.

It was announced today that the Benjamin Franklin Junior high school band will furnish the music at the stadium tonight.

Morrie Suber May Be Seen In Action

Morrie Suber, local mat man may get a chance Monday night to wrestle at the bowl.

Tom Farrow wants to tackle Suber. A Butler, Pa., 180 pounder has also challenged Suber.

If they are booked the bout will probably be a 15 minute limit bout.

RIDERLESS HORSE RACE IN MEXICO

Canzoneri-Berg Battle Tonight

Tony Canzoneri And Jack "Kid" Berg Battle Tonight At Chicago

CHAMPIONSHIP IS LIKELY TO CHANGE

By CLAIR KELLY
International News Service Sports Writer

CHICAGO, April 24.—The world's lightweight championship is an international issue here tonight when Tony Canzoneri, present title-holder, throws his jewels into the ring with the English challenger, Jackie ("Kid") Berg, outstanding contender in the division for the past two years.

They meet in the Chicago stadium at the Illinois limit of ten rounds, to a judge's and referee's decision. It is the first bout involvong one of the important championships that has been held in Chicago since the same Canzoneri tried and failed to lift the sam bauble from Sammy Mandell in August 1929.

That the ancient title will pass back to John Bull's country is the predominent sentiment here. The sensational London challenger is a steadfast choice with the more astute member of the cauliflower trade, while betting in the loop has him a firm 7 to 5 favorite.

Berg Is Good

The last Briton to rule over the lightweights was Freddie Welsh, who dethroned Willie Ritchie in 1914, in London. Berg, in fact, is Great Britain's most formidable challenger for a Marquis of Queensberry title since Welsh's time.

Berg is the choice, and a logical one, because of his invincible sweep of the lightweight class for the past two years and the theory that no battler in his division can as yet, overcome his ceaseless, slashing attack.

Moreover, it is a general tip among the tradesmen, following Tony's recent bouts, that he has lost most of his stamina. The stout-hearted little champion blows up after four or five rounds, they say, and no one can fade out against the inexhaustible Briton and still come on to win.

This is the second time the pair has fought. The whitechapel challenger defeated Canzoneri handily in ten rounds at New York last year, this before the latter won the title by extinguishing Al Singer in one round in November.

KNUTE ROCKNE'S BEST STORIES

As Told by DON MILLER

One of the famous Four Horsemen of Notre Dame

Written for Central Press

Knute Rockne could get a laugh out of a situation that was just an incident in a football game to most everyone else. A queer angle to a certain incident during a game would tickle his wit and later he would cut loose with some dry comment that would eventually become one of his classic jokes.

Such an occurrence took place in 1924, the last year for the Horsemen in Notre Dame football togs.

Notre Dame that season went to the Pacific coast for the first time and met Coach Pop Warner's Stanford team. It was the Tournament of Roses game in Pasadena on January 1.

Well, Notre Dame won that contest by a score of 27 to 10, despite some very fancy and often effective football played by the Stanford eleven.

Stanford had a pass play, out to the sideline, that had been very useful against teams met previously. Stanford tried it twice and each time Elmer Layden intercepted the ball and galloped to a touchdown for us.

"That was a great play of Stanford's," Rockne said later. "It was the greatest scoring play I ever saw. Each time it was used either they scored on it—or we did."

SPYING ON SPORTS

BY WILLIAM RITT

By WILLIAM RITT
Central Press Sports Editor

The appointment of Jess Harper as athletic director of the University of Notre Dame has more than sentiment behind it.

Notre Dame needs an athletic director. This is not a reflection on Hunk Anderson, now senior football coach. Head football coach, which is the job Anderson holds down save in name, is a full job for any gridiron teacher. It was for the late Knute Rockne but his seemingly boundless energy enabled him to cram into his workday some of the duties which an athletic director assumes.

Anderson is not to bear this added burden. He shouldn't be asked to. So Harper is appointed. And it is a wise choice. Not only is Harper the man who taught Rockne his football but in late years he was sometimes consulted by his famous protege.

Harper knows football. He knows Notre Dame His own recent modest, honest statement that "football had gone beyond my day" stamps him as a conservative factor, a balance wheel for a school's athletic program.

* * *

WHO IS HARPER?

The question isn't silly. Though Harper has been well known as the Notre Dame coach who preceeded Rockne at the Irish school's football helm, little or nothing is known by this generation of football fans of Harper's early history and his methods which gave Notre Dame its first fine football team.

Harper until today has been a sort of Man of Mystery in Notre Dame football annals. He vanished from sport pages in 1918 when he quit as head coach, turning the reins over to the youthful Rockne. But he reappeared on the scene from time to time when Rock consulted him on some matter pertaining to Irish athletes. Outside of that little has been known of Jess.

Here's Harper's story, briefly:

Jess was born some 48 years ago on a farm in DeKalb county, Illinois. At the proper age he entered Morgan Park academy and played halfback on that preparatory school's eleven. Leaving school he got a job in one of the huge Chicago meat packing plants to earn college money.

Then he entered the University of Chicago. He was a crackerjack ball player in college, but he also wanted to play football. Though he was rather light for the gridiron Jess, in his senior year, played on a championship Chicago eleven at end and halfback and, on occasion, understudied the great Walter Eckersall at quarter.

Leaving college he got a job as a salesman for geographies and maps. In 1906 he became athletic director of Alma college. His success gave him promotion in 1909 when he took over administration of athletics at Wabash college. His great success as football coach at Wabash soon attracted attention. His teams beat great Purdue three times in four games. Notre Dame asked him to assume charge of that school's football destinies in 1913 and he accepted.

To his trained eye the ability of two of his players, Knute Rockne and Gus Dorais, was immediately apparent. He encouraged their practice of their favorite play—the forward pass. That play upset a fine Army team. Notre Dame, Harper, Rockne and Dorais became famous overnight—and through the same incident.

Just Fishing and Waiting

While waiting for some definite action from Estelle Taylor, his wife, Jack Dempsey, former king of the fistic world, decided to investigate the trout streams of Nevada. Jack is pictured with his guide casting a line outside Reno, while it remains undecided whether he or Estelle will make the first move to break the matrimonial bonds.

Motorist Pulls Brand New Stunt

(International News Service)

YORK, Pa., April 24.—Like the character in the old song, John D. Condon, of York, wants what he wants when he wants it.

Condom was motoring when his car broke down near McConnelsburg, about 70 miles from here. He wanted a local mechanic to repair his car.

So he telephoned the mechanic, then telephoned the airport and arranged to have the mechanic take an airplane to his relief. The mechanic hopped in the plane, flew to Condom's rescue; repaired the car and drove home with Condom.

Only Two Games Played Thursday

Rain Causes General Postponement Of Big League Battles

INDIANS AGAIN DEFEAT CHICAGO

By COPELAND C. BURG
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, April 24.—April showers, if they come at the right time, mean May dollars in baseball and the downtrodden magnates were joyful today as they visioned a record attendance in 1931.

Despite the fact all games but two in the American League were postponed yesterday so many fans flocked to the varous parks during the sunshiny days of the first week in baseball, the postponements failed to disturb the moguls.

All postponed games will be played as doubleheaders later in the season, and actually will mean more in attendance than if they had been played as scheduled.

Charles Gehringer doubled and scored on Alexander's single to win for the Tigers, 1 to 0, yesterday, over the St. Louis Browns. Tom Bridges, Tiger Rookie, was the winning pitcher.

Wes Ferrell, ace of the Cleveland hurlers, captured his third win of the season. He turned back the Chicago White Sox with five hits, Cleveland wrapping it up 8 to 2.

There's a saxophone play in New York who gets five hundred dollars a night—but look at the chances he's taking.

GUM
BLACK DEATH TO MOTORS

Why TYDOL Gasolines Are 99 98/100% Gum-Free

1. SELECTED CRUDES
Crudes selected for their cleanliness are "multi-fractionated" by super-refining equipment costing millions. Each crude gets the exact degree of refining it requires.

2. "GUM-TAPPED"
In towering fractionation stills of the most advanced type, Hi-test TYDOL is refined to gum-free purity. The gum-carrying gasoline is drawn off for re-distillation long before the refining process is completed.

3. GUM-FREE BLENDING
Tide Water's exclusive, secret blend of gum-free gasolines creates the super-power, high-test, anti-knock qualities of Hi-test TYDOL.

Beautiful Homes

It takes some shrubs and flowers about a house to make a home. At least to make it a home you will be proud of. A few shade trees, some climbing roses or honeysuckle, a fountain of white spirea, and some of the gay quick blooming annual flowers.

Now is the time to buy your plants, shrubs and bulbs. You will find the ads of reliable dealers listed in the Classified Columns.

LOCKED DOORS DO NOT STOP SHERIFF

MT. CARMEL, Pa., April 24. — Locked doors failed to deter Deputy Sheriff Ed Brennan from conducting a sheriff's sale of a drug store here.

Finding the doors of the establishment securely locked Brennan removed a pane of glass from the window in the store door and effected entrance by that means.

The store was sold to a Philadelphia firm.

NEW YORK STOCKS

Most Active Stocks Are Headed Higher

By W. S. COUSINS
International News Service Financial Editor

NEW YORK, April 24.—After a slight reaction near the end of the first hour, most of the active stocks were again headed for higher price levels this morning. Thursday's closing rally in the Steel, Utility and Electrical stocks was somewhat tardy in getting in motion due to profit taking and short selling at the start. Westinghouse had another fainting spell and fell away to a new low for the year at 68⅛. United States Steel lost more than a point at 126 and a few of the Rails slipped off a point or more.

The Industrials and Utilities led the way to the higher levels in the second hour. U. S. Steel recovered to 127¾; Consolidated Gas to 95, up 2; Allied Chemical to 136, up 2¼; The Theatrical stocks also made a better showing, with Fox Film above 19½, up 2 points from yesterday's low price and Loews above 45½. United Corporation led a small demonstration in the low-priced Utilities and sold at 22.

In contrast to yesterday's active market, dullness ruled in all sections of the market today. Stocks which were sold steadily by the professionals in the last few days enjoyed a small comeback while the balance of the list churned around in a narrow price circle or failed to show on the tape. Grain prices were fractionally higher, and Cotton moved up 50 cents a bale.

General Motors led the rally of the popular motors in the second hour and moved ahead to 40½. Auburn jumped 5 points to 214. Packard and Studebaker sold fractionally higher. Call money was unchanged at 1½ per cent.

Court Of Honor Held Thursday

Many Boy Scouts Are Advanced In Rank At Monthly Board Of Review

The regular monthly Board of Review and Court of Honor for the New Castle District Boy Scouts of America were held Thursday evening, April 23, 1931 in the First Christian church with Chairman Rev. G. S. Bennett presiding.

Boy passing from Tenderfoot to Second Class Rank were William Tebay, Troop 17; Reid Shiner, Troop 55, and Robert Hogue of New Wilmington Troop 1. Boys passing from second class to first class rank were Robert Love, Troop 17; and Bill Bilger, Troop 55. First class merit badge awards were given to Donald Allen, Troop 13, bird study, personal health; John McClelland, Troop 13, personal health and pioneering; Bud McCamic, Troop 17, firemanhip, pathfinding, personal health; William Powell, Troop 17, civics, cooking, firemanship and swimming; Billy Shira, Troop 17, firemanship, handicraft, personal health and wood work; Frank McClure, New Wilmington Troop No. 1, basketry, firemanship, leathercraft and poultry keeping; and Hans Holm, New Wilmington Troop 1, agriculture, animal industry, farm home. Second class merit badge awards were presented to Robert Love, Troop 17, carpentry, handicraft; William Bilger, Troop 55, handicraft and personal health.

Three boys completed requirements for Star Scout rank and were presented at this court of honor. They were John McClelland, Troop 13, Robert Lee Moore, Troop 17, and William Powell, Troop 17.

Robert Mars Brown of Elks Boy Scout Troop No. 5 was presented the highest rank award in scouting which is the Eagle badge. Robert appeared at the last court of honor for the local council's approval and his application was then sent to National Council's Court of Honor for approval. The Eagle rank can only be awarded after the National Council Court of Honor has approved the scout's application.

Ellwood City District Court of Honor will be held on Wednesday, April 29, instead of Friday, April 24 as the District Leaders' Training Course will be held on April 24.

Confess Forging, Then Get Married, Await Sentences

Couple At Franklin Confess Crimes Then Take Out License To Wed

(International News Service)

FRANKLIN, Pa., April 24.—"Partners in Crime?"—oh, much more than that!

Thirty minutes after they confessed to forging and passing worthless checks, Howard Kellogg, 41, Ashtabula, and Martha D. Close, 23, of Pittsburgh, procured a marriage license and were married by legal acknowledgement.

In unbroken succession, the couple confessed, obtained the marriage license in Venango county court house, and continued through the corridor of the building to the jail.

They will be sentenced next week.

FRESHNESS CHARACTERIZES STYLES

Supernal freshness characterizes fashions in the spring and early summer, says Lucien Lelong, for every woman is wearing a brand new ensemble, hat and accessories. A Lelong afternoon ensemble, sketched in Paris, is shown, left, the coat of green woolen material with badger collar; right, the dress of green and white printed crepe de chine. Dark frocks with pale coats are chic, and vice versa.

Catholic Educators Are In Convention

Annual Convention Of Catholic Educational Association Opens In Pittsburgh

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, April 24—With more than 1,000 delegates including high church dignitaries and parochial and college teachers in attendance the tenth annual convention of the Catholic Educational Association opened here today.

The convention was opened with a high mass celebrated to St. Paul's Cathedral after which the delegates were taken to Catholic high school for the business sessions.

Today's sessions were to be featured by the address to Monsignor William P. McNally, of Philadelphia reading a paper on "A Study of Religion in Pennsylvania Catholic high schools."

Others who were to speak today are Rev. William A. Stalh and Sister M. Pierre, Philadelphia; Rev. F. X. Feeser and Rev. Harold Keller, Harrisburg; Brother G. Lucian Scranton; Sister M. Generosa, Greensburg and Rev. Alcuin Trasch of St. Vincent's College.

Pittsburgh Man Leaps To Death

S. L. Sigal, Hurls Self 50 Feet From Bridge, Crushed To Death

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH April 24.—Hurtling 50 feet from the Murray avenue bridge, a man identified as S. L. Sigal, 7541 Bennett street, plunged to his death today on the street below. His leap was witnessed by several persons walking on the bridge and the street.

Found near the crumbled body was a note which indicated the victim had been worried over illness and financial reverses. It read:

"Continuing severe headaches; unable to walk only a short distance. Numbness creeping on all over. I've lost my house. What's the use?"

It was signed "S. L. S."

Identification was made by means of automobile license cards.

You're the JUDGE

The Decision

The court held for Hawks.

The judges reasoned thus:

An advance payment on a contract is an entirely different thing from obtaining money from the buyer on the seller's note. The money on a note would effect a complete change in the legal relations of the parties. Whereas the seller was a creditor of the purchaser before, upon giving the note he would at once become a debtor of the purchaser. The buyer, in this case the commission firm, might transfer the note to another party, and Hawks would have had to pay it whether he ever got a penny for his potatoes or not.

First 100 Years Not So Bad, Says Farmer

(International News Service)

POPULAR BLUFF, Mo., April 24.—"Uncle Tommy" Kemp, Missouri's oldest farmer, is getting his ground ready for another crop, despite the fact that he is said to be 118 years old and has been farming for almost a century.

"I'm not discouraged," he reported as he came into town to buy some seed and a few tools. "I remember many depressions like this one. There have been some in recent years, but I remember one about sixty years ago when we didn't see any real money for months and months. We used raccon and 'possium hides for money.

"I am going to plant my crops as usual this year and I hope they don't dry up like they did last year. I've been farming for nearly 100 years, and that is about the only occupation I know. I still make a living from the soil."

"Uncle Tommy" is a close student of modern farming methods for "I try to keep posted on everything a farmer should know," as he expressed it.

"POST LITTER HERE" SIGNS ATTRACT MAIL

(International News Service)

LONDON, April 24.—They pasted up bills stating "Post your litter here" when receptacles were erected at the famous beauty spots around Dorking and Box Hill, in Surrey County.

Now the officials who clear the litter from the boxes tail, find letters, addressed and stamped ready, for postal delivery. It is suggested the local authorities should change the wording of the bills.

State Health Head Warns Of Epidemic

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Pa., April 24.—Epidemic meningitis for the past three years has been sweeping over the United States in one of its periodic waves and will not decrease much this year, according to Dr. J. Moore Campbell, chief of the division of communicable diseases of the Pennsylvania state department of health.

"This disease," said Dr. Campbell, "comes in waves 12 years apart. It can, therefore, be reasonably expected that 1931 will be a heavy year, as indicated by statistical reasoning.

"The several forms of meningitis are markedly reducing, there being now less than half as many cases as there were twenty years ago.

He who knows much has many cares.—Lessing.

Two Large Catches Of Foxes Reported

BEAVERDALE, Pa., April 24.—Two large catches of foxes have been made in this district in the last few weeks.

Leo Martin and Wade Rainey, local hunters, captured alive six foxes—a mother and five little ones—in a den in a hollow. The young foxes were less than 20 days old at the time.

Martin and D. T. Michaels several days previously captured a mother and her eight young ones in a den.

ANOTHER VARIATION

"I can stay awake any length of time simply by forcing myself to it."

"The triumph of mind over mattress, eh?"
